COX'S VOICE FAILS IN THE NORTHWEST; WILL CONTINUE TOUR

Receives Treatment at Portland, Ore., and Insists Throat Is Better.

BACKFIRE STARTED BY FOES

Republicans Seek to Meet His Attacks by Raising "Wet" and Wilson Issues.

NOMINEE HAS QUIET DAY

Reaches Portland, Ore., and Holds Few Conferences in Order to Save His Voice.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12.—Governor Cox arrived here today from Seattle and rested, holding few conferences, in order to spare his throat, which has been causing trouble in the last few days. A specialist examined his throat here and advised that the candidate cancel some of his speaking engagements because of its condition.

But the Governor declared that his throat was much better than yesterday and plans to address a meeting at Salem, Ore., early tomorrow, returning here for two speeches.

The Democratic nominee has been unsparing of himself in his efforts to reach the greatest possible hearing on his tour. A noteworthy illustration of his fighting spirit was given yesterday.

His voice was sadly torn by his campaigning in varying climates and altitudes. But he insisted upon making a trip to Tacoma in a pelting rainstorm to greet a crowd at an open-air meeting, and even took what some felt was a foolhardy chance of speaking to them a few minutes.

When he returned to Seattle late yesterday afternoon his voice was almost gone. But instead of giving up he insisted that the throat should be treated so he could talk, as he had been informed that there would be a large crowd at the Arena. A specialist examined his throat and told him that there was no serious condition, but that he should exercise care.

Talked Despite Hoarseness.

The Governor went to the Arena meeting and found a crowd that packed the hall and overflow into the streets. He began talking in a voice that was scarcely audible, each word calling for an effort. In half an hour he was back in something approaching his usual form and he talked an hour and fifty minutes, going into all phases of the campaign. This exhibition of grit won the applause of the crowd when he concluded.

At one time during his address at the Arena, when he asserted that radicalism was always caused by injustice and oppression, his hearers rose and cheered, sat down, and then rose to cheer again. It was at least three minutes before he was allowed to proceed. He also received applause while telling of the progressive measures established in Ohio, of his handling of labor disputes without the use of soldiers and his hope and belief that justice instead of force could be made applicable to the nation as well as to the State of Ohio.

Governor Cox stated that, if elected, his appointments to office would be made with no other consideration in mind than the welfare of the people. He has said that he would appoint a "dirt farmer" as Secretary of Agriculture. Last night he added that he favored the selection of a Western man as Secretary of the Interior. Discussing the development of Alaska, which is a question of great importance in the Northwest, he said that he was in favor of sending a commission of mining men and experts, including, perhaps, such a man as Herbert Hoover, to study conditions in Alaska and report on a program to remove the "straitjacket" from that territory.

After the Arena meeting the Governor had hoped to go to his train, but word came that the members of the Seattle Press Club had made arrangements to receive him. So he went to the Press Club at 11 o'clock to shake hands and speak a few words in a voice which was again husky and failing.

Republicans Starting Backfire.

There are signs that the Republican leaders of the Northwest are attempting to start a backfire against Governor Cox, and the Democrats interpret this move as evidence that their opponents are becoming worried over the nominee's vigorous campaigning and the apparent success he is having with the large crowds he is addressing, especially by his advocacy of progressive doctrines.

It seems evident that Republican leaders here are beginning to realize that they underestimated Governor Cox and are now working to rebuild their defences.

The nomination of Harding by the Chicago convention came as a blow to leaders in this section. None of the delegations favored the nomination of Harding and his attitude on the League has been displeasing to many members of the party.

Now, it would seem, the leaders of his party here are turning to two general lines of action to counteract any tendency toward Cox. They are telling the voters in this "dry" region that Governor Cox is a "wet" who favors the impairment of the Volstead act and the return of a "wet" era. Second, they are preaching that the election of Governor Cox would mean a continuation of what they call "Wilsonism," and urge that the country wants a change in Government.

The Republican leaders are seeking thereby to overcome the effect of the charges by Cox that Senator Harding represents reactionary Government against which the northwest country

D'Annunzio Will Release Ship for Loan of 200,000,000 Lire

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A Fiume dispatch received in Rome says Gabriele d'Annunzio has informed the Italian Government that he will release the American steamer Cogne on condition that a loan of 200,000,000 lire is granted to Fiume, says a dispatch to the Central News from Rome.

FIUME, Sept. 12.—The anniversary of d'Annunzio's entrance into Fiume was celebrated today by a grand review. The legionaires raised the new State flag, which is red, with gold stars and a serpent on it. The celebration was most enthusiastic. Thousands of Italians came miles to witness the event. All the ships in the harbor were beflagged and the streets were decorated.

HARDING TO MAKE THREE WEEKS' TRIP

Nominee's Tentative Program Takes Him Into States Electing United States Senators.

PLANS LATER VISIT HERE

Front Porch Pilgrims Tomorrow Will Hear His Views on Japanese Question.

Special to The New York Times.

MARION, Ohio, Sept. 12.—The front porch campaign enters its final two weeks with Senator Harding and his advisers confident that results have shown the wisdom of the Senator in remaining at home and avoiding factional disputes of Republican primary contests.

By remaining in Marion, it is pointed out, Senator Harding has been able to confer with members of all groups of the Republican Party, to do much to heal the progressive breach and to get all factions together, which his advisers hold would have been impossible had he gone on a speaking tour in the early Summer.

Now, with the primaries over, the Republican managers propose "to sell the Harding personality to the country" and utilize his services in their effort to retain Republican control of the Senate. Announcement already has been made that the Senator will visit several large cities after the close of the front-porch campaign Sept. 25. The Senator is understood to be planning to visit all States where there are Senatorial elections. These are Missouri, Oklahoma, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, California, Oregon, North and South Dakota and Wisconsin. Other States with Senate elections which Senator Harding will visit or pass through on the way to large cities are Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Connecticut, New York, Maryland and his home State of Ohio.

While no definite announcement of the Senator's Western trip has been made, as the tentative plans stand at present it will be of three weeks' duration, beginning probably Sept. 27. This will give the Senator time to make his visit to New York City the latter part of October and also to go to Kentucky, which, Republicans say, they are more hopeful than ever of carrying this year. If it can be fitted into his Western trip, Senator Harding is particularly desirous of going to Oklahoma, where the Republicans declare they have excellent chances this Fall.

The Senator motored to Columbus this afternoon for a session with a dentist, and later Mr. and Mrs. Harding had dinner with Malcolm Jennings, formerly editor of the Senator's paper, the Marion Daily Star, and later Secretary of the Ohio State Manufacturers' Association. Tomorrow afternoon he will speak to the Harding and Coolidge Railroad Men's Club of Marion. On Tuesday there will be a delegation from California at the front porch. Then will follow two days of work on speeches.

The Senator's golf clubs are getting rusty and he hopes to motor to a golf course at least one afternoon. He will deliver an address Friday at the celebration of "Constitution Day" throughout Ohio. Saturday a delegation of foreign-born voters will come to Marion.

Senator Harding will make no reply to Governor Cox's charges of a Republican attempt to "buy the Presidency" it is believed at Harding headquarters, where it is asserted that the testimony before the Senate investigating committee has brought out nothing to substantiate the charge of the existence of a huge campaign fund.

The following figures for other Presidential campaigns are given out by the Harding headquarters:

1904 Republican fund, raised by George B. Cortelyou, $1,900,000.
1900 Republican fund, raised by Mark Hanna, $2,900,000.
1892 Democratic fund, raised by William C. Whitney, $4,100,000.

The 1904 Republican fund was distributed as follows, according to Harding's managers:

Remittances to State Committees	$700,000
Literature	550,000
Speakers' bureau	175,000
Lithographs and advertising	150,000
Headquarters expenses	150,000
Miscellaneous	50,000
Balance	100,000

On the basis of these figures for other campaigns the Republicans insist they would be justified in raising $6,000,000 this year, unless the cost of electing Presidents has gone down.

Will Discuss Japanese Question.

MARION, Ohio, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—The Japanese question, railway labor, naturalization of aliens and constitutionalism head the list of subjects to be discussed by Senator Harding in front porch speeches during the coming week.

The nominee's views on the Japanese problem as it is presented in conditions on the Pacific coast are to be set forth on Tuesday in an address to a delegation of Californians. He has conferred with several Republican leaders from

MACSWINEY LOWER; INQUIRY IS ORDERED FOR CORK PRISONERS

Irish Office in London Grants a Request for a Conference from Cork High Sheriff.

TRY TO PROVE INNOCENCE

Doubt Whether They Will Live Even if Released—Another Belfast Man Killed.

LORD MAYOR IN GREAT PAIN

Gaelic League Reports MacSwiney as "Taking Turn for the Worse, but Still Conscious."

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A bulletin issued early this evening by the Gaelic League announced that Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, who is on a hunger strike in Brixon Jail, was much worse and that he was in very great pain.

The bulletin issued at noon said Mr. MacSwiney had passed a slightly better night, during which he had a little sleep. He was described as still being in a state of extreme exhaustion, but conscious. At 2 o'clock this afternoon it was announced that the patient had taken a turn for the worse.

Father Dominic paid his usual visit to the prisoner during the day.

Mrs. MacSwiney, when she left Brixton Prison early this evening after visiting her husband, told the correspondents that the Lord Mayor's condition was practically unchanged since the afternoon and that he was still suffering severe pains.

Members of the family were at the bedside all day, and a number of visitors from Cork called at the prison, but only a few were admitted.

Mrs. F. Sheehy Skeffington, whose husband was executed at Dublin in 1916, talked with some of the relatives within the prison, but did not see the Lord Mayor.

Ten thousand persons participated in a demonstration in Glasgow this afternoon in protest against MacSwiney's imprisonment. A similar gathering was held at Bermondsey.

Move to Free Cork Prisoners.

CORK, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—Harold Barry, former High Sheriff of Cork, who has been striving to save the lives of some of the hunger strikers here, received a message from the Irish Office, London, late today asking him to meet immediately with the heads of police in Cork for the purpose of reviewing the Government's case against Sean Hennessy and Joseph Murphy, the latter claiming American citizenship, and any others in connection with new evidence which may be produced.

Barry is now scouring the city for a young friend of Hennessy who has asserted that he can prove a complete alibi for the dying hunger striker. Barry says he hopes to secure the release of several other prisoners tonight if witnesses are found.

Michael Hennessy, brother of Sean Hennessy, showed The Associated Press a slip of paper today, apparently made on a multigraph machine, which he said he had taken from a lamp post on a street leading to the jail early this morning. The paper reads:

"In some districts loyalists and members of his Majesty's forces have read notices threatening the destruction of their houses in certain eventualities. Under these circumstances it has been decided that for every loyalist house so destroyed the house of a Republican leader will be similarly dealt with. It is naturally to be hoped that the necessity for such reprisals will not arise, and therefore this warning of punishment which will follow any destruction of loyalist houses is being widely circulated."

According to young Hennessy, similar warnings were posted during the early morning in various parts of Cork on lampposts, signboards and dead walls.

Seven of the eleven hunger strikers in Cork jail appeared today to be in critical condition. They are Sean Hennessy, the nineteen-year-old youth; Joseph Murphy, whose status as an American is being investigated; Thomas Donovan, Michael Burke, Upton, Power and Kenny.

Hennessy still was unconscious today, and the others were so weak that they were hardly able to articulate. Murphy has a troublesome cough, which he refuses to permit the doctors or nuns to do anything to alleviate.

The correspondent of The Associated Press again was permitted this morning to enter the jail and talk with the Government's physician. He found that the physicians themselves were suffering from the effects of the severe strain they have undergone. Also he learned that the four nuns who in pairs are on duty day and night and the prison chaplain are on the point of a breakdown due to their unceasing vigils at the bedsides of the hunger strikers. Dr. Pearson, it was learned, had had no sleep for forty-eight hours.

Hennessy Youth Near Death.

The physicians today confirmed that John Hennessy, father of young Hennessy, had altered his decision to permit the nuns to endeavor to keep his son alive. His change of mind came shortly after he had granted permission to allow the nuns to use the means suggested by the physicians. It appears that young Hennessy regained consciousness for a short interval directly after the father had reluctantly consented to the plea of Harold Barry, former High Sheriff, and that the old man was fear-

Famine Menaces Forty Million Chinese: Fathers Poison Children and Sell Girls

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PEKING, Sept. 12.—The famine situation in the provinces of Chih Li, Honan and Shantung are more serious than is generally believed. The famine belt extends for 90,000 square miles, and affects a population of thirty or forty millions. The funds required for adequate relief, conservatively estimated, are $200,000,000, which is beyond the present powers of the Government.

A Presidential mandate orders the Ministries of Finance and the Interior to co-operate with the Civil Governors of the affected provinces in establishing rice and grain stores, selling at low prices and exempting customs dues. This, however, is insufficient, and foreign and American diplomats, headed by the American Minister, are organizing an International Relief Committee.

Chinese eye-witnesses report that in many villages the fathers are poisoning their families to save them from starvation. Fleeing families tie their children to trees to prevent their following them. The horrors are indescribable. Girls are being sold for 100 cash.

PEKING, Sept. 9.—Americans took the lead in organizing relief measures for famine suffers in the Chi Li-honan and Shantung provinces of China, where, it is estimated, less than 20 per cent. of crops will be harvested this year, entailing acute distress.

Provincial authorities in Honan have raised $100,000 to finance pawnshops for the benefit of the needy as a step toward immediate relief.

Charles P. Crane, American Minister to China, has reported the circumstances to Washington, requesting assistance from the American Red Cross. Minister Crane today called a meeting of the American community leaders at his residence to discuss plans for a comprehensive program of foreign aid.

TWO SISTERS SLAIN WITH ONE BULLET

Shot Fired Into Auto by Demented Man Strikes School Teachers.

SLAYER SHOT BY SOLDIER

Found by Posse, He Attacks Them With Knife—May Die From Wound.

Mike Maturich, a madman and an ex-soldier, sent a bullet from an army rifle into a touring car occupied by a party of seven persons who were returning from a day's outing in Stelton, N. J., early yesterday morning.

The steel jacketed missile, which is guaranteed to penetrate one-quarter-inch machine gun steel plate, pierced the right lung of Miss Sadie Felter and continued on through the body of her sister, Miss Susie Felter. The Misses Felter were school teachers in New Brunswick. They died yesterday afternoon in the Middlesex Hospital.

Mazurich was shot in the abdomen by a member of a posse of soldiers from Camp Raritan, on the outskirts of New Brunswick, three hours after the crime. He was said late last night to be in a serious condition in the Middlesex Hospital in New Brunswick, where he was a prisoner charged with murder.

The soldiers said the shot had been fired at the suspect when he had drawn a knife and had charged upon them after he had been encountered on a lonely road on the outskirts of the town.

The story of the shooting was told by George Merrill, brother-in-law of Miss Nettie Sims, one of the members of the automobile party. Merrill arrived at the scene of the tragedy in his automobile while an argument was under way between Mazurich and Frank Whitlock, Secretary of the New Brunswick Trust Company, who was driving the automobile in which were the Misses Felter, Miss Sims and three other women friends

The Sims home was not far from the scene of the crime. The road is fenced by heavy foliage and there are few passers by. Miss Sims alighted from the automobile and walked briskly to her home.

Feared Harm From Demented Man.

She was met by her father, Edward Sims, who was perturbed because, as he explained later, he had seen the former soldier, "Crazy Mike," as he was known, prowling about the neighborhood with a rifle slung over his shoulder.

When Mr. Merrill arrived he feared trouble and got out of his automobile. "Mike" told him that his gun had been stolen and uttered rapid and meaningless phrases which Mr. Merrill could not understand.

"You have my gun," "Mike" said. "Give it to me or I will kill you."

Mr. Merrill and Mr. Whitlock tried to pacify him and for the moment they were successful. They had known "Mike" a long time as an eccentric of the countryside who had come back from the World War rather the worse for wear and who must be humored on certain occasions. They looked upon him, however, as harmless.

Maturich, however, finally took his rifle from his shoulder and leveled it at the group in the Whitlock automobile.

"Give me my gun," he repeated.

There was a shriek from the automobile party. Maturich pulled the trigger. The steel-jacketed missile went through the right lung of Sadie Felter and then through the back of Miss Susie Felter.

Maturich tossed the rifle into the bushes beside the road and vanished. Mr. Whitlock hurried as fast as he could to the Middlesex Hospital with the two wounded women. There the doctors said there was little hope that the sisters would recover. They died later in the day.

Posse Finds Hunted Man.

Meanwhile, the Raritan Arsenal had been notified of the double murder. A detail of soldiers was sent out to hunt for the slayer. They came upon Maturich about 3 o'clock yesterday morning in a lonely road on the outskirts of New Brunswick.

They asserted that he came at them with a clasp knife. They said they warned him that he would be shot if he didn't surrender. With the blade of the clasp knife showing in his right hand, he charged upon them. One of the soldiers fired at close range. The bullet pierced his abdomen, inflicting a wound that doctors said might prove fatal.

The soldiers gave him first aid, and as soon as possible commandeered an automobile and took him to the Middle-

GOVERNOR TAKES UP B.R.T. STRIKE TODAY

COLLISION INQUIRY BEGUN

Prosecutor Subpoenas 15 Witnesses to Fatal Accident—Hunt for Motorman.

What may be the final effort to settle the B. R. T. strike through mediation will be undertaken this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Hotel Biltmore, when Governor Alfred E. Smith will confer with Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, and James H. Vahey of Boston, general counsel to the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, the last-named organization the sponsor of the transit men's two-weeks' walkout.

Governor Smith arrived from Albany on the 12:15 train this morning and said he expected to have the conference this afternoon with representatives of the B. R. T. strikers.

"The only thing I know about the strike," Governor Smith said, "is that Vahey, the counsel for the Amalgamated Association of Street Car Employes, wired me at Albany to ask if it would be convenient for him and Sam Gompers to see me with regard to the strike. I told him to come to the Biltmore at 2 o'clock today."

Governor Smith, Mrs. Smith and their daughter went from the Grand Central Terminal to their suite at the Biltmore.

With the strike situation virtually unchanged yesterday, and with the day showing the usual slight improvement in the service of the system, union leaders remained pat on their decision to sever all relations with the general public, a decision evidenced in their adoption of a policy barring reporters from their conferences and meetings. With the leaders in this frame of mind efforts to ascertain what "way out" plan would be offered at the Biltmore conclave were met with silence.

Whatever develops at the Governor's conference will have no effect on the determination of District Attorney Harry E. Lewis of Kings County and Public Service Commissioner Lewis E. Nixon to get to the bottom of the circumstances surrounding Saturday's accident, when one person was killed and seventy injured when two Flatbush Avenue trolley cars were in collision.

Search for J. Mooney, described as the motorman of the car which rammed the one ahead, continued yesterday, the hunt having started a few minutes after the frightened man had fled from the scene of the accident. Acting Captain of Detectives John J. McCloskey said last night that the police had a good description of the missing motorman and that they had information that he was in hiding in Manhattan.

Missing Man Had Been Injured.

Due to the stories of passengers on the trolley cars, the police notified all hospitals to be on the alert for a man answering Mooney's description who might call for treatment for cuts on the face and hands.

Fifteen witnesses have been subpoenaed to tell their stories this morning to District Attorney Lewis. In advance of the actual inquiry Mr. Lewis visited the injured in the hospitals yesterday and obtained data from them. He reported all of them as expected to recover. At the Kings County Hospital the District Attorney questioned Frank Edwards, conductor of the second car; Wang Kow, cousin to Quang Hoo, the Chinese merchant killed, and Albert Liechman of 180 East Third Street, Manhattan, a strikebreaking motorman, who was on his way to report for work and who is reported to have been riding on the front seat of the second car directly back of Mooney.

In connection with the accident the B. R. T. last night issued this statement:

"The management deeply deplores yesterday's accident and the consequent suffering and loss. We appreciate to the fullest extent our responsibilities to the traveling public. We had taken every precaution which experience and forethought suggested to obviate the possibility of accident. On the grade down which the car which did the damage came there was a "stop" sign and further along was a "slow" sign.

"The car itself had been duly inspected on the day before the accident and was in first class condition. We have an adequate complement of old, experienced men in the inspection de-

ITALIAN WORKERS VOTE FOR SYNDICAL CONTROL OF PLANTS

Milan Convention Favors Limiting Struggle to Metal Trades, but Asks These to Hold Out.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MILAN, Sept. 12.—After Friday's all-night sitting and the subsequent meetings up till midnight Saturday, the National Labor Convention has come to the conclusion that a historic moment has been reached. When the movement initiated by the metal workers is assuming magnitude and importance in other branches of industry, such as no longer permit of a return to the traditional relations between employers and employes, the convention has decided that the immediate struggle shall be confined to the metal workers, who are ordered to resist with all the force at their command in the positions they have conquered.

Under strict obedience to instructions to be imparted by the General Confederation of Labor, the directorate of the Socialist Party is invited to take steps to ensure that the solution of this particular conflict shall not be upon the simple lines indicated in the metal workers' memorial, but in such a way as to guarantee them the turnover of the factories with direct management by the working staffs in the interest of the common weal. Financial backing is promised for the prolongation of the struggle.

The convention has further decided that in changing the objective of the battle to that of forcing the employers to recognize the principle of syndical control of business concerns, it intends to clear the way for those vaster conquests which must inevitably lead to socialization of industry as the organic solution of the problem of production.

The Milan Convention comprised 500 labor leaders, gathered from all parts of Italy, together with the Executive of the Socialist Parliamentary group, which latter numbers 156 Deputies.

Carried 591,000 to 245.

The resolution summarized above was proposed by Socialist Deputy Chief Daragona and was carried by 591,000 votes to 245. For reasons which will appear presently it is important to record that it was a vote en bloc by the Labor Chamber Representatives from Venice, Ravenna, Taranto, Padua, Mauna, Ferrara, Cremona, Reggio, Emilia, Parma, Novara and Savona. An alternative motion put forward by Schiavello Bucco, spokesman of the extremist section, advocating an immediate revolutionary solution of the crisis on a Bolshevist basis, got 409,561 votes and was plumped for by labor chambers from Bologna, Turin, Naples, Spezia, Pistoia, Terni, Siena, Onigila, Modena, Treviso, Pavia and Como, while the vote from Milan, Rome, Florence, Genoa and Pisa was about equally divided.

No one will fail to see the profound significance of this result, though, owing to the non-arrival of certain delegates from the more remote regions, another 96,623 votes were unrecorded. The general level-headed character of the Assembly was shown at the outset in the exclusion by a large majority vote of the purely anarchist and syndicalist federations from participation in the deliberations.

Ask Parliament Be Called.

At the moment of telegraphing of the two important developments taken, acting on its mandate, the directorate of the Socialist Party has wired to Premier Giolitti an urgent demand for the immediate convocation of Parliament.

The metallurgical manufacturers have transferred their cause from their own union to the Italian General Confederation of Industry, which proposes to test "whether rights of property and personal liberty, sanctioned by statute and laws of the realm, be still in force, because the industrial class has felt the danger of precedent created in these days through the weakness of the public powers and wishes to clear up the situation brought about in our country respecting essential factors of national production."

Commenting on the persistent gravity of the situation, this morning's Corriere della Sera Says:

"If the convention vote has the advantage of keeping the conflict within its actual limits, by avoiding that catastrophic development which the Maximalists counted on, it nevertheless seriously aggravates the metallurgical dispute by complicating the economic difficulties of the controversy and those created by the ruinous and iniquitous system of warfare with new absurd pretensions that have ripened in these days of universal excitement."

In fact, during the past forty-eight hours scores of cotton, wool and silk mills, hosiery and shirt-making establishments, carpet factories, chemical works, carriage shops, tanneries, &c., have been communized in Milan, Allessandria and other provinces. Twenty-

France Must Be Prepared to Defend Gains, Says Premier

MULHOUSE, Alsace, Sept. 12.—France must be prepared to defend the victory she won during the war, said Premier Millerand in an address here last night, in which he closed a tour in Alsace.

"Victory brought France a promise of less troubled times and lightened charges," he declared, "but we can be sure of tomorrow only if we have force to support our rights. The military burden must and will be lightened, but never forget that if at the present moment we, with the allies, hold the left bank of the Rhine, it is from strict obligation. If we abandon it, we have no longer any security for victory and the Versailles Treaty."

ARTIST LOSES BRIDE IN STORM ON LAKE

Former Anna Mitchell, Painter, of This City, Washed from Motor Boat Off Racine.

CHAINED TO CENTREBOARD

Husband, Whose First Wife Was Elizabeth Flynn, Sought Thus to Save Her.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—A thrilling story of having clung to his overturned motor boat six miles out in Lake Michigan off Racine, Wis., for eighteen hours and seeing his bride of six weeks, whom he had chained to the centreboard, washed off by the waves after an eight-hour struggle, was told tonight by John A. Jones, a landscape artist, following his rescue. His bride was Anna Mitchell, a portrait painter of New York. No trace of her body has been found.

Mr. Jones was rescued by the fishing tug William, Jr., and is in a serious condition at a Racine hospital.

Mr. Jones and his bride were on their honeymoon. Jones obtained a divorce last July from his first wife, who was Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, the Socialist, and married Miss Mitchell at Crown Point, Aug. 13. Her family had objected to the match, and so the two eloped.

They had left Chicago on their honeymoon in an eighteen-foot launch which carried a square sail. They put in to Ephraim, Wis., Aug. 21, with much difficulty. A storm had disabled the boat and it was half swamped. They went as far as Washington Island, subsequently, and were on their return trip. They left Milwaukee Saturday afternoon.

At 8 o'clock the motor suddenly stopped. The waves were high, and while Mr. Jones tinkered with the motor the day passed into night, and suddenly the boat capsized.

"I found my wife struggling in the water," Mr. Jones said tonight. "I got her into the boat after I had righted it. I put her in the bow. Then came another heavy sea and the crazy boat tipped over again.

"Then I got the chain and fastened the poor girl. I thought she was secure, but the waves released her from the chain, shot her into the lake and carried her beyond my reach.

"Meantime, I had been burning clothing soaked in gasoline. Nobody saw the signal. Nobody came. I saw passing craft all day today, but could not attract the attention of any of them."

Mr. Jones is a landscape artist, and lives at 4,826 Prairie Avenue. He was thought to be a bachelor, and few knew that he was married until he began suit against his first wife, called "the Socialist Joan of Arc." She had never used the name of Jones, never calling herself anything but Elizabeth Gurley Flynn. They had been married more than twelve years. They had one child, John F. Jones, who is said to be with his mother in New York.

Mr. Jones in his divorce bill said that his wife deserted him two years after the wedding ceremony.

John A. Jones and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, the former I. W. W. agitator and campaigner, were married in 1908. Many stories have been told of their married life, the most unusual feature being that she retained her maiden name and always addressed Jones as "Comrade."

Jones and Miss Flynn were married while they were making a tour of the Minnesota iron mines. According to a story told by Miss Flynn after they separated, she met Flynn at an I. W. W. convention in Chicago, when she was only 17 years old, and he induced her to go with him on a speaking campaign.

Two days after the wedding Miss Flynn went to Minneapolis to consult a specialist about her throat, which had been strained by her speechmaking, and her husband took a job in one of the mines. Two days later he was accused of setting fire to one of the mine bosses' houses and the bride returned to her parents in Connecticut.

From that time on the path of the "comrades" was not smooth. She defended him against many accusations, however, and frequently asserted that a trumped-up charge had sent him to jail in Grand Rapids for thirty-five days after conviction for carrying concealed weapons. She said that she loved him and married him because he was the first man who, in his talk, could make her feel ignorant.

Speeding Through Storm, Dr. G. H. McGuire Takes the Wrong Turn.

Francis McGuire Escapes with Broken Thigh as His Family Is Wiped Out.

Seven of the eight occupants of a single automobile died, probably instantly, when the car, in the fury of yesterday's early morning storm, fell twenty-two feet off an elevated roadway at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., and landed on top of its victims.

Dr. George H. McGuire, successful and widely known Bronx physician, was at the wheel. The victims numbered all but one of his immediate family, including his wife, two of his three children, his sister-in-law and his brother-in-law. The doctor's twelve-year-old son Francis, whose left thigh was fractured, was the only one to escape with his life.

A wrong turn from the main road over which the party was coming back from a vacation at Orange Lake, near Newburg, N. Y., was followed within a few seconds by the tragedy when another unsuspected sharp turn was reached and the automobile first skidded, then plowed its way through an iron pipe fence and dashed to the ground.

List of the Dead.

McGUIRE, Dr. GEORGE H., aged 58 years, 2,519 Creston Avenue, the Bronx.
McGUIRE, FLORENCE P., aged 40 years, wife of the physician.
McGUIRE, GEORGE H., Jr., aged 16 years, the couple's elder son.
McGUIRE, MARY J., aged 14 years, their daughter.
HOWLEY, JOHN J., aged 52 years, 2,437 Valentine Avenue, the Bronx, Dr. McGuire's brother-in-law and for twenty years a Building Inspector in the Bronx.
HOWLEY ANNIE T., aged 52 years, Mr. Howley's wife and Dr. McGuire's sister.
MULROONEY, EDWARD, aged 15 years, son of Police Lieutenant Edward P. Mulrooney of the West 152d Street Station, home address, 57 East 190th Street, the Bronx.

The accident was believed last night, after a search of police records, to have been one of the worst of its kind in the number of dead in a single car when there had been no collision. It created a sensation in Dobbs Ferry, Hastings and nearby towns, and many thousands hung about the spot long after an emergency car had towed away the battered and broken automobile and the bodies of the victims had been taken to a morgue.

Another great crowd gathered before the morgue in Hastings. Men stood bareheaded and women wept as, late in the afternoon, a little procession of hearses took the dead to the McGuire home after Coroner Engel of Westchester County had telephoned from his Yonkers home permission for their removal.

There was deep sorrow in many parts of the Bronx, where all three families were known, respected and loved, and particularly in the parish of the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, Marion Avenue and Fordham Road, where the McGuire and Howley families were communicants of long standing.

Surviving Boy Still Dazed.

Though no one actually witnessed the accident except Francis McGuire, who was too dazed and shocked to describe it, the manner of its happening was deducible almost as a certainty. George McGuire, Jr., and the Mulrooney boy were students together at Fordham University, May McGuire wast studying at Ursuline Academy, Fordham, and after the two weeks' vacation the whole party started back from the lake yesterday evening, as it was time for the children to get ready for the opening of school.

They crossed by the ferry from Newburgh to Beacon and must have made a leisurely journey southward. It was a seven-passenger car and with its eight occupants and their suitcases and sundry other luggage was well packed.

Somewhere along the road the travelers undoubtedly encountered the first of the series of storm-bursts described as the heaviest in recent years in lower Westchester. Whether they fought their way along as best they might, or sought shelter now and then under the trees or in some shed, no one knows, but it was 3 o'clock in the morning when they reached the lower end of Dobbs Ferry. At that time they were proceeding along Main Street, the curtains battened down, the windshield up, making way as best they might against the storm that just then had reached great intensity.

Physician Takes Wrong Road.

The rain had swelled almost to tropical proportions, the deafening peals of thunder made a confusing drumfire, the blinding lightning flashes left the countryside blotted out in blackness as the incandescent streaks faded. Either the physician was unfamiliar with the road or he lost his bearings because of the difficult going and the concern he must have felt for those with him.

Just where he should have turned to the left into Livingston Avenue, which would have led him into Broadway and a straight road home, he swerved to the right to Dock Hill, over which a road winds down to the public dock, a coal and lumber yard and the New York Central tracks and station. Down the twenty-five per cent. grade of the hill the car travelled safely 300 yards to the viaduct over the tracks. It traversed the seventy-five feet of viaduct above them and went on to the ramp-like roadway leading gradually to the river level.

A few yards beyond the tracks this road turns sharply to the right, being supported by two stone and concrete abutments projecting from the railroad right of way below. An eighteen-inch concrete buttress runs along both sides, surmounted by an iron pipe fence not so strong as when it was erected many years ago.

Car Was Set in High.

In the thick of the storm the whole construction, unlighted as it was, must have been veiled from the driver, except as the lightning flashes afforded a bewildering and distorted view or the rain-clouded headlights picked it out. There is every reason to believe that Dr. McGuire thought he was on the main road, for despite the storm, the heavily laden car and the dangerous nature of the road, he seems to have been going at good speed. The brakes of the car when it was found were unset, the transmission gears being in high.

However he was traveling, the right wheels of the car struck the concrete buttress at that sudden turn to the right, the car skidded all the way across, struck the pipe fence on the other side, tore away fifty feet of it, leaped the eighteen inches of concrete wall, summersaulted in midair, rocketed the last ten feet, buried its nose deep into the ground and landed upside down, imprisoning every one of the occupants.

An hour earlier Frank Ward, 209 North Broadway; Harry Devlin, 203 North Broadway; Harry Dolan, 41 Lawrence Avenue, and several other Tarrytown youths were returning to their homes from upper Manhattan when the engine of their car stalled and they could not start it with the crank. Being familiar with the vicinage, they rolled the car to the top of Dock Hill and coasted down, hoping to start on compression somewhere along the decline. But when they reached the river level they were overtaken by the full force of the storm. Abandoning the car, they took refuge in a shed near the station. There they stood huddled together when a sudden terrific crash, succeeded by an eerie silence, sent them racing toward the tracks.

Youths Find Overturned Auto.

Half way to the tracks they came upon the upturned car. Not a sound came from beneath it and at first they thought whoever had ridden in it must have been thrown clear. A lightning flash showed them the ground about was bare and set them tugging and straining, heedless of the pouring rain, to lift the heavy auto.

By a mighty effort they managed to lift the twisted, battered, broken car to its side. Underneath lay the eight, huddled closely together, shattered glass and a litter of broken stuff scattered among them. Not a sound or even the most feeble motion came from one of them. If any except young Francis, who was unconscious, had survived long enough to struggle vainly, even for seconds, that struggle was done.

One of the youths ran to a nearby house to telephone the Dobbs Ferry police station and the hospital. The others took the bodies one after another to the roadside, where they laid them in a row.

Patrolmen Edward Fay and John J. Graney came from the station, and the ambulance, racing from its garage in Hastings, just below, stopped to pick up Dr. Harold Storms. When the three arrived there were only the wrecked car on its side, the row of dead, the unconscious boy and the group of youthful rescuers, for, despite the roar and crash of the impact, those near by who must have heard did not brave the driving rain.

Injured Boy Regains Consciousness.

After making sure that seven of the eight were dead, Dr. Storms lifted young Francis into the ambulance and took him to the Dobbs Ferry Hospital. There he regained consciousness and was said not to be dangerously hurt. He may or may not have known that of the family of five he was the only one who remained alive. He was suffering somewhat from shock. The inquest, which Coroner Engle will hold soon, can be but a matter of form, and it was thought useless to question him.

Long before daylight the bodies were taken to Baker's mortuary chapel in Hastings. News of the accident spread rapidly and the crowds divided their curiosity between the wrecked car and the morgue, hundreds of motorists veering from their courses to drive down Dock Hill and look gloomily at the wreckage.

As soon as Coroner Engle was apprised of the nature of the accident he gave permission for the removal of the bodies and they were taken to the undertaking rooms of P. C. Murphy, 343 East Fordham Road. Dr. Edward P. Higgins of 473 East 145th Street, a brother-in-law of Dr. McGuire, accompanied them, where another morbid crowd gathered last night. From there the bodies of the Howleys and the McGuires will be taken to the McGuire home, where they will remain until Wednesday morning, when there will be two solemn requiem masses at the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, that for the Howleys at 10:30 o'clock and that for the McGuires at 11. Interment will be in St. Raymond's Cemetery, Westchester.

Their Pastor is Overcome.

Father P. N. Breslin, pastor of the church the two families attended, was one of the first to hear of the accident early yesterday. When he telephoned the Dobbs Ferry police to confirm the evil tidings and learned that seven had died, six of them his parishioners, he was overcome.

Dr. McGuire was born in the Bronx, where his father, John, an iron molder, and his mother, Mary Harrington, were pioneer settlers. He was educated in the Bronx schools, was graduated from City College in 1879 and got his medical degree from New York University Medical College in 1882.

In 1903 Dr. McGuire was appointed a Commissioner of Schools and while serving in that capacity met Florence O'Sullivan, a teacher in St. Ann's Avenue and 147th Street, who became his wife.

He was a member of the Bronx County Medical Society and practiced many years in the lower Bronx. Eight years ago he built his Creston Avenue home, which was among the handsomest in the borough. He is said to have made many successful real estate investments.

Mr. and Mrs. Howley are survived by five children, Bell, John J., Edward and Kathryn Howley and Mrs. May Talbot.

AUTOS KILL MAN, HURT BOY.

Swiss Ex-Attache a Victim—Drivers Held on Technical Charges.

Ernest Baumann of 232 West Fifty-second Street, a former attaché of the Swiss Legation in Washington and of late a musician in a restaurant at night and a commercial interpreter by day, died in Roosevelt Hospital last night of injuries suffered early yesterday morning while crossing Broadway between Fifty-first and Fifty-second Streets when he was struck by an automobile owned and operated by Blaise Cocheo of 1,143 Lexington Avenue.

Cocheo, who took the injured man to the hospital in his car, was held in West Side Court yesterday morning in $2,000 bail for a hearing on a technical charge of felonious assault.

Hymen Rothenberg, 6 years old, of 1,758 Bathgate Avenue, the Bronx, is in Fordham Hospital in a critical condition with a fracture of the skull received last night when he was run down in front of his home by an automobile owned by Samuel Lesser of 222 Decatur Avenue, the Bronx. Lesser was arrested on a technical charge of felonious assault.

Spellissys Carried 300 Yards on Locomotive's Pilot in New Jersey Tragedy.

Special to The New York Times.

POINT PLEASANT BEACH, N. J., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Joseph M. Spellissy, wife of a noted Philadelphia surgeon, was killed and her husband may die as the result of a grade crossing accident here today. Their automobile was struck at the Foreman Avenue crossing of the New York & Long Branch Railroad by an express train. A woman guest of the Spellissys escaped with minor injuries.

According to a witness, Dr. Spellissy attempted to cross the track in front of the approaching train. The machine was struck broadside, and the three occupants were carried on the pilot of the locomotive amid the wreckage for 300 yards before the train was stopped. Dr. Addinel Hewson of Philadelphia, a close friend of the Spellissys, worked for more than an hour in an effort to save the woman's life.

The Spellissys had a Summer home here, but did not occupy it this year. They built a bungalow in the wooded section near Laurelton, and were en route from there to the beach when the accident occurred.

ASKS FOR SOCIALISTS ON ELECTION BOARDS

Chairman Says Fusion Gives Complete Control to One Side Special Assembly Elections.

Equal representation on the election district boards at the special Assembly district elections to be held on Thursday was asked yesterday by S. John Block, New York State Chairman of the Socialist Party. In letters to Mayor Hylan and John R. Voorhis, Charles E. Heydt, James Kane and Jacob A. Livingston, members of the Board of Elections, Mr. Block stated that in five of the six districts in which elections are to be held the Republicans and Democrats had united upon a fusion candidate.

"Without going into the question of the utter disregard by the Republican and Democratic Parties of political principles involved in such fusion," Mr. Block said, "I wish to call your attention to the unprecedented and outrageously unfair situation which will prevail in these Assembly districts unless you take action immediately to insure at least a reasonably fair and honest election.

"In each of the election districts of these Assembly districts, with the exception of the Nineteenth District of Kings County, the inspectors of election and the clerks, who will have entire charge from the opening of the polls to the counting and reporting of the vote, will be exclusively Republicans and Democrats, combined in these special elections in one group to oppose the candidates of the Socialist Party. The entire machinery of the elections will be in the hands of one group and the opposing party, the Socialist Party, will be without any representation whatsoever and will be wholly at the mercy of its combined political opponents."

Mr. Block stated that neither Republicans nor Democrats would tolerate such a situation.

The five districts mentioned by Mr. Block are those in which the five Socialists ousted from the Assembly are running for re-election and in which in each case the Democratic candidates have been indorsed by the Republicans.

Announcement was made by the Honest Ballot Association that the lack of Socialist election officials, of which Mr. Block made complaint, had led it to decide to furnish 450 watchers at every polling place in the six Assembly districts.

CHALLENGE DATA IN G. O. P. TEXTBOOK

Democrats Cite List of Wilson's War Appointees to Refute Partisanship Charge.

Complaint That "Per Soldier Day" Expenditure of U. S. Exceeded France's Is Derided.

Misrepresentation and omissions of important information bearing on vital issues characterize the Republican Campaign Textbook, according to a statement issued yesterday by the Democratic National Committee. Among the omissions specified is the covenant of the League of Nations, which does not appear in the Republican Campaign Textbook, it is stated, but which is printed in full in the Democratic Campaign Textbook. At Democratic National headquarters it was said that the demand for copies of the covenant had been very large and that a great number had been sent out, particularly to the Middle West.

In charging the Republican Textbook with misrepresentation, the statement said that the Republican Textbook in deploring the expense of the war, has this complaint: "The per soldier day expenditures for the United States, it is estimated, were from four to six times the per soldier day costs of France."

"The fact is," the statement continues, "that the French soldier got five cents a day, while the Yank drew one dollar a day up, twenty times what his French comrade received; but no doughboy who campaigned with the 'poilus' and saw what they ate and wore is going to be incensed at the American Government for 'wasting' money on his clothes and 'chow'."

The Republican Textbook is quoted as charging that President Wilson conducted the war on a partisan basis and saying: "He (Wilson) insisted upon partisanship. He distrusted such men as Roosevelt and Wood and would have his own partisans, personal and political, on guard."

It was said at Democratic headquarters that this was an unfortunate charge in view of the appointment by President Wilson of many prominent Republicans to conspicuous war jobs, some of whom were listed as follows:

General John J. Pershing, General Peyton C. March, Chief of Staff of the Army; General George W. Goethals, Assistant Chief of Staff; General Enoch H. Crowder, Provost Marshal General of the Army; Benedict Crowell, Dr. E. F. Keppel and Emmet J. Scott, Assistant Secretaries of War; Admiral William S. Sims, commander of the overseas naval forces; Herbert Hoover, Food Administrator; Samuel McRoberts, President National City Bank of New York, chief procurement officer of the Army Ordnance Department; Charles B. Warren, Republican National Committeeman from Michigan, appeal officer of the Provost Marshal General's Department; Charles M. Schwab, member of Emergency Fleet Corporation; Charles Piez, President of Emergency Fleet Corporation; Frank A. Vanderlip, Director War Savings Stamp campaign; Walter S. Gifford, Howard E. Coffin, Julius Rosenwald, Dr. Hollis Godfrey and Dr. Franklin Martin, members of Council of National Defense; Harry A. Garfield, Fuel Administrator; E. R. Stettinius, Special Assistant of Secretary of War; Charles Evans Hughes, Republican nominee for President in 1916, Chairman of Committee to Investigate the Aircraft Board; William H. Taft, former Republican President, Chairman of the National War Labor Board; Henry P. Davison, Red Cross Director; Cornelius N. Bliss, former Treasurer of Republican National Committee, member of the Red Cross War Council.

The Democratic statement also said that the Republican Textbook "rehashed" the charges made against the Administration by Rear Admiral Sims, although when the charges were heard by a Senate Investigating Committee, one Admiral upheld Admiral Sims and eleven Admirals testified that he was wrong.

PREPARING BALLOTS FOR SOLDIER VOTE

State's Fighters at Army Posts Here and Abroad to Share in Coming Election.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 13.—New York State soldiers in the far ends of the earth, as well as those who may be scattered among the many posts in this country, will have their "say" in this Fall's election. Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo has already started preparations which will enable the New Yorkers in the service to vote, not only for the head of the ticket, but for all other offices to be filled at the coming election.

The War Department has co-operated with Mr. Hugo and has just furnished him with a list of all the army posts, including those in Germany, Hawaii, Alaska, China, the Canal Zone and the Philippines.

Mr. Hugo has already written to the commanding officers of these posts requesting a list of New York State soldiers, together with their home addresses. Later on a specially prepared ballot will be sent to these men. Where there are ten or more men from New York State in one camp, a polling place will be established. The voting among the men now stationed in Germany, however, will be conducted entirely through the mails.

The ballot which is being prepared for the soldiers will enable the men to express their preference for every office to be filled. They can vote the straight ticket by simply marking the usual "X" in a circle over the party's emblem, or if a split ticket is desired, an "X" opposite each candidate's name. Blank spaces will also permit the writing in of names. A booklet giving the list of all candidates for all offices will be sent along with the ballot.

On voting, the soldier will be compelled to swear to his ballot before the commanding officer, sealing the same and returning it to Mr. Hugo's office. Voting among the soldiers will get under way twenty days before the regular election day. Relatives of New York soldiers in camps outside the State are requested by Mr. Hugo to send in the names of these men in order that the ground may be fully covered.

The election in Germany will be under the direction of the commanding officer at Coblenz. In China the commanding officer at Tientsin will be in charge.

SCORES BALLOT SLACKERS.

Dr. Young Says Woman Suffragist Ones Are Least Excusable.

The least excusable slacker is the suffrage slacker, according to the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Bedford Presbyterian Church, Nostrand Avenue and Dean Street, Brooklyn. Dr. Young devoted his sermon last night to a criticism of ballot slackers.

"We ought to have a law that any citizen failing to vote without sufficient reason should thereby lose the franchise," said Dr. Young. "We are trying out this Fall the biggest adventure of the human race in ballot casting. Only an ingrate or a traitor or one whose religious views forbid can refuse to register his or her judgment in local, State and national issues.

"Of all slackers the suffrage slacker is the least excusable. Those women who did not want the ballot, and, of course, those who did, ought to set the highest patriotic example in this matter. Every one will complain if we have bad government. Why not speak and act while the power is yours to help determine?"

LEAGUE TO USE WIRELESS.

Three Stations Planned at Geneva for Assembly's November Meeting.

BERNE, Sept. 12.—An extensive wireless service will be established at Geneva for the first meeting of the Assembly of the League of Nations, which is to be held in November. Three stations during the session will be in daily communication with Paris, Lyons, Prague, Moscow, Budapest, Nauen and Berlin.

ITALY'S LABOR VOTES TO CONTROL PLANTS

six were seized yesterday at Turin alone.

Decide on Union Control of Plants.

MILAN, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—A plenary meeting of all the workmen's organizations was held last night to taken under consideration the industrial upheaval which has come through the strike of the metal workers throughout Italy. The Socialist Deputy Daragona presented a resolution in the name of the general Confederation of Labor, favoring a compromise. This was adopted by a majority of 200,000 votes. The total representation present was 1,094,000.

A Maximalist resolution presented by Deputy Ducco, in behalf of the Socialist Party, was defeated. It had the support of the Tuscan Co-operative Workmen, whose organization only lately joined with the Socialists and is highly radical.

Daragona's resolution, which was supported by the great federation of peasants and textile workers in all centres where the co-operatives flourish, as at Bologna, Ravenna, Mantua and Ferrara says that the dispute of the metal workers cannot now be solved by simply settling the differences which arose when the dispute began, and declares:

"Today's historical moment renders impossible hereafter the present relations between masters and workmen and determines that the further direction of the present movement be taken over by the General Confederation of Labor, with the assistance of the Socialist Party, and that the aim of the struggle be an acknowledgment on the part of the masters of the principle that their works shall be controlled by the men's union."

This, said Signor Daragona, would open the way to further conquests of the workmen which must lead to collective management and socialization, thus solving completely the problem of production. Meanwhile control of metallurgic work by theh unions would give to the working classes the possibility of preparing themselves technically to substitute for the masters with the assistance of a technical staff.

The aim of the confederation, according to the speaker, was to arrange that the metalluric work should pass under the direct management of the men in the interest of collectivity and that all the workmen's organizations should help the metal workers with funds.

The Confederation of Labor would take all further decisions necessary, reminding all organizations that want of respect for rigid discipline and obedience would be treason.

The Deputy General Secretary of the Socialist Party, who had opposed Daragona's resolution and supported the Maximalist resolution presented by Bucco, said, after the vote had been taken, that the leaders of the Socialist Party, despite their opposite viewpoint would adhere to the action of the General Federation of Labor.

The decisions at the meetings of the workmen's organizations were preceded by a stormy discussion, in which the efforts of Deputy Modigliani to bring about an understanding or compromise between the Maximalists and the Confederation of Labor failed, although he outlined what a deplorable effect discord between the leaders of these two factions would have on the masses.

Near Fight in Convention.

At one time the tumult was so great that some of the delegates were obliged to intervene to prevent a fight, particularly when Signor Gennari attacked Daragona and the Confederation of Labor, declaring that that organization's attitude was an attempt to crush the direction of the Socialist Party.

Gennari maintained that the metallurgic conflict had now assumed an entirely political character, so that only those in charge of the Socialist Party had a right to lead in the movement, according to the principles confirmed at the last congress of the Third Internationale—Communism, with a proletariat dictatorship and the proclamation of a Soviet republic.

Deputy Daragona declared that according to the view of the Confederation of Labor, "the Soviet system cannot be transplanted into Italy, especially at the present moment when it would mean famine and ruin." The Italian masses were not yet ripe for a decisive experiment.

"Let me speak to you frankly," he continued. "Voting the resolution of the Confederation of Labor means acceptance of a program of action, slow but sure, not conflicting with the conquests of civilization and leading ultimately to the acquisition of all your rights, without too violent shocks.

"Instead in approving Gennari's resolution you would certainly give proof of your Socialist conviction.

"But, mark my word, in so doing you vote for the entry into the field of the entire proletariat against the bourgeoise system. It is permitted to doubt the result of such a great battle. It is possible that defeat would mean the destruction of our whole patient, tenacious work for the workmen's emancipation, which has lasted a dozen years. My conscience as an honest man and Socialist is satisfied by presenting to you two solutions. Choose. If the opposition resolution passes the members of the Confederation of Labor are ready to sacrifice their opinion after the assembly has demonstrated that their program does not correspond to the aims of the proletariat."

Delegates Sing "The Red Flag."

The overwhelming vote in favor of Daragona's resolution was received with a hurricane of applause and shouts, in which the opposition also joined. Daragona was surrounded by enthusiastic followers and carried about in triumph, while Gennari and other opposition Socialist Deputies shook hands with him warmly and congratulated him, those most moved kissing him on both cheeks, as is the custom among Italian men.

At the same time from all corners of the vast hall where the meeting was held arose the proletariat song, "The Red Flag."

"The middle class which works and produces," said Signor Baldesi, "has nothing to fear from us. They will give the strongest support to the new order of things established and not be menaced by the working classes. Naturally this transformation must take place by degrees, the Russian experiment having shewn us the danger of too rapid changes. For the present stage action will be directed toward assuring labor a larger share in the management of industry. The working classes might organize themselves into co-operatives of labor applying on a larger scale the same principles as have begun to be accepted in England.

"This earlier phase would remain in the orbit of bourgeoisie production. In fact, some intelligent employers are adopting the systems existing in America and already have transformed their businesses by sharing profits with their workers."

Great anxiety is felt here over the lack of coal. All employers have cancelled orders which already had been given and the reserve stocks of coal are rapidly decreasing. Therefore, even if a settlement is reached in the labor dispute, it will be some time before the industries have sufficient fuel with which to resume normal work.

Result Remains in Doubt.

Which faction among the workmen will finally get the upper hand is considered the merest speculation, there seemingly being no one man so superior as to exercise the predominant influence of making his idea prevail.

One section of the workmen follows the theory of Camillo Colombini, one of the three Secretaries of the metal workers, who maintains that the proletariat must take advantage of the present situation and possess themselves of the Government in order to bring about an entirely new social and economic organization.

Signor Guarnieri, another Secretary of the metal workers, declares that the only safety for the country lies in intensification of production, but that this is impossible under the present régime, no matter what concessions the employers make, as the proletariat has lost the confidence of the bourgeoisie. Between the lines of the situation some observers affect to read anxiety on the part of the workmen's leaders not to frighten the bourgeoisie, especially the lower and middle class, whose help and sympathy are still necessary to them.

Signor Baldesi, Secretary General of the Confederation of Labor, said today that nobody desired to give to the present movement an aspect such as Russian Communism. According to him the men in the direction of the Confederation were doing their utmost to prevent chaos, which would ruin the nation. He added that from the present crisis a new organization of labor and production must emerge and be in greater harmony with the modern spirit of social justice.

Come to Terms in Sienna.

SIENNA, Sept. 12.—Metal workers and their employers here have come to terms without awaiting a decision which will tend to solve the nation-wide situation. Workmen belonging to the first class will receive a wage increase of 8 cents per hour; those in the second class, 6 cents, and assistants, 7 cents. Boys employed in factories here will have their wages raised 3 cents an hour.

NAPLES, Sept. 12.—Workmen occupying the Armstrong factory at Pozzuoli, near here, have published a manifesto notifying engineers and technical staff clerks that unless they return to work within 48 hours all will be considered as being dismissed and will be replaced. After that time none of those who thus lose their positions must appear near the plant.

LEGHORN, Sept. 12.—The Federated Glass Workers, one of the most powerful workmen's organizations here, has placed 500,000 lire at the disposal of the local union of metal workers. These men will receive strike benefits of 100 lire per week if married and 70 if they are bachelors.

TRIEST, Sept. 11.—The situation in Triest was normal this morning. Martial law continues in force.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Seven persons have been killed and fifty injured in Triest during the last three days, as a result of the Socialist revolt, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Rome. Hundreds of persons, mostly Slavs, have been arrested there.

CATHOLIC WOMEN URGED TO VOTE

Must Use Their Power to Get Social Reform, Miss McCormick Tells Washington Meeting.

COLBY GREETS CONFERENCE

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—An urgent appeal to the Catholic women of the country, a half million of whom were represented by delegates from various women's organizations, to obtain the enactment of social legislation by exercising the right of suffrage, was made tonight at the opening session of the National Conference of Catholic Charities, by Miss Helen P. McCormick, Assistant District Attorney of Brooklyn, who presided.

More than 1,000 delegates, representing Catholic charitable organizations and activities in all parts of the United States, are attending the conference, which will continue throughout the week. Thomas J. Duffy, chairman of the Ohio Industrial Commission, discussed industrial unrest in America, and Charles L. Brown, President Judge of the Philadelphia Municipal Court, urged the "socialization" of civil justice, to enable the poor to secure promptly the redress of minor grievances.

A promise that the helping hand of America would be held out to the struggling countries of Europe was given tonight by Secretary of State Colby in his address before the evening session of the conference. The charitable activities of the American people, said Mr. Colby, would not be confined to the problems within their own borders, but would be directed to the relief of the stricken countries of Europe ravaged by war.

"This is a very significant and interesting meeting that you inaugurate," said Mr. Colby in his speech, "and I have come to you to express to you the interest which official Washington feels in your deliberations, the importance which it attaches to your meeting and the sincere hope that you will find here that atmosphere favorable to a free and frank exchange of views. Personally, I am an incorrigible Protestant, I am not able to bring to your discussion the considered and thought-out views of a man who has specialized in charitable work.

Colby Praises Aid in War.

"There is no charitable work in the world, I think, that is carried on with such quiet modesty and with such effectiveness as the Catholic charities of the world. I saw the work of your organizations in Europe during the war. You had a good deal of money, but not nearly so much as you could have employed, and not nearly so much as some other organizations, but I was always struck with the fact that the representatives of your charities were well up with the advanced troops.

"All credit to the brave and noble men and women of your faith who carried the principles of Catholic charity to the firing line, who watched over the sons of America in their hours and moments of danger, of suffering and temptation, and have brought back so many of the fine and sturdy citizens that we find them to be.

"I think there is something very fine and worthy in the interest that brings you men and women together in the nation's capital to discuss problems together, to compare notes of your experience, to see how you can broaden the field of your relief. I deem it a very great privilege that I should be permitted in a sense to extend to you the welcome of official Washington to this sixth biennial session of your congress."

Attention was directed by Miss McCormick to the "great possibilities for action" granted to the women of the country by the adoption of the Suffrage amendment. She urged them to "join one or other of the two great political parties" rather than to attempt to follow an independent course.

"Today in the United States," said Miss McCormick, "with twenty-seven million women possessing the Presidential franchise, and recognizing that laws are the expression of the will of the people, the opportunity for women to aid in the pressing problems of reconstruction and readjustment is infinite. Great good should come from this new element in the body politic—the women's point of view.

"Woman's interest in social and democratic movements is a response to the urge of mother love that is experienced by every normal woman, whether married or unmarried. It is a demonstration of her sense of fellowship to those in need of care or special consideration. Therefore, the average woman's interest in social conditions will include those appertaining to home, the family, children.

"This might appear at first sight a limited viewpoint. When you examine it you realize that it involves a large section of the social sores of the day. The home brings her into contact with the question of the high cost of living, the housing problem. Children would lead to a consideration of the problems of the school system, relief and protective agencies, child labor. Industrial conditions would be of imminent concern to her, as they affect her job or that of her husband.

Miss McCormick Appeals to Women.

"In order properly to meet and solve the problem contained in the social program of the average woman, a ceaseless campaign of constructive work must be carried on. Today, with the ballot in her hand, she will not have to sit patiently, year after year, on the legislative doorstep. Nowadays the obstructed vision of the reactionary legislator can be corrected by the force of public opinion, expressed by the thoughtful man or woman at the polls, and not least so when the aforesaid legislator stands for re-election.

"The newly enfranchised woman must realize that the only practical way to accomplish results tending toward social betterment is by working with and through one of the two dominant parties. Some women may turn up their noses at the thought of affiliating with a political party. But without that, woman's vote will be of as much avail as the voice in the wilderness. The policies and principles of each party are decided upon by the members of that party. Therefore it is necessary for every citizen to have an active voice in the forming of the principles that are to govern his or her party, and indirectly, the nation."

As a means of allaying industrial unrest, Thomas J. Duffy, Chairman of the Ohio Industrial Commission, proposed that workers should have a voice in determining the conditions of the industry in which they are employed.

Referring to the recent steel strike, Mr. Duffy asserted that the persons in control of the steel industry "deceived the American people and defeated the steel workers, largely by means of misleading propaganda," the speaker held.

"It seems to me," he said, "that the American people should take to task those who tamper with the nation's future in such a manner. If, after having found out the truth, we permit this wrong to pass by unnoticed, it will encourage employers to repeat the same course and probably intensify the hopelessness and add to the ranks of that class of laborers whose faith in the possibility of getting justice under the present industrial system needs to be reassured rather than rebuffed.

"I do not wish to imply that the employers in the steel industry are worse than other employers. I refer to them merely because recent developments in the steel industry furnish conspicuous examples of the methods that should not be tolerated by the American people. A healthy public opinion is one of the best safeguards against the spread of such evils as Bolshevism. But public opinion must be based on truth. One of the most pernicious evils of today is subsidized propaganda. The worst enemies of society today are the men who use their wealth and power to create a false public sentiment in order to accomplish selfish purposes.

Must Meet Radicals, Speaker Says.

"Practical recognition of the workers' right to a voice in determining the conditions of industry would be the wisest progressive step the employers of today could take. Even though the workers at times make radical demands, it would be better for employers and workers to meet face to face around the conference table to thrash out their differences rather than to hold aloof, each one trying constantly to thrash the other."

Charles L. Brown, President Judge of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia, advocated the scrapping of existing "antiquated judicial machinery" and the socialization of civil justice, so that the poor might stand on the same plane as the rich before the civil courts. He suggested the adaptation of a modified probationary system to the settlement of civil cases, such as is sued in domestic relations courts.

"In the past we had the old system," said Judge Brown, "even in the case of little children, where the Judge sat above like a terrible figure of vengeance, wielding the thunderbolts. What I wish to say is that, if we wish to socialize our civil procedure we must throw the old system, with all its wearisome machinery, into the discard.

"We must scrap as much of the hoary and rusty procedure as is no longer needful or even helpful. We must reduce costs. We must make our cases move more quickly through our courts. For now cost and delay often bring despair to the suitor in our civil courts. If we have done it in the children's and domestic relations courts, we can do it in the civil court."

The conference was opened with mass, at which the Most Rev. John Bonzano, the Apostolic Delegate, was the celebrant. The Right Rev. Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University and President of the conference, delivered the sermon. Following the mass an informal reception was held by Archbishop Bonzano.

After an executive business session a special meeting of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, attended by the Presidents of many of the local societies in the larger cities throughout the country, was held. Reports were also submitted on the philanthropic activities of Catholic women's organizations, of which more than a score, including the National Council of Catholic Women and the Catholic Women's Alliances, from all the large cities, were represented.

Practical problems of probation work, standards for day nurseries and religious instruction for neglected and abandoned children were the topics for discussion at round table discussions during the afternoon.

GOVERNOR TAKES UP B. R. T. STRIKE TODAY

partment. After the accident the car was inspected and except the damage caused by the accident was found in good condition.

Motorman Was Experienced.

"The motorman is reported to have had previous experience of several years in other cities and had been regularly examined and instructed and qualified previous to being put to work on our cars. He had been operating cars in Brooklyn about ten days before the accident and had been over this route each day for the five days preceding the accident. On the day of the accident he had been over the same route three times.

"The management is unable to state at this time whether the accident was due to negligence of the operator of the car or to some outside tampering with the brake apparatus."

Supplementing the announcement that outside unions had voted to extend "moral" aid to the strikers, Lindley M. Garrison, receiver of the B. R. T., said:

"I note that the Central Trade and Labor Council has offered its moral support to the members of the Amalgamated Association who are on strike in Brooklyn.

"Such a course must result in irretrievable harm to the cause of organized labor. The basis on which organized labor has progressed and can usefully continue is by the faithful observance of contracts and an unswerving insistence that strikes shall only occur, with its approval, when regularly called in accordance with the constitution and laws of the union.

"To approve, and to give moral support to, a strike called by an organization which utterly disregarded its obligations and its own constitution and general laws is to slaughter unionism in the house of its friends."

Good Service to Coney Island.

Gaining along the entire system, the B. R. T. managed to make an especially good showing on the four routes serving Coney Island. Nearly 150 trains, carrying 565 cars, were sent over the Culver, Sea Beach, West End and Brighton-Queens lines to the Island during the day, while thirty surface cars operated over the Smith Street line. Notwithstanding the surplusage of cars, passengers failed to appear in any great number.

With its annual Mardi Gras, called this year "Coney's Komic Karnival," opening day, the seaside resort yesterday had only 100,000 visitors. Coney Island business men, who said they lost $1,000,000 yesterday, were not optimistic about the chances of the "Karnival" drawing big crowds. The B. R. T. officials, however, declared that they could carry an old time, pre-strike crowd if the passengers showed up.

Last night the strikers held their regular meeting in a new place—in the rathskeller under the Brooklyn Labor Lyceum, the lyceum itself having been hired in connection with the Jewish holidays. About 200 strikers appeared and reporters were again barred out. Leaders of the men declared that the small audience was due to the fact that the strikers were on the "picket lines" or were tired from their duty there. The leaders denied emphatically that the men were losing heart.

Morris Drubin, president of the subway and elevated strikers, said:

"I believe there is still a good prospect of winning the strike, due to the fact that the B. R. T. has not yet succeeded in getting a 50 per cent. service on its lines. The B. R. T. union men are still on strike because they believe there is something to be gained by being on strike. They still believe there are advantages to be won. If they did not believe this they would not still be out on strike. This strike is not being kept up for fun. The men are determined to remain out as long as they believe they have a chance of winning something by the strike."

Frayne Expects Aid From Unions.

The financial campaign in behalf of the B. R. T. strikers, to be part of the "moral" support movement, will be in charge of Hugh Frayne, General Organizer of the American Federation of Labor. He had this to offer:

"The entire labor movement of the Greater City and vicinity will back this strike financially. The delegates are pledged to do their utmost at the union meetings to give financial backing to the B. R. T. strike to the fullest extent of the ability of the unions to do so.

"The decision of the conference held was in accordance with the resolutions adopted by the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York and vicinity at its meeting at the Central Opera House, Sixty-seventh street and Third Avenue, last Friday night. The unions consider that it is their duty to give all assistance in their power to aid the strike. The unions realize now that the strike is no that it will have to be fought to the finish and that is why they are ready to give all financial and moral assistance within their power."

Twelve children grouped in a game, heedless of the speeding approach of a "wildcat" Smith Street trolley, were snatched from the path of the uncontrolley car last night by Miss Martha Marter, a young nurse, who pulled the last of the children to safety just as the car flew by, deserted by its crew and with a lone policeman bravely trying to work useless brakes.

Flying past the frightened children, the car continued its mad flight along Tenth Avenue, Brooklyn, to Twenty-first Street, where it jumped from the rails at a switch and crashed into a telegraph pole. The policeman was catapulted from the wrecked car, but escaped with only a wrenched shoulder.

PRIMARY RIVALS CLASH TOMORROW

Principal Republican Contests Centre on Senator and Governor.

MANY JUDICIARY BATTLES

Supreme Court Race in the Second District Leads in Local Interest.

State-wide contests for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, for the Republican nomination for Governor and the rest of the places on the State ticket, and for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator are the most important of those which will take place at the primary election tomorrow. The polls will be open from 3 o'clock in the afternoon to 9 in the evening.

The most important contest of local interest is probably for Justices of the Supreme Court in the Second Judicial District, composed of Kings, Queens, Richmond, Nassau and Suffolk Counties, where there are five nominations to be made. Four sitting Justices seek re-election and their nomination in both the Democratic and Republican primaries is being urged by a Citizens' Judiciary Committee, of which Edgar McCullen, ex-Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, is Chairman. There are three anti-organization candidates in both the Democratic and Republican primaries for nomination for Justice of the Supreme Court in the First Judicial District, Manhattan and the Bronx. As fusion has been effected between the Republicans and Democrats on the five Justices who have served full terms and are up for re-election, these contests are not expected to be successful.

Fights for Leading Places.

The outstanding contests are against United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., and Nathan L. Miller, chosen as organization candidates for Senator and Governor, respectively, by the unofficial Republican State Convention. Mrs. Ella A. Boole, President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and City Tax Commissioner George Henry Payne are the candidates against Senator Wadsworth. Mrs. Boole has announced that if beaten in the primaries she will run at the election as the nominee of the Prohibition Party. The opponents of Senator Wadsworth base their attacks upon his opposition to woman suffrage and strict prohibition.

State Senator George F. Thompson of Niagara County is making a bitter campaign against Mr. Miller for the Republican nomination for Governor, charging that the latter is closely connected with corporations, and for that reason that Mr. Miller's election would be against the public interest. Senator Thompson, like Mrs. Boole, will run on the Prohibition ticket, regardless of the result of the Republican primaries.

Senator Thompson heads an "insurgent" ticket, with William M. Bennett, many times a primary candidate, for Lieutenant Governor; ex-Senator Robert R. Lawson, associated with Senator Thompson on his investigating committee, for Secretary of State, and Theodore T. Baylor for State Treasurer. Assemblyman John P. Donohue of Putnam County, a candidate at the unofficial State Convention, is a third candidate for nomination for State Treasurer.

Democratic Senatorial Contest.

The only Democratic State-wide contest is for the nomination for United States Senator between Lieut. Gov. Harry C. Walker, choice of the unofficial Democratic State Convention, and Mayor George R. Lunn of Schenectady. The "regular" candidates are expected to win in all these contests.

In the contest in the Second Judicial District, Justices Joseph Aspinall, Lester W. Clark and Walter H. Jaycox, Republicans, and Justice Townsend Scudder, Democrat, have been entered by the Citizens' Committee in both the Democratic and Republican primaries. The organization Republican selections for the five nominations are understood to be Justice Jaycox, Frank S. Gannon, Jr., John MacCrate, William S. Pettit and Charles B. Law. Other Republican candidates are Selah B. Strong, George A. Voss, Norman S. Dike, Jacob S. Strahl, Charles W. Philipbar and Alfred J. Gilchrist.

The organization Democratic candidates are Justice Scudder, Edwin L. Garvin, Burt J. Humphrey, Edward W. McMahon and Charles J. Druhan. Other Democratic candidates are Jacob S. Strahl, John C. Judge and George J. S. Dowling.

First Judicial District Outlook.

In the First Judicial District both Republican and Democratic organizations have indorsed Justices Charles L. Guy, Leonard A. Giegerich, M. Warley Platzek and Mitchell A. Erlanger, Democrats, and Justice John Ford, Republican. The other organization Democratic candidates are Justices William P. Burr and Edward J. McGoldrick, sitting by appointment, and District Attorneys Edward Swann of New York County and Francis Martin of the Bronx.

The other Republican organization candidates are James O'Malley, Isidor Wasservogel, Henry K. Davis and Robert McM. Marsh. Ralph V. Wechsler and Joseph R. Clevenger are independent candidates for both Democratic and Republican nominations. Isadore M. Levy is an independent candidate for a Democratic nomination, and Morris S. Schector an independent candidate for a Republican nomination.

Few of the other contests are of more than neighborhood interest. One of the most important is that between Assemblyman W. W. Pellet and ex-Assemblyman Schuyler M. Meyer for the Republican nomination for State Senator in the Seventeenth District.

DEPEW TO VOTE FOR MILLER.

Will Come Down from Country Home to Cast Ballot.

Chauncey M. Depew, who asserts that he first suggested Nathan L. Miller for Governor, notified the Miller Campaign Committee yesterday that he intended to come down from his country home at Briarcliff tomorrow to vote for Mr. Miller for the Republican nomination for Governor. "I am coming down Tuesday," wrote Mr. Depew, "and on Jan. 1, I will go to Albany to attend his inauguration as Governor, thereby fulfilling the prediction I made in September, 1902."

Mr. Depew said he first met Mr. Miller at the Republican State Convention in that year, at which the latter was nominated for State Controller, to which office he was elected. "I was introduced to Mr. Miller and we conversed freely on State matters," wrote Mr. Depew. "His knowledge of the affairs of the State and his grasp of administration so impressed me that when I left him I said: 'I look to see you Governor some day.'"

Mr. Depew added that he had followed Mr. Miller's career since that time and had never doubted that his prediction would be fulfilled.

HARRISON EXPLAINS WATSON'S SUCCESS

Contest in Georgia Not a Measure of Sentiment on National Questions, He Holds.

STATE STRONG FOR COX

Divided Opposition, Each Man with Difficulties, Gave Watson Faction Its Chance.

By WILLIAM H. CRAWFORD.

The choice of Thomas Watson as a Democratic nominee for Senator in the Georgia primaries has been construed by the Republican National Committee as a repudiation of the League of Nations and of the Wilson Administration, because Watson has been outspoken in his antagonism to both.

Watson has been a stormy petrel in Georgia State politics for the last twenty-five years, beginning his political career as Populist and never abandoning his Populistic theories, even after the disorganization of that party. He has built up a tremendous following among the farmer folk of Georgia by his advocacy of the cause of the "common people" in his various political papers and magazines that is intrinsically his own. They swear by Tom Watson and vote for him without regard to the policies that he advocates. This vote has never been quite strong enough to elect him to office since his memorable term in Congress. The support of his regular following cannot be construed as representing sentiment either for or against the League of Nations.

The opposition to Watson and his radicalism by presenting a solid front has always been able to defeat him. This year the opposition was divided. Senator Hoke Smith considered that his record as a Senator and as Secretary of the Interior and as Governor of the State of Georgia entitled him to re-election. However, his half-hearted support of the Administration and his attitude toward the League so incensed the Wilson supporters that they ran Governor Dorsey against him in the primaries. Governor Dorsey had made many enemies, and these dissatisfied elements, to which were added those who were pro-German, anti-League and anti-English in sentiment, were sufficient in number to nominate Watson.

Senator Harrison's Explanation.

Senator Pat Harrison, Chairman of the Speakers' Bureau of the Democratic National Committee and himself a Southerner, and therefore thoroughly conversant with the situation in Georgia, when his attention was called to the claims of the Republicans that the selection of Watson spelled the doom of the League, said:

"The nomination of Thomas Watson for the United States Senate by the Democrats of Georgia cannot be accepted as a repudiation of the Democracy of the nation, of the Democratic national ticket or as a condemnation of the present Democratic Administration.

"It is always difficult to analyze a political condition at a distance; especially is this true in a State like Georgia, where a Governor and a sitting Senator were seeking the same political preferment.

"In the contest for the United States Senate in Georgia between Senator Hoke Smith, Governor Dorsey and Tom Watson, all of whom have been leading figures in the political life of Georgia for years—especially is this true of Senator Hoke Smith and Tom Watson—no one cognizant of the political conditions in Georgia would imagine for an instant that such a contest could be restricted to present day issues. But there has been a Hoke Smith faction and a Tom Watson faction in Georgia politics for a quarter of a century. Issues within that time have sunk into insignificance when these factional contests have taken place, when these political characters were involved.

"Adherents of these men have stood by them for years because they belonged to either one or the other of the political factions of that State. Both have had a commanding following in Georgia. That following has been increased or diminished temporarily with the passing of the years—influenced temporarily, of course, by the circumstances and conditions of the hour. But during their entire political history every one in Georgia has conceded that Hoke Smith or Tom Watson had a certain following and that they could under all circumstances and at all times count on that following.

"Now as to the recent Senatorship contest between these three political leaders, I say that Watson's nomination cannot be accepted as a repudiation of the Democratic Administration or a reflection on the candidacies of Governor Cox and Secretary Roosevelt. I make that statement for the following reasons:

"Governor Dorsey was presenting his claims for nomination not only because he was running on the Democratic platform and indorsing the Democratic Administration, but on his record as Governor of Georgia. The record of Governor Dorsey was discussed pro and con so far as his candidacy for the Senate was concerned quite in as large a measure as his position touching national policies.

"Senator Hoke Smith naturally presented his claims for renomination upon his record in the Senate, as Governor of his State and as Secretary of the Interior. Senator Smith is a man of commanding personality, of great ability, and whose qualities of constructive statesmanship are written in his State and nation.

"But it is fresh in the minds of the people of Georgia that Senator Smith criticised the Versailles Treaty and opposed persistently and aggressively certain parts of the Covenant of the League of Nations, and they had formed an opinion that he as Senator had obstructed the Democratic Administration at Washington.

"And so it must be conceded that Senator Smith's usually strong popularity and commanding position in the politics of Georgia were handicapped by his attitude toward the League of Nations; but notwithstanding this handicap and the handicap of certain local conditions that were visited upon the candidacy of Governor Dorsey, these two, who had come out squarely upon the Democratic platform adopted at San Francisco and in advocacy of Governor Cox and Franklin Roosevelt, received a very large majority of the popular votes cast in the primary elections. These two candidates, indorsing without reservations the Democratic platform adopted at San Francisco and the candidacies of Cox and Roosevelt, received 102,000 votes in the primaries, while Watson received only 101,000 votes in the primary election. And I might say in passing that Tom Watson gave expression to the views, without any reservations whatever, that he indorsed the candidacies of Cox and Roosevelt. And so all the Democrats who voted in the primaries in Georgia for any or all of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Senator, numbering 203,000, were voicing their indorsements of the Democratic candidates for President and Vice President.

Georgia Back of the Administration.

"Those Republican critics who were so completely routed that they would grab the least suggestion to bolster up their waning cause and who held forth the nomination of Tom Watson to the country as an indication of Republican victory must not forget that only a few months ago a solid Democratic delegation was sent to San Francisco with instructions to vote for Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer for the nominee of the party and for a platform indorsing the Democratic Administration at Washington. They will not forget that Thomas Watson was then a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, and that in that primary he received only a little more than one-third of the vote cast in the State. Neither can these same men forget that two years ago, in a primary election before the people of Georgia between Thomas W. Hardwick and William J. Harris—Hardwick running on his record as the then sitting junior United States Senator from Georgia and Harris carrying the open indorsement of the Democratic Administration through a letter written by President Wilson—Senator Harris was elected by an overwhelming vote. They will not forget that in that same primary election W. Schley Howard, the third candidate in the primaries for the Senatorship and who had served with distinguished ability in the House of Representatives and had supported the Democratic Administration at every turn and on all occasions, received approximately as many votes as those that were cast for Senator Hardwick. In other words, in that contest, which was a real contest between the National Administration forces and those that were lined up against it, an indorsement of the National Administration was voted by the voters of Georgia practically two to one.

"And so it is puerile to assume or suppose that the Democracy of Georgia is not behind the Democratic platform at San Francisco and proud of the achievements of the Democratic Administration for the last seven years.

"It is no idle presumption to say that in November Cox and Roosevelt will receive the united support of the Democracy of Georgia.

"I would point out to those self-constituted prophets who are basing their hopes of Republican success on the nomination of Tom Watson for Senator in Georgia the further fact that in every State in the South, as well as in the nation, where the issue has been squarely put up to the Democracy of those States, they have responded in unmistakable terms in an indorsement of the great record of the Democratic Administration—at all times repudiating those who sought to minimize its achievements or embarrass the onward progress of the Democratic Party."

ASKS JUDGES' RE-ELECTION.

Wickersham Issues Plea for Clark and Aspinall.

Republicans of the Second Judicial District are urged to support Justices Lester W. Clark and Joseph Aspinall for renomination in the primary election tomorrow, in a statement issued last night by George W. Wickersham, formerly Attorney General of the United States and prominent as a lawyer and as a Republican. Justices Clark and Aspinall, although Republicans, were denied support by the Republican county organizations of the district.

Mr. Wickersham said he would have thought that the lesson taught Tammany in the First Judicial District in its attempt to turn down Justice Joseph E. Newburger would have had its effect in neighboring counties. "I feel great confidence," he said, "that the good sense of the electors of the Second Judicial District will resent the attempt to destroy the independence of the Judges by re-electing Justice Clark and Justice Aspinall to the places they so well have filled during their terms of office."

COX'S VOICE FAILS IN THE NORTHWEST

has fought for years and that a great "slush fund" is being raised in an attempt to buy the Presidency, and his presentation of the League of Nations issue.

Republican newspapers are giving publicity to a letter written on July 22 by a representative of brewery interests in New Jersey, referring to Cox as the friend of the "Wets."

Fac-simile copies of this letter are appearing wherever Cox goes. They were published in Seattle yesterday and in the Portland Oregonian today. Apparently a determined effort is on to make this the issue while Governor Cox is in this section.

It was the publication in Seattle yesterday that led Governor Cox to take the matter up in his address there last night by asserting that prohibition was not an issue of the campaign, that the laws were on the statute books to be enforced, and that Republican reactionaries, true to form, were endeavoring to becloud the issues of the campaign by bringing forward a question which had "become a part of yesterday."

The Governor charged also that certain newspapers were the last stand of reaction, and helped to create by the attitude of unfairness which they assumed the very radicalism they attacked. He stated that one of the Republican reactionary organs of the Northwest refused to publish his speech of acceptance at Dayton, and only published it some time later when there was an insistent demand by its subscribers.

The Republicans still assert with apparent confidence that they have small fear that Governor Cox will be able to win the West, but seemingly their confidence is by no means as strong as it was when they talked about conditions prior to the national conventions.

It would seem that Governor Cox has made the opposition leaders here realize that they cannot hope to injure him by charging that he is under the control of President Wilson, or he has not taken upon his own shoulders the fight in behalf of the League of Nations and progressive government.

He has presented himself as a candidate for the Presidency in a conflict between the liberal forces of the country and the reactionary forces, rather than as the nominee of any party. That message he has pounded home, asking the people to vote for him not as a Democrat, but as an individual who stands for certain things, prominent among them justice to all men and women in government.

Governor Cox has realized from the first that he had before him a stiff fight, if he were to get his message to the American people. He entered upon the campaign in that spirit, refusing to admit that any State was hopelessly lost if he could get face to face with the people. He has been a human dynamo since starting into the West.

Governor Cox is making the fight in this section with but little aid from an effective organization. That went to pieces after the nomination at San Francisco, so far as Federal officers were concerned, because of the realization that the Cox candidacy was independent of things in the past. Under the impetus of the vigor which Governor Cox is putting into the fight a new organization is being built up.

Governor Cox has imbued the leaders with something of his spirit—that the fight must be carried on without admission that victory is impossible. And there has been a distinct change in feeling among the leaders since Cox began his tour across the country.

Senator George Chamberlain was here to greet Governor Cox upon his arrival in Oregon. Chamberlain has been renominated for Senator and even the Republican leaders admit that Chamberlain will probably be re-elected by 25,000 to 30,000 majority. Such an admission in a State which as a rule goes three to one Republican in a national campaign shows that the leaders are not as confident as they were in the early days of the canvass.

May Drop Rear Platform Speeches.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—Dr. Charles T. Chamberlain, a son of Senator Chamberlain, was called in this morning after Governor Cox arrived from Seattle and prescribed massage treatment for his throat. He obtained a masseur who agreed to accompany the Democratic nominee on his trip tomorrow to Salem, Ore., and possibly continue on the tour.

About a hundred persons were at the station when the Governor's train arrived early in the morning, but Dr. J. C. Smith, State Democratic Chairman, after conferring with members of the candidate's party, said that the Governor desired more rest and would meet the Reception Committee at his hotel at 9 o'clock.

Governor Cox had stated that he desired a quiet Sunday and would attend church services. Several churches extended invitations, but not until the Governor and Senator Chamberlain started for Westminster Presbyterian Church was any intimation given as to where the visitor would worship. At the church the Governor refused to be ushered down the aisle and sat near the door. He listened to a sermon by the Rev. Dr. Edward H. Pence.

The Governor is to leave Monday night for Salt Lake City, but owing to the condition of his voice it is expected that he will not make any rear platform speeches for two or three days.

FOUR REPUBLICANS ASK VERMONT VOTE

Tomorrow's Primary Will End Sharp Battle for Nomination for Governor.

NO DEMOCRATIC CONTESTS

Fred C. Martin Expected to be Named for Chief Executive Without Opposition.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 12.—Contests among four candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor and three for the nomination for Congress in the Second District will be decided at the Vermont primaries on Tuesday next. The four men seeking nomination for chief executive, which usually is equivalent to election in this State, are Frank W. Agan of Ludlow, Fred H. Babbitt of Rockingham, Curtis S. Emery of Newport and James Hartness of Springfield.

Representative Porter H. Dale is a candidate for renomination in the Second District. He is opposed by Ernest Gordon of Barre and John W. Gibson of Battleboro. Senator William P. Dillingham and Representative Frank L. Greene are unopposed for renomination.

There are no contests for leading places on the Democratic ticket. Fred C. Martin of Bennington will be the nominee for Governor.

The Republican Gubernatorial campaign has been lively. The four candidates have visited all parts of the State and on several occasions Babbitt, Emery and Hartness have spoken from the same platform.

Agan has had the support of Governor Percival W. Clement. Opposition to the prohibition amendment and the Volstead Enforcement act has formed the basis of his campaign. On the State issues he has urged better roads and higher taxes to pay for State development.

Babbitt has advocated what he terms a "reasonable modification" of the Volstead act, but has laid chief stress on State affairs. He has demanded a more efficient method of State expenditures, better rural education, a revision of the banking laws, and development of both agriculture and industry.

Emery has emphasized the fact that he is a dry candidate and that he has always favored woman suffrage. He has insisted that most of the State issues are centred in greater encouragement for agriculture but also has favored industrial development.

Hartness has made his campaign chiefly on a plea for industrial expansion in Vermont. He has voiced his recognition of the interdependence of manufacturing and farming.

Representative Dale seeks renomination on his record at Washington. Gibson bases his candidacy for Congress largely on amendment of the Volstead act, advocacy of the League of Nations with reservations, and a more elastic system of farm banking credits. Gordon favors a budget, maintenance of a merchant marine, increased military training, and an international association along the lines suggested by Senator Harding.

The outcome of the primaries is made more doubtful by the new factor of the women's vote. All over the State women have registered in large numbers.

THOMPSON CHARGES BIG MILLER FUND

Names Men Who He Says Are Putting Up Money "to Purchase Election."

BUFFALO, Sept. 12.—Senator George F. Thompson, who is conducting his campaign for the Republican nomination for Governor in Niagara County, gave out a statement today in which he said:

"The plot to buy the Republican Party nomination for my opponent, former Court of Appeals Judge Nathan L. Miller, and to purchase his election in November will involve a fund which will beggar the $3,000,000 Mitchel slush fund in the New York City campaign of 1917."

He gave out a list of the men he said were behind Mr. Miller, and added "some of the things he can do for them, if he is elected to office." The list included William Hamlin Childs, Alexander Cowie, Mark A. Daly, Nicholas F. Brady and Loton Horton.

"Do you want these men to run the Republican Party?" the statement said. "Do you want them to own and operate the Government of the State? With the direct primary out of the way, and Judge Miller in office, the end of true representative State Government is in sight."

the coast States on the subject and has collected considerable data in preparation for the speech.

Railway affairs are to be dealt with by the Senator tomorrow at a gathering of the Harding and Coolidge Railway Employes' Club of Marion and on Friday the anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution. He will make an address on constitutional government to delegations from Ashland, Champaign, Defiance, Knox, Logan, Ottawa, Putnam and Tuscarawas counties, Ohio.

Many citizens of foreign birth will be in Saturday's delegation, which will hear an address on the Americanizing of immigrants.

ROOT INDORSES WADSWORTH

Says No Recent Public Servant More Truly Deserves Re-election.

An indorsement of United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., by Elihu Root, now in Europe, was made public yesterday by James R. Sheffield, chairman of the Wadsworth Campaign Committee. Mr. Root, who said he had just learned of Senator Wadsworth's designation by the Republican State Convention, sent the following cablegram to Senator Wadsworth:

"Seeing American newspapers here only occasionally, am just informed convention recommended your nomination for Senator. Accept my congratulations. I am very glad. No American public servant in recent years has deserved re-election more truly than you by unselfish devotion to public, uprightness, industry, good temper, courage and superior ability. If your patriotic constituents realize how important it is for our country to have very best character and brains employed in Government you will shortly be re-elected."

Farmers' Council Fights Wadsworth

The Farmers' National Council, which has headquarters at Washington, D. C., has sent letters opposing the renomination of United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., because of his record on legislatoin affecting the control of the meat packers and his advocacy of the legalization of the sale of oleomargarine, according to a statement issued by the headquarters of George Henry Payne, who is opposing Senator Wadsworth.

MAINE VOTES TODAY; BOTH SIDES CLAIM IT

Democrats by a "Small Majority," Republicans by at Least 30,000 Votes.

HEAVY POLLING EXPECTED

Interest Centres on the Attitude of the 90,000 Women Newly Enfranchised.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 12.—The biennial State election in Maine will be held tomorrow. A Governor and State Auditor, four members of Congress, a State Legislature and county officers will be chosen.

The Republicans, who have conducted an aggressive and well organized campaign, predict that they will carry the State by at least 30,000. It is sixteen years since they have rolled up a plurality even approaching that figure, and ordinarily they have been content with one-half of it. Their greatest plurality was in 1896, when they carried the State by 48,000. The Democrats have quoted no figures, but predict victory "by a small majority."

The Democratic State organization has not waged so aggressive a campaign as the Republicans, and in explanation has pleaded lack of funds; but, like the Republicans, it has had the speaking services of some of the ablest members of the national organization. Among them have been Franklin D. Roosevelt, candidate for Vice President; Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy; William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, and Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut.

The campaign has been waged on national issues, with chief emphasis on the League of Nations. The Republican position on the League has been in support of the Senate's refusal to ratify the treaty "without reservations designed to protect the safety, sovereignty and independence of the United States."

The Democrats have declared for prompt ratification without reservations "destructive to the spirit and effective operation of the treaty."

The importance of the issues and the prominence of the speakers have attracted large and serious audiences and all indications point to a heavy vote.

The Republican candidate for Governor is Frederic H. Parkhurst of Bangor. His Democratic opponent is Bertrand G. McIntyre of Norway, whom Governor Carl E. Milliken defeated in the election two years ago. Parkhurst has been a member of both branches of the Legislature and is a former Chairman of the Republican State Committee. McIntyre has served in the Legislature and as Sheriff of Oxford County and for six years was Chairman of the Board of State Assessors.

Of the four members of Congress from this State, all Republicans, three are candidates for re-election. In the First District Representative Louis B. Goodal is retiring and the Republicans have nominated Carroll L. Beedy, County Attorney of Cumberland. He is opposed by Frank S. Haskell, a Portland lawyer. In the Second District Representative Wallace H. White, Jr., is opposed by Dr. Wallace N. Price. In the Third District Representative John A. Peters is opposed by Archie C. Towle, and in the Fourth District Representative Ira G. Hersey is opposed by Leon G. C. Brown.

An element of uncertainty has been added in the entirely new factor of the women's vote. It is estimated that approximately 90,000 women have registered and that about one will vote for every two men tomorrow. The Republicans assert that they will have a majority of the women's vote, but Franklin D. Roosevelt after a speaking tour of the State said he was convinced that the women were for the League of Nations, and for that reason would support the Democratic candidates.

Democratic leaders concede that the Legislature will "probably be Republican," as at present. At first the complexion of the Legislature was a matter of some concern, as there was a possibility that it might be called upon to redistrict the State under a new apportionment for Congress. Official word was recently received from Washington, however, that Maine's quota would not be reduced, as had been feared as a result of the census.

Three proposed constitutional amendments are on the ballot—one granting towns the right to have more than one voting place, one providing for an issue of $3,000,000 of State bonds to pay a bonus to Maine's service men in the World War, and one providing for a State income tax. On a referendum petition the voters will pass upon an act of the last Legislature granting women the right to vote for Presidential electors. Because of the ratification of the Federal suffrage amendment, however, the vote will be without practical effect.

ASKS VETERANS' AID TO PREVENT WAR

Baker Hopes Soldiers Will Turn Their Attention to Helping Peace Plan.

BUILDING UP A NEW ARMY

Wants Assistance in the Great Educational Institution Planned by the Department.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Veterans of the 27th Division, A. E. F., gathered in Convention Hall for their first annual reunion tonight, enthusiastically applauded Secretary of War Baker when he expressed the hope that when as individuals they took an active part in Government activities they would turn their attention to some plan of preventing future wars.

"I am as non-partisan about the method to attain permanent peace in the world as any man," he asserted. "But I do believe that after this exhibition of modern warfare you have seen and you who were a part of it come upon the stage we older men are to leave, as this great responsibility comes on you, one of the objects of your future activities should be to consider whether there may not be some organization among men and nations that may go as far as human organization can go to prevent the outbreak of another catastrophe of this kind."

The Secretary also asked the co-operation of the veterans for the Army Reorganization bill. He said the War Department is "trying to make a new kind of army," a "great educational institution" in which the soldiers may receive vocational and academic training.

The Secretary commended the record of the Twenty-seventh Division, saying "so far as I know nothing is more creditable to America than the conduct of the Twenty-seventh Division in its attack on the Hindenburg line."

Secretary Baker was followed by Senator James W. Wadsworth, who criticised the War Department proposals for an army of 576,000 men and a desire which he attributed to Secretary Daniels for "the greatest navy on earth."

"The proposal of the Administration for a regular army of 576,000 men and the greatest navy on earth," he said, "is a curious commentary on the assurances of universal peace which is to follow in the train of the League of Nations."

Other speakers were Colonel Cary F. Spence, former commanding officer of the 117th Infantry, Thirtieth Division, and Brig. Gen. Edward M. Lewis, U. S. A., former commander of the Thirtieth Division with which the Twenty-seventh was associated in France, within the British army zone.

General O'Ryan, who commanded the division in France, presided.

Tomorrow afternoon there will be a parade of members of the division.

LANDSLIDE STRIKES TRAIN.

One Passenger Fatally Injured Near De Begue, Col.

GRAND JUNCTION, Col., Sept. 12.—Denver & Rio Grande passenger train No. 1 was struck by a landslide today and wrecked near De Beque, Col., killing the engineer and fireman and fatally injuring Russell Hager of Dayton, Ohio. He is about 23 years old.

The accident happened at Nigger Hill, a great oil shale mountain, about forty-two miles east of here. It started to slide just as the train was passing early this morning and hundreds of tons of rock and dirt are piled on the track.

The mountainside is still sliding tonight. Boulders weighing many tons are reported to be crashing down the hillside, bringing much loose dirt with them.

WARREN DELANO FUNERAL.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Attends Services at Barrytown.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Funeral services for Warren Delano, president of the Delano Coal Company of New York, were held at his summer residence, "Steen Valejet" in Barrytown, this morning, only immediate members of the family and workers of the estate being present. The Rev. Francis K. Little, rector of the Church of the Messiah, in Rhinebeck, read the simple Episcopal service.

There were no pallbearers, the casket being borne by employes to the hearse. A special train at Rhinecliff took the body to Fair Haven, Mass., where it will be placed in the family vault.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, who attended his uncle's funeral, did not go to Fair Haven, but left at once for Portland, Me., where he had been forced to cancel a speaking engagement. Floral tributes were received from the families of Levi P Morton, Vincent Astor, Colonel Archibald Rogers, Frederick W. Vanderbilt, the Roosevelts, the W. D. Dinsmores and the Huntingtons.

Dentist Wins an Appeal.

An appeal by Dr. Clifford N. Norman, a dentist, 537 Lenox Avenue, from a conviction and fine of $10 on a charge of alleged disorderly conduct made to Magistrate Fleischmann in the Harlem Court in July by Harry Pfefferbulm, son of the landlord where where Dr. Norman has his office, was decided by Judge McIntyre Saturday in General Sessions in favor of Dr. Norman. The conviction was ordered reversed and the amount of the fine repaid.

A Tooth Once Gone Never Comes Back

Nothing in nature can replace a tooth totally destroyed by decay. Yet the estimated chief cause of tooth decay—"Acid-Mouth"—is believed to exist in most mouths. It undermines the enamel, forces cavities, and exposes the delicate inner life of the tooth to germ destruction.

We never get tired in trying to do our storekeeping better, but it has never been so difficult to get assistants to think of what they are here for and to set their minds fully upon their duties.

Some of our oldest workers are very faithful, but there are many others who hurry in at nine and hurry out at five, not realizing how little and how artificial their service seems to some of our life-long patrons who have good reason to expect much from us.

To be an accountant or a clerk in a good business house is to have an honorable position, good pay and an opportunity to make a good record.

We know by the growth of the business through all the years, and especially this year, that the people want to use the peculiar advantages of our large, carefully sought and well-bought assortments of merchandise, and now that we have had good holidays, let us settle down to attend to business strictly and justly.

Navy Blue

A proud showing of New Dress Goods

Today we shall show you a very interesting collection of the new Autumn dress goods in navy blue.

Tricotines, Poiret twills, serges, velours, coatings, embroidered serges.

Early selection from this complete collection will permit of leisurely use of the materials for winter suits, dresses and capes.

$2 to $16.50 yard.

Main Floor, Old Building

New Blouses

For the new Autumn suits

Soft becoming blouses of fine white and flesh colored Georgette Crepe, in two models at $10.50, are unusually good at that price.

The most critical taste will be satisfied with the cut and the mode of the soft collars and the well-shaped necklines of these. One model features a vestee and soft collar of fine tucks or alternating with cream colored Valenciennes lace—charming. Another model features hand-embroidery and real filet lace as trimming.

Net Blouses at $8.75

Two models—one with jabot-like collar—a very new mode—inset with fine lace net. The other has a wide soft collar with net insertion as a trimming.

Second Floor, Old Building.

Tulle Frocks

Fashion has again decreed them for evening for Miss 14 to 20

Tulle expresses youth and also is perfect for the interpretation of Fashion's new frocks for Miss 14 to 20.

One of the most attractive of the new models is modestly priced $39.75—it is a charming frock of black tulle with touches of French blue. Another at $52.50 is effectively embroidered.

Fluffy rosettes of tiny tips of ostrich are scattered here and there on the voluminous skirt of a model at $95. This in the new shades of green, rose and dark brown.

Jet is used in simple way—not a bit grown-up—to form little panels on the skirt of an adorable model at $145.

Second Floor, Old Building, Tenth Street.

This might be called, appropriately, the story of the iron.

The iron, manipulated by experienced hands, is the instrument that shapes the coat.

In many clothing shops today, where cheaper grades are made, the presser is paid according to the number of coats he presses.

The more he presses (into shape) the more he earns; and the more he presses the less skill he actually puts into the work.

In other shops, where the better clothing is made, the presser is paid according to the quality of his work. Skill is at a premium.

Obviously it costs more to produce a coat in the second shop than it does in the first, but the coat is better.

So it all depends upon what you want; although it is well to know these little features of demarkation so that you will not mistake one for the other.

The Burlington Arcade Store, where the better grades of men's clothing are sold, looks carefully to points of skill.

FINDS RURAL YOUTH LACKS SYMMETRY

ACCESSORY SINEWS SUFFER

Suggests as a Remedy Games That Will Involve the Use of the Entire Body.

Notwithstanding that farm work provides for an abundance of physical exercise in the open air, farm boys and girls do not develop symmetrically; the work of the farm appears to overdevelop the major fundamental muscles, while the finer, or accessory, muscles are neglected; farm life in general does not produce a degree of mental alertness and neuromuscular co-ordination essential to an enthusiastic and optimistic outlook on life.

These are the conclusions presented by E. C. Lindeman, Chairman of the Conference Committee on Recreation and Rural Health, in a report on "Recreation and Rural Health" to the second National Country Life Conference, and are based on these observations: Farm-reared young men in the army camps were slower to respond to the stimuli of play; farm-reared young men reached the stage of fatigue sooner than the city-reared young men in forms of activity requiring the action of the whole body; city-reared young men usually excelled at games involving mental alertness.

In suggesting forms of recreation that are best adapted to act as a corrective and a preventive for these evils of country life the report says that "obviously this question has no validity unless it is admitted that the conclusions are in a measure correct. Because the committee does believe these conclusions to be, at least in part, correct it raises this question. If there is something inherent in the vocation of farming which tends toward unsymmetrical bodily growth, then it must be possible to supplement the ordinary regimen of farm life with recreational activities which will offset this deficiency. In the absence of extended research and reliable data we must base our conclusions upon reasoning and observation.

"Since farm boys and girls do not appear to be lacking in size or in weight and since the apparent malformations seem to be due to an overdevelopment of certain of the major muscles at the expense of the finer muscles, it seems logical to conclude that the following types of recreation are needed: Games which involve the free use of the entire body; games which require precision of action; games employing the expression of the rhythmic instinct. From the psycho-physiological point of view it seems also logical that games of the following nature are needed: Games which involve co-operative action; games which involve attention, or the use of the higher nerve centres, and games which are mentally exhilarating.

"The last conclusion deserves further emphasis. If the ordinary routine of farm life produces a certain sombreness, it is patent that the recreational life of the country should be active and not passive; it should be not only physically energizing but joy producing. In a very large sense the rural population await in the interest of the satisfaction of their social natures just this type of recreative activity. Group games, organized athletics, folk dancing, community singing—these must be introduced into the life of the open country as a preliminary to an understanding of the distinction between exercise and play."

In answering the question, Are there certain forms of highly specialized farm labor which are deleterious to health? the report says that this question is raised in relation to such occupations as cotton picking, onion and sugar beet weeding, and other forms of seasonal agricultural labor which require difficult and unnatural posture and demand almost the same degree of monotonous attention as that of simple machine labor of industry.

"This is really a question of farm labor rather than of recreation," says the report. "It may be argued that the number of persons affected by this type of labor is too small to receive national attention. However, if democracy is our goal, we dare not neglect any element of our population. If this type of occupation is inherently connected with the necessary crop, and if men and women and boys and girls must be utilized, there must be some manner in which the attendant evils may be overcome or minimized. If the crop is necessary, then the proper development of those who produce it is more important. This committee believes that in the sphere of recreation there is a distinct hope for ameliorating the results of this type of farm labor.

"The analogous evils of industry are combatted with a program for shorter hours, more pay, better working conditions and a minimum working wage. This is the negative phase of the problem. We must do more than recognize and minimize evils; we must correct them if ever we are to do more than lip homage to democracy. In the interest of national health we must act upon faith that the persons who produce our goods are more important than our goods.

"Organized industry is approaching this problem with the introduction of rest rooms, recreation rooms and recreation directors. Agriculture must also provide adequately for recreational relief and physical correctives for its specialized occupations if we are to build and conserve the vigor of our rural population. It is the neglected element of a population in which the suppressed desires exceed the normal expressions that is dangerous. And play is one of the fundamental human desires or instincts."

PREMIERS OPPOSE GENEVA CONFERENCE

Millerand and Giolitti Agree on Desirability of Postponing or Abandoning It.

"WE MUST END THE WAR"

Enforcement of Versailles and Other Treaties Indispensable, Millerand Says at Aix.

IN ACCORD ABOUT SOVIETS

Premier Emphasizes French and British "Hands Off" Policy in the Adriatic.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AIX-LES-BAINS, Sept. 12.—With a warm handshake and the conventional "Delighted to make your acquaintance," Premier Millerand of France and Premier Giolitti of Italy met each other for the first time here this morning and began at once the work of patching up all the differences and difficulties between their two countries.

Their conference is apparently to be very much of the nature of private conversation in which they will seek more to understand each other's point of view than to frame any policies. Above all, it is an attempt by the two Premiers to promote harmonious feeling between their countries than there has been for some time past.

Signor Giolitti arrived here last evening and M. Millerand reached town this morning about breakfast time, fresh from his almost triumphal tour of the devastated regions, occupied Germany and Alsace-Lorraine. At 11 o'clock Signor Giolitti paid his first visit to M. Millerand at the Mirabeau Hotel. M. Millerand met him in the hotel porch, and, after the greetings, he took the Italian by the arm and turned to face the photographers and movie men, saying: "Let us submit to the most indispensable of our professional obligations."

It is not often that the French Premier permits himself to indulge in such levity of speech, for his humor is dry as a Scotchman's, and by all his fellow-countrymen here his little joke has been seized upon as of good omen.

The first meeting of the Premiers was entirely private. There was not even a secretary present, and, as Signor Giolitti speaks French fluently, there was no need of a troublesome interpreter. For an hour the two men talked over in general terms the many subjects which they are here to ventilate, and emerged from their rose-colored salon obviously on good terms with each other.

In temperament, political outlook and character the two Premiers are as opposite as any two men who ever sat in conference at the same table. On all general questions of international politics, such as their respective attitudes toward Russia, Poland and Germany, they have in the past differed emphatically. Between them there is only one common ground, that both consider that sentimentally and from interest their countries should try to bridge the gulf that has of late been widening between them.

At their second meeting in the afternoon the Premiers, who are both accompanied here by Foreign Office specialists and their Ambassador in each country, continued in more specific fashion to explain their points of view to each other. No formal communiqué has been issued of the interview, at which the matters at issue were only discussed and no decision was taken. Afterward M. Millerand received the newspaper men and gave a summary of the arguments which he had put forward.

French Advised Poles to Make Peace.

Among the announcements which he made was the important one that the French had advised the Poles to make peace, and that he believed that they would accept the advice if the conditions proposed by the Soviet Government were at all reasonable. That they would he seemed to doubt, but refused to express any opinion, preferring to wait and see what would happen at Riga.

Throughout the interview the Premier used the most diplomatic language, but it was apparent from his manner that he considered that he had managed to arrive at a satisfactory understanding with the Italian statesman.

The first point of foreign policy, he said, which had been discussed was Russia. On that France stands pat. She has no intention of altering the policy, which she has observed since he took office, of having no dealings with the Soviet Government as such. But, he added, England, France and Italy must deal with Russia according to their own internal situations. The pretense of having a joint allied policy with regard to the Bolsheviki is therefore now definitely abandoned.

At the same time M. Millerand emphasized in justification of his own policy the fact that the proposed economic accord with Russia of which Premier Lloyd George was the greatest protagonist, was yielding nothing and was likely to yield no exports from Russia except propaganda.

"Just look at what you have got in the way of wheat," he said to Signor Giolitti, driving home his point.

"As for France," he told the newspaper men, "she will close her frontiers to all that kind of Russian exports. In my opinion, all three Governments are well agreed about the Soviets, but in this matter of making economic arrangements they must be influenced entirely by their own internal situation.

No Change in Adriatic Policy.

With regard to the problem of the Adriatic there was at the interview an exchange of views, but the policy remains the same as it was at San Remo and the same as that of Lloyd George.

"I told Signor Giolitti," said M. Millerand, "what we told Signor Nitti at San Remo, that the sooner the Adriatic countries settled the question among themselves the better we should be pleased."

As always, Germany was the first thought of the French Premier, but he had not much to reveal as to what had passed at the conference. Quoting a phrase used at the Lucerne interview between the Italian and British Premiers, however, he added this footnote: "Yes, we must have moderation and loyalty, but it must be moderation on the part of the victors and loyalty on the part of Germany. We want only the execution of the treaty, and to get it we must stick together."

There was no discussion today of the question of the "Little Entente." That is for tomorrow; but in reply to a question Mr. Millerand said:

"We want to see the 'Little Entente' become big."

"With Poland in it?" he was asked, and he added:

"Yes, with Poland in it if she so wishes. The more countries get together the better for every one."

Most of the afternoon was taken up with a discussion of how to bring about closer union and understanding between the Premiers' own countries. This is admittedly a difficult matter, for France and Italy have long been pulling apart. Their outlook and conception of world affairs at present are radically different, and their methods even more so.

The basis of agreement suggested by M. Millerand—and so far it does not seem to have gone further than a suggestion—was that France should make certain concessions to Italy in the matters of coal, iron and potash and try to help her out of her present economic difficulties. In return for these concessions Italy is asked to abandon the intransigeant policy of Nitti with regard to reparations and come more into line with French views on that subject.

On the face of it the suggestion looks more like a bargain than an understanding, and it is a bargain at which Giolitti is likely to look long and carefully before committing his country.

Among those who have found it convenient to take the curative waters of Aix-les-Bains this week-end are Paderewski and the Rumanian Minister, Take Jonescue, and with both of these Millerand is to have interviews tomorrow before discussing further the question of the Little Entente.

Reasons for the Postponement.

AIX-LES-BAINS, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—The French and Italian Premiers, Alexandre Millerand and Giovanni Giolitti, held their long awaited conference here today. The most important decision reached by them seems to have been the postponement or definite abandonment of the Geneva Conference.

M. Millerand announced that "this meeting was decided upon at Spa, but has not yet been held. It is impossible at the present time, even from a merely practical point of view, for it to take place before the Brussels financial conference fixed for Sept. 24.

"On the other hand," continued the announcement, "France and Belgium have shown the interest they would have in seeing the Reparations Commission resume its rôle in the study of these questions. Finally the Governments will have to consider what they have to do.

"Signor Giolitti offered no opposition to this policy."

"We must end the war," said Premier Millerand to The Associated Press representative at the conclusion of his afternoon conference with Premier Giolitti. "The war must be ended. That is why we have given Poland the counsel of moderation, which she seems disposed to follow."

Statement of Premier Millerand.

At the conclusion of the first session, which lasted three hours, no official communication was issued, but the French Premier received in turn the Italian, British, American and French representatives of the press and said to them:

"Our interviews have been most cordial and confident. Naturally we have agreed that an accord between Italy, Great Britain and France is indispensable, not only in the interest of the three allied powers, but for the maintenance of world peace.

"The Treaty of Versailles must be enforced, as well as that of St. Germain and the others, because they constitute an entity, and one of them cannot fall without the others being shaken. I am absolutely in accord with that point upon the formula accepted at Lucerne. Treaties must be applied with moderation by the victors and with loyalty by the vanquished.

"We also discussed the question of Soviets. Evidently each Government consults its internal policy before adopting a precise attitude. You know what the French policy is. The policies of our allies do not appear to be different in principle from ours.

"Settlement of the Adriatic question occupied some of our time. Our position is unequivocal. Great Britain and France, at San Remo, and myself, before and after San Remo, have stated that neither Great Britain nor France has the right to interfere between two parties when a question concerns them alone."

"It is our duty to make all efforts to persuade our Italian and Jugo-Slav friends that it is to their interest and the interest of both countries and also the world, that this problem, too long deferred, be settled at the soonest moment possible in a spirit of equity and moderation."

TO SUPPORT PROGRESSIVES.

Social Democrats Will Vote for Favorites in Both Parties.

A non-partisan plan for supporting progressive candidates in either the Democratic or Republican Party was announced yesterday as the policy of the Social Democratic League by William English Walling, its Executive Secretary, who made public the league's appeal to progressives of the country to unite on such a non-partisan basis. The appeal does not state whether the league will support Governor James M. Cox or Senator Warren G. Harding for President, but indicates belief that Governor Cox's views on the League of Nations and labor are nearer the belief of the league's officers than those of his leading opponent.

The league is composed of men and women who left the Socialist Party because they did not approve what they considered its anti-American attitude during the war. The appeal is signed by Charles Edward Russell, Frank Bohn, William J. Ghent, Daisy Sanial Gill, Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Walter Kruesi, Robert Rives La Monte, A. M. Simons, Henry L. Slobodin, William English Walling and Chester M. Wright.

TROOPS FOR MESOPOTAMIA.

Three European and Seven Indian Regiments Going from India.

SIMLA, India, Sept. 12.—It is announced that three European and seven Indian regiments will embark in a few days for Mesopotamia to reinforce the British troops now there.

The reinforcement is to be made owing to the disturbed state of the country.

sex Hospital. When seen by Detective Fitzpatrick of Perth Amboy, N. J., in the hospital Maturich admitted that he had fired the single bullet that cost two lives. He insisted, however, that Whitlock had sent a revolver bullet at him first.

The police and Mr. Whitlock denied this statement. Mr. Whitlock said that he was unarmed. The police said that they would hold Maturich on a charge of murder. They said there was no evidence that any one had threatened him.

Mr. Whitlock had not realized that the Misses Felter had been mortally wounded. He had known, he said, that he was dealing with a man who was acting irrationally. He heard the single shot. He heard the sisters gasp and saw them collapse in the tonneau.

When he arrived at the hospital he told the story of the tragedy to the doctors. The Raritan Arsenal immediately was notified and the posse of soldiers that finally rounded up Maturich was sent out.

Attack Unexpected.

"The attack was unforeseen," Mr. Whitlock said last night. "I was surprised by the sight of the mad man. I tried to quiet him, but as such men act, he did not seem to understand me. At the height of his fury he fired the shot. I know that he did not know the two women and could not have had any animosity against them."

It was learned by the police that Maturich on Friday night had entered the home of Captain Alexander Monroe, a retired Canadian officer. He took from there the rifle with which he killed the two sisters, two clips of bullets and a British uniform. He was wearing this uniform when he fired the fatal bullet and when he was taken by the soldiers.

Maturich was known in the neighborhood where he has lived for six years as "Crazy Mike." He was reported to the police to have told neighbors that he had served in the A. E. F. No proof of this was found by the police. The police said that all they could find of his past history was that he had served a sentence in jail for acting as an accomplice in a local robbery.

THE prevailing desire to modify prices has encouraged some makers of clothing to skimp on fabric quality and tailoring.

During this period of attempted readjustment we shall be as exacting as ever on fabric purity and tailoring thoroughness.

The only skimping we shall sanction will be the lowering of profits to a minimum.

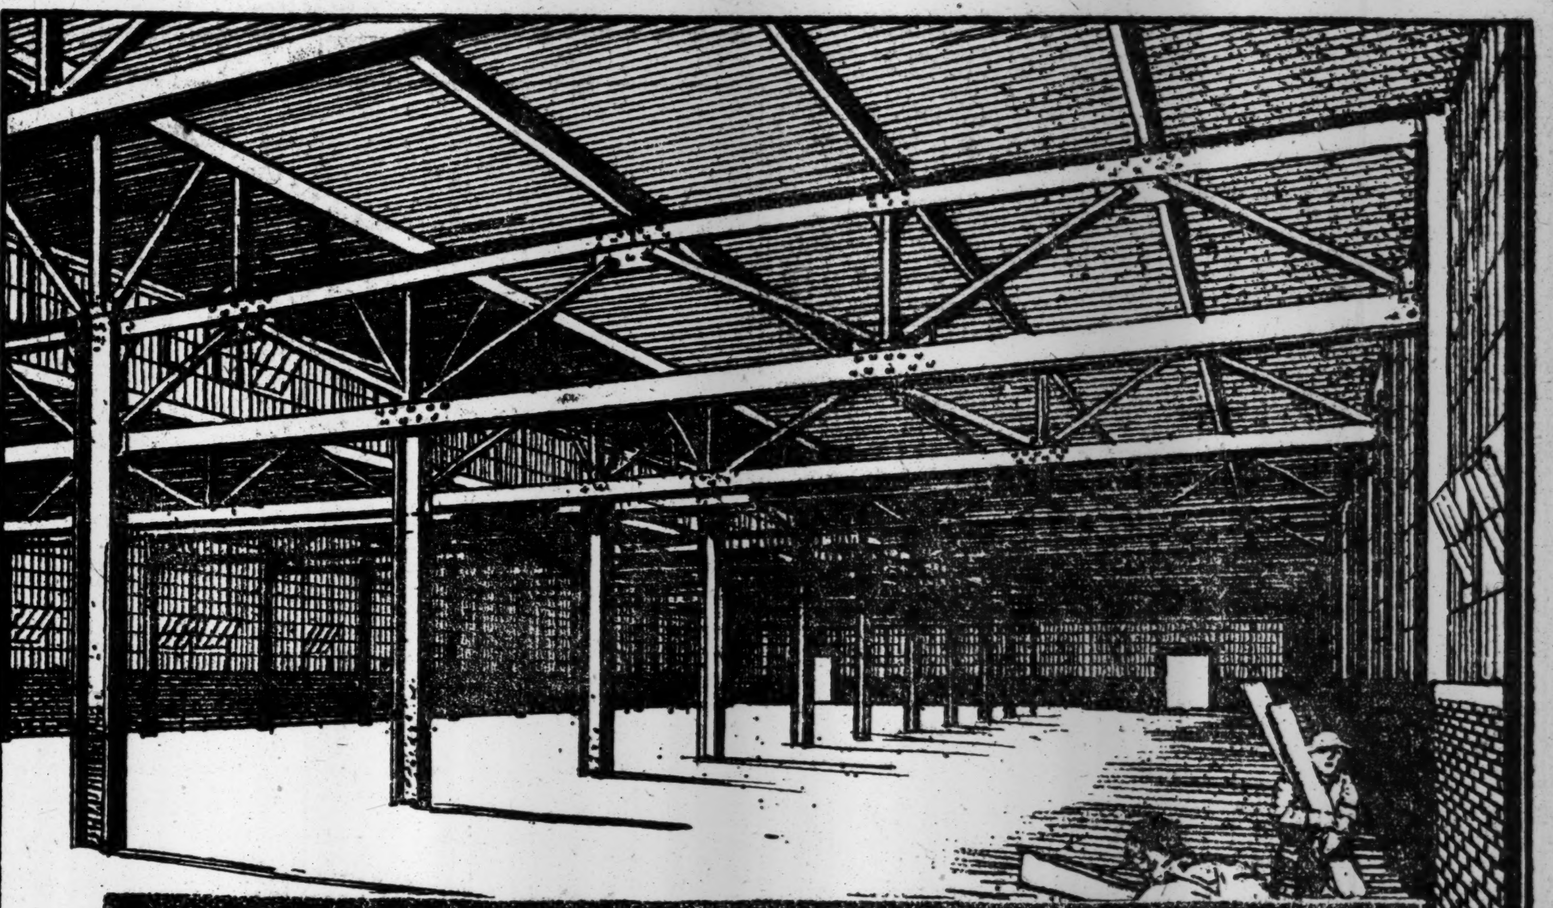
GIMBELS MEN'S CLOTHING SHOP—Fourth Floor

30,000 Square Feet in 30 Working Days



GREATER WORKING AREA means increased profits now. Think what you can do with an additional THIRTY THOUSAND SQUARE FEET of clear, unobstructed floor space—a permanent plant extension having two 50-foot aisles flooded with light, thoroughly ventilated, well adapted to your manufacturing process and delivered to you in 30 WORKING DAYS.

RIGHT NOW the prefabricated steel is in Austin yards. Other essential materials are also IN STOCK. Engineering details are completed. An experienced organization is ready. Excavation can begin at once. At the end of 30 working days you can occupy the building. It will be as substantial as brick, concrete and steel can make it. The roof truss will support a two ton monorail in addition to its normal roof load.

Advantages of Austin 30-Day Contract

Every hour gained can be used to produce more and earn more. Time starts from the approval of plans and the signing of the contract, which includes (1) Necessary excavation, (2) Concrete foundation, (3) Erection of the steel, brick work and steel sash, (4) Glazing and painting, (5) Roofing and waterproofing, (6) Doors and hardware and—turning over the completed building ready for your use.

This delivery is contingent upon a clear, level site and the use of a spur track. The insertion of a hundred-dollar-a-day bonus and penalty clause is optional with you.

If the above conditions are waived the building can be built on a hillside or supported on piles driven in a swamp and delivery made under these special conditions in the shortest possible time.

We are also prepared to install equipment such as heating, lighting and plumbing for this or any factory-building you may need. Sales, Engineering and Construction forces are available to serve you promptly.

Why handicap yourself with inadequate production facilities when you can have THIRTY THOUSAND SQUARE FEET OF FLOOR SPACE IN THIRTY WORKING DAYS? Extra profits resulting from a greatly increased output will shortly pay for such a plant extension.

POTOMAC GIVES UP HEIRESS'S BODY

Tugs Churn River Until the Form of Mrs. Kuehling Appears.

SHOWS NO SIGN OF VIOLENCE

Husband Is Still Held Pending Investigation — Autopsy Finds Drowning Caused Death.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Loosened from the bed of the Potomac after a fleet of tugs had been used to churn up the waters, the body of Mrs. Gertrude Viger Kuehling, heiress to a part of a million dollar estate in Detroit, drowned Wednesday night, was found today by one of the scores of canoeists engaged in the search. Her husband, Roy Harper Kuehling, was still held tonight by the police pending the result of the inquest.

The body was recovered near Ferguson's Rock, on the Maryland side of the river near the Chain Bridge, west of Washington, about 300 yards below the spot on the Virginia side where her husband told the police she was drowned owing to the upsetting of the canoe in which he was paddling.

The body was identified at the District of Columbia Morgue by Howard B. Osgood of Detroit, the divorced first husband of Mrs. Kuehling, who came to Washington to assist in the search for her body. There were bruises and scratches on the face, but these are believed to have been caused by contact of the body with rocks in the river. Dr. William Brown Carr, Deputy Coroner of the District of Columbia, performed an autopsy and decided that death was due to "Asphyxia from drowning after being upset from a canoe in which she and her husband were paddling."

The police have stated their suspicion that the drowning might not have been an accident, and they regard circumstances coming to their knowledge as too significant to ignore without investigation.

The canoe capsized in relatively shallow water, according to Kuehling's story, but he was unable to save his wife. Kuehling and his wife, who were married after she was divorced from Osgood, had quarreled frequently, the police have been told, and an attorney declared that he had been instructed by Mrs. Kuehling to begin suit for divorce, charging cruelty.

Clifford L. Grant, Chief of Detectives, tonight said that he would present the case to United States District Attorney Laskey for consideration. Dr. J. Ramsey Nevitt, Coroner of the District of Columbia, will return to Washington Tuesday or Wednesday and the Coroner's inquest will be held on Wednesday or Thursday.

PILGRIM SPIRIT SPREADS.

Pageant Programs Arranged All Over Country.

Interest throughout the country in the Pilgrim Tercentenary Celebration continues unabated, according to reports from the office of Community Service, which has received during the last month hundreds of communications requesting further information in relation to the celebration generally and more particularly with regard to the possibilities of community activities in celebration of the tercentenary. Letters have been received from individuals in widely distant parts of the country citing the writer's descent from Pilgrim ancestors, and showing a desire to identify himself or herself with tercentenary activities which has delighted Community Service workers. Over a thousand American cities have now been furnished with lists of suitable plays and pageants, as well as other material.

"Pilgrim celebrations in one form or another," said a Community Service official recently, "are on the calendar of many other countries besides the United States for every month of this year. Holland, Great Britain, Canada, Hawaii, the Philippines and Australia are among the places celebrating this three hundredth anniversary of the founding of the free institutions of America."

Included in the educational program is the community play called "The King's Progress," by Constance Smedley Armfield, soon to be produced by the Greenleaf Theatre group here. This Tudor spectacle-play had a preliminary production last Spring by the students of the University of California and at Columbia University, and marked the opening of the series of tercentenary plays and pageants throughout the English-speaking world.

"The King's Progress," said a Community Service representative recently, "emphasizes the fact that the tercentenary movement dates back beyond the Pilgrim Fathers and the first Virginia Planters to the breed of men from whom they sprang. It goes back to the time of the reign of England's boy King, Edward VI., the subject of this play, when the first free schools of the world were founded and when the so-called new learning received its impetus."

The Commonwealth Playhouse, formerly the Lexington Theatre, where "The King's Progress" is to be produced, is one of New York's large new community centres, maintained by various organizations and neighborhood clubs. Its purpose, according to its director, Sara Cleveland Clapp of the New York Community Service, is to further general interest in public spirited activities; to establish a children's theatre and a permanent people's playhouse, where operas, dramas, pageants, concerts, ballets and motion pictures of the best type may be produced at self-sustaining prices; to promote a nationalization centre of arts, where foreign groups may find expression in their national arts; to give training, under distinguished artists, in all the arts, and opportunities to young students to obtain recognition without the necessity of going abroad.

The National Federation of Music Clubs, the Minute Men of America, the American Land Service, the American Legion, the Community Playhouse Associates and the Greenleaf Theatre are among the organizations affiliated with the centre.

The group of players calling themselves the Greenleaf Theatre, formed shortly before the war, is a development of Mr. and Mrs. Armfield's work, not only in England, but in this country. In England the Cotswold Players, under Mrs. Armfield, embodying the old idea of the strolling players, toured upward of thirty towns and villages, in many cases taking the drama into small communities.

From the Cotswold Players it was but a step to the community theatre and the training of a group to carry on community drama. Students are being taught, not only to act, but to direct and manage community productions. Within the same group everything in connection with the production is taken care of—scenery, lighting, costumes, color schemes, posters, advertising and all details, business and artistic.

Constance Smedley Armfield is a playright and producer. Her first play, "Mrs. Jordan," was brought out in London by Mrs. Patrick Campbell. Mrs. Armfield founded the International Lyceum Club, with headquarters in London and branches in fourteen European capitals.

Maxwell Armfield, mural painter and illustrator, did the designing for the Haymarket Theatre in London, and the Pageant of Progress at Stroud, England. He is also known for his decorations in French and English homes, public buildings and art galleries, and for his designs for stage costumes and settings.

The work of the Armfields in connection with the new doctrines of dramatic expression have to do largely with rhythm and tempo in the drama. Plays, says Mrs. Armfield, are sometimes ruined by not being played in correct tempo. Again, sometimes the various characters on the stage at one time are playing in different tempo. Her students are urged to attain rhythmic unity in their work. The new ideas in dramatic expression were demonstrated at the Community Theatre in La Jolla, Cal.; at the Greek Theatre in Berkeley, at the University of California and at Columbia University here.

2 HOLD UP A LOEW THEATRE.

Bandits Take Day's Receipts of $1,400 from Bronx Manager.

Charles J. Coleman of 642 Faile Street, the Bronx, just had locked $1,400, the day's receipts of Loew's Theatre in Third Avenue, near 156th Street, where he is manager, in the safe last night and was making up his report when two young men, believed to have concealed themselves somewhere in the theatre, entered the office and ordered hands up. Edward Lieberman, the assistant manager, and his fifteen-year-old son Leo obeyed, but Coleman tried to resist and was punched in the nose.

The men, both young, wearing dark clothes and caps and kid gloves, which the police think were to avoid leaving finger prints, told Coleman they would kill him with the pistols they flourished in his face unless he opened the safe. He finally yielded and they escaped with the money. Detectives are hunting them.

BATTERIES

The Lights of New York

A black thunder-shower gathers over the city. Although it is mid-afternoon, lights are turned on suddenly in thousands of offices and homes. So sudden and so great is this demand for lights that the generators in the central power stations cannot be brought into action quickly enough to supply the current. Huge Exide storage batteries are called on to furnish power through the emergency. So powerful are these batteries, weighing hundreds of tons, that in any crisis they can supply 80,000,000 candle-power, enough to light almost every light on Manhattan Island.

Other great Exide Batteries are safeguarding, in a variety of ways, the street-car and elevator service of Greater New York. More than 95 per cent of the central station batteries in America are Exide.

At the other extreme in size is the little Exide used for lighting motorcycles. Whether it be for automobiles, mine locomotives, industrial trucks, or propelling our submarines under the sea, there is an Exide Battery for every purpose. And back of each Exide is the experience and resources of the oldest and largest manufacturers of storage batteries in the world.

LOOKS TO ALASKA TO SUPPLY PAPER

Territory Could Furnish 1,500,000 Tons of News Print Annually, Says Gen. Greeley.

AMPLE PULP AT LOW PRICE

Forest Service Chief Would Have Resident Bureau Agents Handle Resources.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Colonel W. B. Greeley, Chief of the Forest Service, who has just returned from a month's inspection of the timber and water-power resources of the Tongass national forest in Alaska, predicted tonight that the shortage of newsprint paper would be overcome by new paper mills in Alaska. He said that the national forests in Alaska contained resources sufficient to produce 1,500.000 tons of paper annually "in perpetuity" and that a paper industry in Alaska was assured.

Colonel Greeley expressed the opinion that administration of the timber resources of Alaska should be put in the hands of men on the ground. He is opposed to the transfer of Federal interests to a local commission. He said that a sale of 100,000,000 feet of pulp timber has been made and that a second sale of 1,500,000,000 feet, which will supply a large paper plant for thirty years, is now being arranged.

Plenty of Pulp Timber.

"The national forests of Alaska," said Colonel Greeley, "offer paper manufacturers an ample supply of pulp timber, available under long term contracts at low prices and subject to very simple and reasonable cutting requirements. The forest service is doing its utmost to develop this resource of the territory. We will not only make Alaska one of the great resources of paper for the United States but we will make the industry permanent, as it is in Norway, by keeping the cut of timber within what our forests are growing. Paper manufacturers who go to Alaska can count upon an assured supply of raw material indefinitely."

Colonel Greeley said also that national forest timber had supplied all the saw mills on the coast of Alaska for the last fifteen years, furnishing large quantities of lumber and mine timbers for local use, salmon cases by the hundred thousand, and high grade spruce for shipment to the Eastern States.

"Such facts," he said, "show that the national forests in Alaska are not locked up or shackled with burdensome restrictions as has been frequently alleged."

The development of Alaska, he said, had not been held back by over-conservation as many claim, but mainly by business conditions which have prevented capital from exploiting her resources.

"Alaska," said Colonel Greeley, "cannot be made prosperous overnight by passing some new law. It is going to take time and hard work and favorable conditions in the world's markets. At the same time, Federal administration can undoubtedly be improved and we owe it to Alaska to aid her development in every practicable way. The first step, in my judgment, should be to decentralize the handling of Federal matters by putting a representative of each department or bureau in the Territory with full authority to transact its business on the ground.

Do Away with Red Tape.

"Ninety per cent. of the work of the forest service in Alaska is dispatched by our resident supervisors and only matters of the greatest importance come to Washington. This sort of organization is the cure for long range administration and red tape. These responsible Federal officers might well form an Alaskan Cabinet, acting as a unit in working out the best means for developing her resources. Furthermore, the Territory should be given more self-government in local matters and should be aided by liberal Federal appropriations to develop transportation.

"I seriously question the proposal that a local commission in Alaska take over the administration of all Federal laws and public resources. After all, the national interests in Alaska are uppermost. Alaska is one of the great food sources of the country. Her vast forests should meet acute needs arising from the depletion of our timber. The national interests in public timber, food supply, coal and oil, water power and migratory birds are exactly the same in Alaska as elsewhere. These resources should, I believe, be handled in Alaska by the same experienced agencies and under the same uniform national policies as in the States themselves. Nor would it seem wise to cut Alaska off from the energies and technical skill of great Federal departments which are experts in doing the very things which she needs to have done."

COLLEGE SHOOTING CASE GOES TO GRAND JURY

If Indictment Is Found, the Trial of Dartmouth Student Will Begin on Sept. 20.

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 12.—The facts in connectoin with the killing of Henry E. Maroney, the Dartmouth College senior who was shot by Robert T. Meads of La Grange, Ill., a fellow student, in a quarrel over smuggled whisky last June, will be placed before the Grafton County Grand Jury when it comes in at Woodsville on Tuesday.

Members of the Faculty and undergraduates probably will be called to tell what they know of alleged rum-running by students across the Canadian border, of the drinking bout by which Maroney and several classmates, with liquor purchased from Meads, were celebrating their qualification for degrees, and of the pursuit of Maroney by Meads after some of his whisky had been taken without payment.

If an indictment is returned, the trial will begin on Monday, Sept. 20, this date having been agreed upon by County Solicitor J. H. Noonan and A. H. Meads, of Chicago, father of young Meads. The elder Meads is a corporation counsel and has spent the Summer shaping the defense for his son. It is understood that Meads, who admits the shooting, will contend that he fired to defend himself.

Meads is a prisoner at the county jail at Woodsville, where he was taken after the killing last June.

This organization is prepared—

1. To supply complete engineering and architectural designs and specifications, with consulting service during construction, which may be handled through another agency.
2. To design and construct, acting as technical agents for the owner, either (a) employing special contractors for each class of work, or (b) organizing a construction force, paid by the owner, and directed by us or (c) by combination of both.
3. To lay out and select machinery, route processes and materials, design and construct buildings, and supervise installation of equipment.

Our service is paid for by a fee, fixed in advance.

Whether your project will be large or small, we shall be glad to explain our method further by correspondence or interview.

The parent corporation, George W. Goethals & Co., Inc., is available to undertake the management of a new enterprise, or to reinforce the existing management until it is established and operating effectively. It also makes examinations and reports upon all kinds of industrial and commercial enterprises.

Think well of the Dealer who is thinking of You

OBSERVERS of changing conditions know there has never been a time in the history of the retail business in this country when quality and economy ideas—and the dealers who stand for those ideas—had such a hold on the public.

A demand is now sweeping over the country for better—more serviceable—more economical merchandise.

The straightforward dealer knows this.

He knows that once public confidence is established, a dealer's success is assured—that the public is only going to continue to buy from dealers whom it can trust and esteem—men who always place the interest of their customers first.

That is why, in the stores of over a quarter million dealers in this country, you will always find the Gillette out where you can see and examine it.

On top of the counter—in the show window—ready to be handed out first whenever a man comes in looking for a razor.

The Gillette is the only scientific shaving instrument ever produced.

It started—not with a theory or a desire to sell razors—but with the actual shaving needs of men everywhere.

And working from that, it developed into a personal shaving service—a service that has gone 'round the world and changed the shaving habits of thinking men everywhere.

Whenever or wherever the topic of a good shave comes up, the Gillette habit is always the final answer.

Vouched for and acknowledged by twenty million men the world over as one of the cleanest, safest, most economical, most valuable habits they ever formed.

The dealer who hands you a Gillette is thinking first of your interests. Think well of him.

THE SCREEN

As most people in ordinary life do not encounter a "master mind" at work, and are therefore unfamiliar with its ways and means, they are not entitled, presumably, to stand incredulous and questioning when its conceptions and executions are revealed in fiction. So spectators will be expected, please, to accept the assumptions and assertions of "The Master Mind," at the Strand this week, with Lionel Barrymore in the leading rôle.

Those inclined to attribute some of the astonishing success of the "master mind" to exceedingly friendly coincidence and fate will be considered simply ignorant. Others will be regarded as impious who express surprise that a mind unable to bring about the acquittal of an innocent boy charged with murder should demonstrate its supernormal capacity by carrying out a complicated scheme of revenge against the prosecutor who obtained the youth's conviction.

Others will be scorned who ask why a mind which had the power to force a secret telepathically from the object of its revenge, and therefore certainly could have achieved its purpose in some manner definite and direct, should spend five incalculable years preparing an elaborate trap for its victim which at any time, under any but the most favorable circumstances, might go to pieces by the break-down of its own mechanism. And others will be rebuked who are of the opinion that the great revenge sought is tame after all, being nothing more than the forcing of a politically ambitious man to retire from politics—to a happy home, with a loving wife and abundant means. All will be expected to marvel at the man with the "master mind." They will be expected still to gaze as still the wonder grows that one small head can carry all he knows.

But nevertheless and notwithstanding, "The Master Mind" will seem to many simply incredible and not at all impressive. They will admit that it is redeemed somewhat by the acting of Lionel Barrymore and the others in the cast, including especially Gypsy O'Brien, Ralph Kellard, Bradley Barker and Bernard Randell. They will agree that the direction of Kenneth Webb has done something to vitalize the story, and they will, here and there, respond to particular scenes essentially dramatic. But in the main they will regret that so much talent has been used by a photoplay with so little capacity to accommodate it. Mr. Barrymore, who established himself on the screen in "The Copperhead," is a valuable addition to the company of screen players, and it is to be hoped that his next photoplay will give him better opportunities.

An amusing "Out of the Inkwell" cartoon by Max Fleischer and a rollicking Harold Lloyd farce entitled "Get Out and Get Under," with some new Ford foolishness, brighten the Strand program.

The combination of Charles Ray, Jerome Storm and Agnes Christine Johnston has always produced excellent entertainment, and so it does with "A Village Sleuth" at the Rivoli this week. The comedy seems not quite on a par with others that these three have made, but it's good enough for many smiles and a number of laughs and among screen comedies here an there has a distinguishing lustre. Its story is utterly impossible, but holds a few unexpected twists and now and then has points of contact with humanity that are enjoyable. Ray, of course, is the village sleuth. His clues lead him usually to unapprehended discoveries that quite upset his calculations, but he stumbles upon information in the course of his blundering that enables him to catch a real burglar—and marry the heroine, too. The lady in the case is Winifred Westover and others in the cast who help out are Donald MacDonald, George F. Hernandes, Betty Schade, Lew Morrison and Dick Rush.

The Rivoli program also includes a Bruce scenic, "Tropical Nights."

A novel by Robert W. Chambers picturized with Marion Davies in the principal part is certain to have a rather definite stamp and character known in advance by those who like Mr. Chambers's plots and Miss Davies's posing. So little need be said about "The Restless Sex," which comes to the Criterion this week, except, perhaps, that Joseph Urban is reported to have built a number of its settings and that the studio and ballroom scenes appear to be the ones of his design. These, at any rate, enrich the photoplay, and would add to it even more if, in some cases, they did not seem at odds with the people in them. They give the impression that they were composed separately as scenes and the players introduced afterward. not always harmoniously. But in general the effects are good.

The story is long and complicated and does not particularly emphasize the supposed restlessness of either sex, but is, full of such loving and longing and lingering as usually fill a Chambers novel. The restlessness noticed yesterday afternoon was felt by those spectators who like more life and less length than the picture has. Miss Davies does little in the way of acting, and Ralph Kellard and Carlyle Blackwell, as her heroes, do too much. The picture was directed by Robert Z. Leonard.

"Honest Hutch," with Will Rogers, is at the Capitol this week; "39 East," with Constance Binney, is at the Rialto; D. W. Griffith's "'Way Down East" remains at the Forty-fourth Street, and "While New York Sleeps" continues at the Lyric and the Astor.

CHANGES IN THE THEATRES.

Three New Productions to Appear Next Monday Night.

A number of changes are announced to take place in the New York theatres in the next two weeks.

There will be three new productions next Monday night—William Hodge in "The Guest of Honor," at the Broadhurst; Alice Brady in "Anna Ascends," at the Playhouse, and a farce entitled "Mary the Poor Girl" at the Little Theatre. "The Guest of Honor," of which Mr. Hodge is author as well as star, is being produced by Lee Shubert, and the cast will include William H. Thompson, Frederic de Belleville, and Helen Wolcott. Miss Brady's play, in which she will be seen in the rôle of a Syrian girl, is the work of a new author, Harry Chapman Ford. "Marry the Poor Girl," which Oliver Morosco is bringing to the Little Theatre, is a farce by Owen Davis. The cast will include William Roselle, Isabelle Lowe, Beatrice Noyes, Frances Mann, Harold de Becker, and others.

On the same night "The Greenwich Village Follies of 1920" will be transferred from the Greenwich Village Theatre to the Shubert. "Paddy the Next Best Thing," now at the Shubert, will be moved to the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre, and "The Charm School," at present at the Thirty-ninth Street, will be transferred to the Nora Bayes.

One comedy and three musical shows are announced for the week of Sept. 27. George LeMaire's "Broadway Brevities" will open at the Winter Garden on Monday night of that week, "Merchants of Venus," a comedy by Alan Brooks, will come to the Punch and Judy Theatre, and "Jim Jam Jems," a revue, will be brought to the Cort Theatre. A change of plans has delayed the last-named production one week, and "Abraham Lincoln" will accordingly continue two more weeks at the Cort Theatre instead of one.

The fourth production of that week will be "Pitter-Patter," a musical version of the old Collier farce, "Caught in the Rain," which will succeed "The Cave Girl" at the Longacre. It will open on Tuesday night, Sept. 28. The original farce was the work of Mr. Collier and Grant Stewart, and has been adapted by Will M. Hough, with music and lyrics by William B. Friedlander. The cast will include William Kent, Jane Richardson, Helen Bolton, John Price Jones, Jack Squires, and others.

TO SING "EDIPO RE" HERE.

Chicago Company Also to Revive "Salome" with Mary Garden.

Leoncavallo's "Edipo Re" will have its world-premiere by the Chicago Opera Company this season, either in Chicago or New York, with Titta Ruffo as the self-blinded king of Sophocles's tragedy. Julien P. Dove, formerly with Hammerstein, will design the production of the the modernized "Oedipus," as he has done for Gino Marinuzzi's "Jacquerie," Boris Anisfeld has designed the pictures for "The Love of the Three Oranges," by Prokofieff.

"Salome," with Mary Garden, will be given. A novelty to present opera goers, if in lesser degree will be "Lakme" and "Tales of Hoffman" in French, and "Orico," "Favorita" "Andrea Chenier" and "Jewels of the Madonna" in Italian. The company will also give its first performances of "Lohengrin," "Valkyrie" and "Tristan" in English.

Herbert M. Johnson, due tomorrow on the Ryndam from Holland, has announced the most extensive tour yet undertaken. Beginning Oct. 18, the stars will visit Milwaukee, Springfield, Ill.; Des Moines and Sioux City, Ia.; Sioux Falls, S. D., and St. Paul. Ten weeks in Chicago open Nov. 17.

Following New York's six weeks, from Jan. 24 to March 5, at the Manhattan, the company will be heard in Cleveland, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Oklahoma City, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Denver, and probably Toronto and Detroit.

STONES PLAY FOR CHILDREN.

Actor and His Three Daughters Entertain at Their Home.

Fred Stone and his three daughters gave an entertainment at Mr. Stone's home at Amityville on Saturday afternoon before an audience composed of children who had been sent there by the Fresh Air Fund. Mr. Stone let his "Tip-Top" company travel to Philadelphia without him in order to participate in the program given for the children.

The entertainment was under the direction of Mr. Stone's eldest daughter, Dorothy, and witnessed the "stage débuts" of his younger daughters, Paula and Carol, aged 8 and 5, respectively. They appeared in various scenes with their father. Virginia Montgomery, daughter of the late David A. Montgomery, who was Mr. Stone's partner for so many years, also took part.

"DOG COPS" MAY BE FIRED.

Unless They Catch More Burglars Enright Will Act.

If the remaining members of the once famous canine squad known as the "dog cops" do not show speedy improvement in their patrol work, particularly with reference to burglar hunting, they will be dismissed from the force for neglect of duty. The first of these dogs were trained and put into police service during the latter part of the second administration of Mayor George B. McClellan, in 1908, and were intended as aids to policemen in covering large beats in thinly populated suburban districts of the city. In the Flatbush section of Brooklyn complaints have come from some of the residents to the effect that burglaries have increased there since the dogs were taken away.

In reply to this Police Commissioner Enright declares the administration has not changed procedure as regards the police dogs, but he questions their value.

"The protective value of police dogs," he says, "seems to be a state of mind. There is absolutely no record to prove that these dogs have been of any value whatever in the department. There is a legend that one of them a long time ago assisted in the capture of a burglar.

In a letter to the Brooklyn Eagle answering criticism to the effect that the absence of the police dogs had resulted in an increase in burglaries in the Flatbush section, the Commissioner submits the records of the Lawrence Avenue station precinct for five years, showing that burglaries have decreased and more arrests have been made since the dogs were taken away.

"During the first six months of this year 3,606 burglaries were reported in the entire city, as against 4,000 during the first six months of last year, and as against 5,031 during the first six months of 1917—the last year of the Mitchel-Woods administration," he added.

The police dogs were increased to twenty-three by Police Commissioner Arthur Woods during the administration of Mayor Mitchel, but not more than eight or ten remain. Eight died some months ago of pneumonia.

FIGHT 'REDS' WITH SCHOOLS.

National Security League to Work for Better Educational System.

Calling attention to the serious condition of the educational system of the country because of inadequate school buildings and an insufficient number of teachers, the National Security League announced yesterday that it intended to form a special Educational Committee to inaugurate a campaign to broaden, expand and liberalize education in the belief that radical agitation could best be met by education.

The statement said that the remedy for the present educational situation was the expenditure of more money, which would not be begrudged by the people if aroused to the necessity. On this point the statement added:

"The amount of money spent for education before the war ranged from about $30 to $60 per child per annum. That this amount has been utterly insufficient was clearly demonstrated by the Army Examination Board, which showed an appalling amount of illiteracy and ignorance among the recruits. In conformity with the advance in the cost of living this amount should be doubled to maintain education even on the inadequate pre-war level. However, to keep the United States safe for democracy and to keep down Communism, and to assimilate the large numbers of foreigners and their children, a broader and more liberal program of education is most essential."

URGES DIRECT CABLE NEWS.

Better Britain-Canada Service Favored by Viscount Burnham.

QUEBEC, Sept. 12.—A plea for a direct cable news service between Canada and Great Britain, which would give "a fairer representation of British policy," was made at the closing session of the second Imperial Press Conference here tonight by Viscount Burnham, its Chairman. Canadian problems then would be better understood, he said, and the Dominion's resources would be better appreciated.

The delegates will be entertained by the Provincial Government at Quebec at a farewell dinner tomorrow.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Anna Wheaton has been engaged for "Piccadilly to Broadway," the revue which E. Ray Goetz is producing.

"The Girl in the Private Room," with book and lyrics by Edward Clark and music by Gitz Rice, will be produced in Atlantic City tonight by the Shuberts. The piece is founded on "The Third Party," Mark Swan's old farce.

"Jack O' Lantern," played by Fred Stone for the past three seasons, will begin a road tour in Worcester tonight with Doyle and Dixon as its stars.

Alexander Onslow will be in the cast of "French Leave," which Mr. and Mrs. Coburn are rehearsing.

John Doran arrived from England on Saturday to originate the leading tenor role in "Mecca."

Jay Gould will be in the cast of "Gus Edwards' Revue of 1920."

MACSWINEY LOWER; PAIN IS INCREASING

ful of being put in the attitude technically of disregarding his boy's last conscious injunction. Mr. Hennessy had placed the greatest hopes in the efforts Mr. Barry was making to obtain his son's release, and last evening, when a reprieve was not forthcoming, he became hysterical. The prison doctors are treating him.

"How much longer can they last?" the correspondent asked of the physicians today. Both of the doctors shook their heads.

"What is the attitude of the prisoners?" was then asked of them.

"They will die," answered Dr. Battiscombe. "This is due, perhaps, to the extreme exhaustion of their physical forces. I think they feel that death would relieve them."

It was learned today that early last Thursday morning one of the prison doctors in making his rounds went up to the bedside of Thomas Donovan. The nun in attendance was momentarily absent and no one else was present at the bedside. The doctor heard the patient feebly muttering and leaned down and examined him. Donovan appeared to be conscious, but he was too weak to talk aloud. The doctor could just catch the words, "Hope-pray-Pope-message." The words were incomprehensible to the physician and worried him greatly. He finally concluded, however, that the patient desired the Pope to send him a message of spiritual consolation for the dying.

Belfast Victims Number 52.

BELFAST, Sept. 12.—A Belfast citizen, John Toner, proceeding along the Newtonards Road after curfew on Saturday, was shot dead, making the thirty-second riot victim here, or, including the July disturbances, the fifty-second.

The total number of deaths in the 1886 riots, heretofore reckoned the worst in the city's history, was thirty-one. Fifty-eight arrests were made in Belfast Saturday night after the curfew hour.

Armed raiders visited the Torr Head Coast Guard Station last night and seized arms, ammunition, telescopes and other articles.

De Valera Speaks in Boston.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—Eamonn de Valera addressed a huge gathering on the Common today and conveyed the greetings of the people of Ireland to those here who are in sympathy with the movement for Irish freedom.

He likened Ireland's position to that of Belgium under the oppression of Germany, and added that Ireland would never be content until she had gained her independence.

The Irish leader put in a busy day, making several other speeches in the city. In the afternoon he reviewed a parade in his honor in which thousands marched past the reviewing stand. A reception will be tendered him tomorrow and he will make several more speeches during his stay in Boston.

CORK CROWDS FOLLOW SLAIN YOUTH'S BODY

CORK, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—The funeral of Seumas Quirke, a young volunteer killed in Thursday's disturbances at Galway, brought out virtually every able-bodied man and woman in Cork this afternoon. There were large numbers of children also, but there was an entire absence of disorder. The military, as on the occasion of the funeral of the slain Lord Mayor MacCurtain here last April, remained in barracks.

Not a single soldier was seen in the streets throughout the day, and the only bit of khaki visible was that of a dozen men on guard duty on the parapet of the jail, which lies back about 200 yards from the road along which the cortege moved.

Whether by accident or design, the hearse and company of uniformed volunteers heading the long procession stopped for a few minutes at the intersection of a byroad leading to the jail, and all eyes were turned in the direction of the huge stone building where the hunger strikers are slowly dying.

The streets of Cork and the long route to the cemetery were lined with spectators as the funeral procession, in which probably 6,000 men and women marched, passed. The Archbishop of Adelaide, Australia, was among the high church dignitaries and hundreds of priests and monks making up the clerical contingent. Men prominent here in every walk of life were among the marching host.

The only notes of color in the drab, sombre pageant were supplied by the Gaelic kilted bands, with bagpipes and muffled drums, which played unceasingly the plaintive Irish dirge, "Wrap the Green Flag Around Me Boys, to Die is Far More Sweet," and by little girls in vivid green mantles of the national costume.

Order was well preserved by the Volunteers, a squad of whom fired a salute over the grave. The priest's brief oration at the graveside contained references to the hunger strikers and an expression of the wish that all Irishmen might meet death as heroically as Quirke had done and as the Cork prisoners were doing.

MAY BOYCOTT BRITISH GOODS

California Sympathizers Plan a Move to Aid MacSwiney.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Plans for participation in a proposed boycott of English goods in the United States, in behalf of Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, on a hunger strike in Brixton Prison, were discussed and adopted at a meeting here today of the California State Council of the Friends of Irish Freedom and representatives of the American Commission on Irish Independence.

The State council claims a membership of 500,000.

Doubts Miracles in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Sept. 12.—Crowds of pilgrims having assembled at Cashel to witness the alleged manifestation of the bleeding statues, the Very Rev. Dean Ryan writes to the newspapers saying that the priests disbelieved there is any divine intervention in the case, and warning the people against expecting miracles there.

The Captive Cap

Another typical Kolynos achievement! A cap which clings to the container—an additional refinement which makes this Dental Cream more than ever an irresistible toilet requisite!

The one weak spot in all dental cream collapsible tubes has been the truant cap, which falls off and runs away and hides.

This "Captive Cap" makes of the Kolynos Dental Cream tube the perfect package for a preparation always superb. It is being welcomed by the public everywhere as one of those very essential things which supply a long felt want—a relief to the traveler, a convenience in the home, indispensable with the children, as distinctive as Kolynos itself.

The Kolynos Captive Cap is a patented device, used exclusively on Kolynos Dental Cream tubes—a further evidence that Kolynos Laboratories are always first.

First to put on the market a distinctive, germ-destroying dentifrice, quickly put into use and kept in use by the Dental Profession the world over.

First to produce a dental cream without grit.

First to demonstrate, in war time and epidemic, the possibility and value of daily fortifying the entire mouth and exposed portion of the throat against dangerous germ invasion.

First to improve a dental cream tube by closing and securing its lower end with a rigid metal clasp.

KOLYNOS

What is the use of cleaning the teeth without cleaning the whole mouth?

What is the use of purchasing the dental cream recommended by a great majority of dentists throughout America and Europe unless you keep the contents of the tube in perfect condition, and so preserve all its properties?

Keep the cap on the tube!

Keep the dust out, and Kolynos in!

Prevent waste! Prevent mussiness!

The new Captive Cap does all this for you. It is one more step in the steady progress of leadership of this very efficient dentifrice.

"How clean my mouth feels!" is the natural expression which forms on the lips of the Kolynos user.

This perfect cleanliness is produced because Kolynos destroys, in the mouth, and washes away, countless numbers of acid-producing bacteria, and dissolves the gelatinous film on the teeth in which these bacteria propagate.

It accomplishes this without the use of grit or any harmful ingredient.

The Kolynos formula is known to physicians and dentists generally, and is recommended and used by tens of thousands of professional men, the world over, as a safe and most efficient toilet of the mouth.

THE FLAG OF ALL.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, the Democratic candidate for Vice President, has taken exception to the speech made at Augusta, Me., on Aug. 21 by Chairman WILL H. HAYS of the Republican National Committee, in which that amiable politician sought to make his audience believe that the Republican ranks were arrayed in this campaign under the Stars and Stripes, whereas the Democrats had turned from their flag to a banner of Mr. HAYS's imagination labeled "The League of Nations," and were therefore lacking in loyalty and patriotism. "Under which flag?" Mr. HAYS demanded theatrically. Mr. ROOSEVELT declares that "that sort of campaign-"ing ought not to be excused even in "the heat of an election," and he is quite right. However, it is likely to have a boomerang effect, as was the case with the appeal to partisan passion by a former officer of the army who taxed members of the Democratic Administration with lukewarm patriotism during the war, and who claimed superior zeal and virtue for men of the Republican faith. Not soon will he hear the last of that display of bad taste.

It is said that the example of Chairman HAYS has already blossomed out in "Under Which Flag?" posters that are expected to swell the Republican vote. They are more likely to bring out the Democratic vote and to disgust fair-minded men of both parties, for the American people will not pardon the faintest aspersion upon the patriotism of their soldiers, who knew no party when they fought and laid down their lives on the fields of France, as Mr. HAYS knows very well, no one better. As manager of the Republican campaign he cannot escape from the intended implication of such insidious words as these spoken at Augusta:

> There shall be but one flag. But that flag I would paint and hold for a moment in the light of heaven that all might mark the difference between the old and the new. There would be no need to hoist that banner. It was raised first on Dorchester Heights by GEORGE WASHINGTON. But a few days ago I saw it re-raised in Marion, Ohio, by WARREN G. HARDING.

Bathos the intelligent among his audience must have considered that effusion, and the idea of anti-climax must have struck them: WASHINGTON on Dorchester Heights, HARDING amid the hazards of Marion! The enterprising Chairman was tickling the groundlings. It is evident that he had scant respect for the good sense and patriotism of his hearers, among whom there must have been many soldiers of the World War.

On this question of loyalty to the flag in any discussion of the merits of the League of Nations the American people cannot be fooled, even a part of the time. For Democrats as well as for Republicans, be they men or women, for those who see in the Covenant the fair promise of peace on earth and would give it a trial, as well as for those who challenge its hopes and would avoid the duties it imposes, there is one Flag and one Country. To insinuate anything else is politics, and politics of a reprehensible kind.

CREDULOUS MR. HARDING.

Senator HARDING's making his own the mare's nest of a difference between the French and English texts of the clause of the Treaty relating to the Monroe Doctrine illustrates his mental quality. Evidently he accepts tales of this kind without scrutiny or verification. The slightest inquiry would have shown him that the English version of the Treaty was declared by the signatories to be equally "authentic" with the French. Hence there is no point whatever in comparing the French translation with the other. And the veiled intimation that the French, by a slight variation of phrase, were attempting to play a sly trick on the United States becomes as silly as it is offensive.

This is not the first case in which Mr. HARDING has shown himself credulous and careless. Whatever any friend "hands" to him he apparently takes without suspicion or investigation. In his speech of Aug. 28 he attributed language to Viscount GREY which there is no proof that the latter ever uttered. In fact, the available proof is all the other way, since the words cited by Senator HARDING are taken textually from an editorial article in The London Spectator of June 26. That article, indeed, referred to a speech of Viscount GREY, but so it did also to speeches of Mr. BALFOUR and Lord ROBERT CECIL. And the two passages quoted by Mr. HARDING are, plainly, nothing but the opinion of the editor of The Spectator, and not of anybody else. They merely recapitulated what The Spectator began saying two years ago about the need of reconstructing the League of Nations. And when Mr. HARDING cites what he says Viscount GREY suggested about asking "a committee of the Senate" to reshape the League he really gives the words of the editor of The Spectator, as they were printed, without a hint that they represented any views except his own. No one can read the original article and Senator HARDING's speech without seeing that he easily allowed himself to be grossly imposed upon.

It is not in itself a vital matter, but when we recall the groans and shrieks of the Republicans over the misdating by the Democrats of a magazine article by Senator LODGE, it would seem that they ought to ask their candidate to be a little more particular in the matter of his own "elegant extracts." They ought also to warn him against falling into such crass errors as asserting that "French is the language of diplomacy," in the sense that either Great Britain or the United States write official notes to other Governments in French, or do not make their treaties in English. Altogether, it is clear that Senator HARDING will need a full supply of guides, critics and censors when he starts on his speechifying travels. If he can make such blunders on his own front porch, what may he not be capable of in his car-end harangues?

LABRIOLA'S CHICKENS.

In spite of the understanding which exists between Italian workmen and the Soviets, it is probably a mistake to attribute the lock-in in the metal industry wholly, or even mainly, to Russian inspiration and example. It has, in fact, a much more ominous origin. The entire program, so far as it has yet developed, was outlined by the Italian Syndicalists fully fifteen years ago, and notably by ARTURO LABRIOLA—who is now, thanks to the whirligig of time, the Italian Minister of Labor.

"The revolutionary method," said LABRIOLA in his "Reform and the Social Revolution," "consists in pre-"paring the working-class organiza-"tions to take control of the units of "industry, both manual and mana-"gerial, by means of the simultaneous "dissolution of all authority of State, "political party, &c., which lies out-"side the workers' organizations." The program which he outlined gave a new twist to the idea of the general strike. Instead of quitting work and gaining possession of the State by means of a combination of starvation and bloodshed, he proposed that the Syndicalists lock the capitalists out and themselves in. With all means of production and distribution in their hands, and being "prepared" to take control of them, the Government would fall into their hands like a honey-ripe plum. Thus the program of the year 1905.

Many circumstances combine to make such a program more conceivable in Northern Italy than elsewhere. Working-class co-operative societies for production have been unusually successful. Without the aid of either capitalist or middleman, they not only market farm produce, but do extensive jobs in building and general construction—masons, stonecutters, plasterers and common laborers co-operating quite successfully. They paved the streets and built abattoirs at Parma; they laid the Reggio-Ciano railway and took a lease of it for seventy years. In such operations they are financed by people's banks, private banks and friendly societies. They are on the best of terms with the farm population. They also have friends in the lower middle class, many of whom are small capitalists, idle and eager to become revolutionary leaders.

Notwithstanding all these advantages, however, LABRIOLA foresaw a danger. He pointed out very clearly that violence would not avail unless those who employed it were able and ready to carry on the properties of which they possessed themselves. Revolt cannot of itself make a permanent change; it is necessary that those who violently seek to better their condition understand the cause of their subjection and are collectively prepared to act as masters. This warning the locked-in workmen seem not to have heeded. They struck at a time when all Europe, and especially Italy, is short of raw material. When it appeared that, together with their employers, they had locked out the weekly pay envelope they were deeply pained and surprised. Failing to solve the technical difficulties of factory management even with the aid of middle-class dabblers in revolution, they invited their former bosses to come in and help — and again were pained to find that the trained experts lingered in the vicinity of the pay envelopes.

Meantime Signor LABRIOLA—who is no longer the revolutionist he once was—fails to find a roosting place for his chickens of 1905. A few vague utterances have come from him, but for the most part he cultivates whatever dignity there may be in silence. Beyond question the situation is serious, but of all nations Italy seems to be least alarmed by it. When Signor BAUTIERI doffed his hat to his workmen and bade them continue using his limousine while he took the street car, the gesture was doubtless in quite the grand manner—but doubtless, also, it was inspired by subtle irony.

GIVING IT THE GAS.

Gas is given when you want to accelerate an automobile, and when you want to give a painless death to a stray cat. In the correspondence of the Republican National Committee the phrase was used in the first sense; but too implicit dependence on the intensive method of money-raising may have been giving gas in the other sense. The technique of Mr. BLAIR and his assistants has been accepted without open protest because it was employed for religious purposes. Men might object to it for a number of reasons, but they did not say what they thought. Yet when this familiar method is employed for a secular purpose, even the irony of Senator REED is not needed to bring it into contempt.

If there was no open revolt against it in religious circles, there was a good deal of passive resistance. The change of base of the Interchurch World Movement was due primarily, it appears, to the fact that it could not get the money—even with an enormous organization, about as extensive and about as efficient as that of the Aircraft Production Board. That movement, the worthiness of whose purposes no one can doubt, encountered a good deal of unenlightened and perhaps unjustified criticism from clergymen whose denominational prejudices were too strong to permit them to go in for wholesale co-operation; but some of this criticism undoubtedly arose from an honest objection to the methods of raising the huge Interchurch fund. Concentration on means rather than on ends is apt to lead to the regarding of the means as the end.

It is true that you cannot carry on religious work without money, but raising money is not the chief object of the great religious organizations of our time. And when the long-suffering public finally revolts, when the money-raisers do not get the money, a failure of effort such as that of the Interchurch Movement is the natural consequence. This is all the more regrettable since that movement promised a great deal of good.

MR. GOMPERS AND HIS ENEMIES.

In August the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor officially approved the proposal of the Brooklyn Central Labor Union to organize into a single central body the trade and labor unions of Greater New York. Such an amalgamation has been pondered by representative labor men since the international union heads at their Washington conference last December voted to do all in their power to eradicate from the labor movement anything and everything smacking of Sovietism.

The Central Federated Union of Manhattan has become notorious of late years for the extreme radicalism of its leaders. It has often been at odds with the American Federation of Labor. It chronically breaks out in explosive resolutions. It has forbidden its members to belong to the American Legion. It has a program of wide nationalization. It is always weeping on the bosom of the "Soviet Republic." It has long been in ill repute with sagacious, conservative and patriotic labor unionists.

At the meeting, presided over by Mr. GOMPERS, of the union delegates who formed the new labor association, called the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York and Vicinity, there was a great deal of interruption, disorder and intermittent actual physical violence. Mr. JAMES P. HOLLAND, President of the State Federation of Labor, said, when Mr. GOMPERS had succeeded in restoring order for a time: "I know where the "booing comes from, and I also know "the reason for it. I fought the Bol-"sheviki during the war, and I will "fight them as long as I live."

The noisy radical element succeeded in passing a resolution urging Mr. SMILLIE, head of the British Miners' Federation, a Sovietist and a proponent of direct action, to battle against Mr. LLOYD GEORGE until his Government withdraws all forces opposing Soviet Russia—words singularly dear to the wild radical though they imply compulsory labor and arbitrary government. There spoke the old Central Federated Union.

The folly and the violence of his radical adversaries are a praise and an honor to Mr. GOMPERS. He has shown himself a good citizen and a judicious labor leader in trying to overcome the elements and influences that are dangerous to honest American labor organizations and dangerous to the State. He is doing a public service by seeking to make the united trade and labor unions of Greater New York representative of the good sense and patriotism of the mass of New York workingmen and workingwomen, and by resisting disordered and destructive theories and alien purposes. He has been conservative, prudent, wise. So, it is to be hoped, he will prove himself in today's conference with Governor SMITH on the B. R. T. strike.

THE DETECTIVE CAT.

It speaks well for the morale of our Department of Justice that one of its operatives was not scared, alarmed, perturbed, confused or demoralized by the unusual apparition of a gray cat with an orange tail. He was so far from being upset, in fact, that he began researches which led to the arrest of a large number of persons charged with stealing dyestuffs, in part of which the innocent cat, who happened to sleep in an empty shack where the dyes were stored for the time, had dragged that natural ornament, which thenceforward shone with such unusual splendor. Indeed, that was a strange sight, and one wonders how many of us would react as satisfactorily as the Secret Service man.

It is to be feared that the average citizen who saw a gray cat with an orange tail would at once conclude that something was the matter with his home brew. The moralistic clergyman would see in it an awful warning of the spirit of our times, when a frivolous generation seeks to take on an alien luxury. The Socialist would regard it as a portent; souls born to grayness in our capitalistic civilization are acquiring the hues of the aristocracy as the new day dawns. The sociologist would reflect upon the late dance craze which led the middle-aged to make a desperate and not always convincing effort to put on the gayety of their children. In fact, as with most phenomena, it could have been made to mean anything that the philosophy of the observer required.

Meanwhile the cat himself seems to have taken it with a most admirable calm. He was not conscience-stricken at his temporary association with criminals, for he knew that in his heart he was as innocent as a movie heroine. He was not puffed up by the sudden gilding of one of his most prominent features, nor was his soul harassed by the fact that the rest of him stayed gray, and by the inference therefrom that he could never learn to be a gentleman. It was only an incident of daily life to him, chiefly notable in that it won him a place as the pet of agents of the Department of Justice, with an assurance of three square meals a day. These are hard times for those who try to find a meaning in life; but they can be taken with some equanimity by a matter-of-fact realist—particularly if he is lucky enough to be sure of the three square meals.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Do We Scorn Small Economies?

Facts being always a rather valuable contribution to an argument or discussion, those stated by JOHN A. HOLDEN in a letter to THE TIMES in regard to issuing books in paper covers instead of in permanent bindings deserve more consideration than did some of the statements made by other participants in this decidedly interesting controversy.

Speaking out of his experience as a seller of books, Mr. HOLDEN expressed the opinion that if a paper-covered book cost $1.60, instead of the $2 which the same book bound would have to cost, most buyers would consider the difference too small to make the cheaper form preferable. That seems not improbable in this country; but, if true, the explanation must be either that Americans, as a rule, are not as much interested in small economies as they should be, or that very many of them, lending libraries existing almost everywhere, are wont to buy only books in which they are especially interested, and to which they ascribe a permanent value. But had issuance in paper covers been here a custom as long and as firmly established as it is in France, there is little doubt that we both should appreciate a reduction, even though it were only 20 per cent., and would have learned that, for a majority of the books we buy, including many of the really good ones, paper covers serve every purpose of use and preservation.

Always the advocate of unbound books comes back to the case of France, a literary country if ever there was one, where publishers and reading public for many years have united in giving the most practical of answers to all objections to the paper jacket that have been or can be raised on this side of the water. A form of book publication good enough for the French is good enough for anybody, and nothing could be more nearly certain than that economy is one reason for the French preference.

Some Weren't Pirates Even Then.

Another point made by Mr. HOLDEN was that the so-called "libraries," remembered with regret by many elderly book-buyers as having enabled them to get excellent books for from 25 to 75 cents, are now impossible for two large reasons—the greatly increased cost of materials and labor, and that at present the copyright laws guard the interests of authors in a way unknown in the "good old days."

Certainly it does not become book-lovers, all of whom profess honesty, to be sorry that the form of piracy once so prevalent is now next to unknown.

Even when sinning of that sort was most common, however, there were some publishers who scorned to practice it—who, though not compelled by law to do so, paid something to the foreign author when his book was taken and yet were able to make a profit out of cheap editions.

But, as Mr. HOLDEN wrote, what can be done here and now is a question that best can be settled, not by disputing over it, but by a practical test—the issuing of a worth-while book or two in manila covers. Well advertised, as it surely would be, such an experiment would be interesting and its result fairly conclusive, one way or the other.

Inspection Rendered Imperfect.

As it has always been admitted that a large influx of immigrants meant good times, present or at hand, the fact that a fast-following procession of big ships carrying great numbers of potential workers is entering our harbor is a legitimate source of satisfaction and not a bad reason for abandoning at least a few of our apprehensions as to the future. These are strange and abnormal days, however, and it is not impossible that a good many of the men and women now arriving here have quit the old countries merely to escape post-war conditions they find intolerable.

That is a sufficient motive for emigration, but it is one likely to move a number more than usually large of people whose addition to the American population appeals more to the heart than to the head of its established residents. In other words, a large immigration thus caused is not as desirable or as promising as were like immigrations when the only or chief attractions here were abundant work at higher wages than could be obtained at home.

In the circumstances, some uneasiness is justified by the news that the staff of examiners at Ellis Island is not large enough to give each unit in the arriving multitude the amount of attention required for the detection of all who are not qualified for admission. The United States already is more than well supplied with trouble-makers and incompetents, and it is the poorest of economy to save money by allowing our ports of entry to be inadequately and imperfectly guarded.

Royalty Still Privileged.

Cynics may profess to see, in the promptness with which the members of Italy's royal family have gone to the district devastated by earthquake, only a shrewd device for gaining some of the popular admiration and affection which royalty in these days needs so much. Such criticism, however, is cheap and poor, for there is sufficient reason for believing that these particular representatives of royalty have followed the instinctive impulses of hearts really kind.

On the other hand, what they do really counts for more than would the same things if done by humbler people. Those to whom they extend personal sympathy and help appreciate the difference. Logically, perhaps, they should not, but the fact remains and is undeniable.

Kings and Queens and their children are not so happily or so safely situated, nowadays, that anybody need begrudge them the one advantage that their virtues loom large—that kindnesses and courtesies of theirs are accepted with more gratitude than is similar treatment from others.

PRO-GERMAN SUPPORT.

Will It Not Cost Senator Harding Loyal Votes?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Thanks to the pro-German element in America for showing its colors by its indorsement of the Republican issue on the ground that Harding is in favor of the things that Germany wants, which are not the things true Americans want.

The pro-Germans have declared against the League of Nations and the treaty of peace and in favor of the Harding separate peace, and doubtless they would be further pleased to have Harding also apologize for our entry into the war.

The Germans in America, with rare exceptions, as every one knows, were in entire accord and sympathy with their Fatherland, with which we were at war. Will loyal Americans now take sides with them in this election and throw away the results of the great victory won at tremendous cost of blood and treasure?

Will the voters of the different nationalities of our allies who fought Germany with us now vote with the enemy for the Republican candidate, who favors the things that Germany wants, the nation which it cost us the lives of thousands of our gallant sons and billions of our money to defeat?

I have been in the past a Republican for many years.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your issue of Aug. 28, on page 14, under the heading "Milk Price Goes Up One Cent on Sept. 1," you say:

"It was stated that the distributers hoped to be able to continue the September price through October, but this, it was said, would depend upon the price that must be paid the producer. * * * Feed is said to be selling for much less than at this time last year, and the distributers are said to feel that this reduction should be reflected in the price the producer receives for his milk."

Being a producer of milk in Ulster County as well as a consumer of milk in New York City, I was not only interested but surprised in the statement, carefully guarded by "it is said," that dairy feed prices are lower than they were a year ago. My feed bills did not bear out that statement, which was evidently made in preparation for price fixing for October. The following prices were given me on Aug. 30, 1920, by our local feed dealer in Gardiner, N. Y.:

Kind of Feed.	Price Per Ton in August. 1919.	1920.
Wheat bran..........	$52.00	$58.00
Colonial ships..........	65.00	76.00
Light ships..........	64.00	65.00
Middlings..........	67.00	80.00
Hominy..........	60.00	75.00
Dairy feed (balanced ration)..	75.00	83.00
Gluten..........	74.00	76.00
Oil meal..........	100.00	74.00
Cottonseed meal..........	86.00	76.00
Oats, per bushel..........	1.00	1.20

The items all show marked increase in price except oil meal and cottonseed meal, which are minor items in the dairy ration.

The milk situation will not be helped by such misrepresentations on the part of the distributers in their consistent attempt to place on the producer the responsibility for increased prices to the consumer.

The producer, with his heavy investment for cattle, land, buildings and farm equipment, and his increasing expense for feed, labor and taxes, to say nothing of the depreciation in the value of his cattle, losses by sickness and accident and veterinary bills, receives about 8½ cents per quart for his September milk, and the distributer delivers it to the consumer at 21 cents per quart for Grade A, 18 cents for Grade B, and 28 cents for certified. These are plain facts.

TO OUR OFFICERS—PASSED ON.

They are not dead—not really; they are living—
Leading their columns, as they led before,
Leading their comrades up to Heaven's door.
They are not dead, not they!
Why, they are giving Strength, as they gave it on the battle line—
Courage to do the hardest task, and fine
Manhood to meet the test. . . .

They were our best—
They, and the ones they led into the fight!
They were the ones who challenged
terror's night,
They were the men who won, at last, to rest. . . .

They are not dead—not really; they are striving,
Just as they did on earth, across the way;
And we must show them that we are reviving
Visions of all they suffered—yesterday.
We who are left must keep their spirit glowing,
We who are left must keep their memory clear,
*We who are left must feel that they
can hear!*

AUSTRALIAN NOTES.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As a visitor from Australia to your wonderful city, it is a great pleasure to me and other Australian visitors to read the articles appearing from time to time in your journal on Australian affairs. For a fair estimate of things Australian we enjoyed Mr. Matthews's article as the very best so far. But today some of us are a little annoyed at the inaccuracy of some remarks attributed to Dr. Peter Murphy of Sydney. In describing the wool market he says that the "wool exports of Australia run well over $100,000,000 a year." As a matter of fact, the value of the wool for the season of 1918-1919 was £49,500,000, or nearly (at normal exchange) $250,000,000.

From the point of view of size of flocks and quantity and quality of wool Australia is the leading sheep-raising country in the world.

Dr. Murphy cannot be referring to Sydney when he says, "Our thermometers never rise above 70 and never register below 50 degrees." Oh, that I had a $10 bill for every time they showed 100 degrees in the shade by Fahrenheit in beautiful Sydney!

The traveled American and Australian appreciate size and distances, and when they remember that the great United States can be put inside Australia they leave the question of temperature alone.

But, Dr. Murphy, why bring up the old myth that Australian birds are songless? I thought that idea was as dead as Julius Caesar.

The glorious melodies of the Australian bush equal, if they do not surpass, the exquisite music of the birds of Europe and America.

The carol of the magpie (so called) and the wonderful whistling of the butcher bird fill the valleys and paddocks with joy and gladness unspeakable. Oh, for one hour in the early morning listening to the outburst of glorious music from these birds of Australia!

Now, may I specially direct the attention of your Australian visitors to the wonderful display of Australian birds in that most wonderful of New York's wonder places—the American Museum of Natural History? Look for the lyre birds—an artistic display of the greatest mocking bird of the world.

DANTE ANNIVERSARY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

About four years ago there were published in THE NEW YORK TIMES two letters advocating the formation of a society to commemorate the six hundredth anniversary of the death of Dante. Inasmuch as nothing further on the subject has appeared in your paper, it is to be presumed the war interfered with the carrying out of the design.

However, the war has ended, and it is most proper the commemoration should be had.

Dante having died Sept. 14, 1321, the beginning of the present academic year is an opportune time to plan a tribute to the great Florentine.

The colleges are the logical agencies to give impetus to the project, for the poet's intellect and idealism are in harmony with their aims and purposes.

Furthermore, Dante's writings contain such a variety of interests that every person laying claim to an education of whatever kind finds in them an illuminating background for his culture.

Those who have fallen under the spell of the author of "Commedia" believe that a knowledge and love of this great poem is a very effective antidote for much that is now prevalent. Such a lofty theme served by such a high art is a sure corrective of the commonplace and trivial.

Would you be so kind as to open your columns again to those who desire to see a more popular appreciation of Dante?

This service would be no small part in a worthy tribute to the supreme poet.

"Onorate l'altissimo poeta."

Republican Front Line Taken.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Governor Cox and the men and women who are supporting his position on the League of Nations have broken through the first line fortifications. For months Old Guard strategy has been throwing out its "screen of smoke" to make the people of the United States believe that a foreign power could summon "every mother's son" overseas. When we heard the cry of "America First," many of us—in our ignorance—were actually frightened. But Cox caught them with their gas masks off and smoked them out.

Long ago ex-President Taft exposed the weakness of the anti-League argument. In a recent statement he declares that nothing in the League Covenant violates the Constitution of the United States. Now comes Colonel Harvey, the hardest hitter in the Republican Party. At last the man is candid enough to admit that only our Congress can declare war; in short, that no foreign power can order us to war at its bidding. And finally, Mr. Harding also ventured a declaration for the "scrapping of the League," but, like his rocking chair position at Marion, he has found it untenable. Now that the League issue is shattered, the candidate has taken refuge in the ruins of the old Hague Tribunal.

Of course the Republican generals are complaining because the Governor is "treating them rough." But there is an American precedent. Our "gobs" never spared a German submarine because it was camouflaged, and it is certain that Governor Cox and his army of patriotic men and women will continue their great drive until the Hindenburg line of Old Guard politics is smashed.

For the New York Apple.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Apple Growers' Co-operative Association, Inc., of Red Hook, Dutchess County, N. Y., has directed me, its Secretary, to forward to you an expression of its high appreciation of the editorial article entitled "An Apple a Day" that appeared in your issue of Aug. 31, and to thank you for the delightful manner in which you presented the facts on which the claims of the superiority of New York apples over those grown elsewhere in the United States are based.

How little does the city dweller know of the effort involved in producing and marketing this nutritious and inexpensive fruit, which, if eaten in moderate quantity and at a cost of a few cents a day, is credited with the potency of keeping the M. D. away. During the Winter months the trees must be guarded against the attacks of hungry rodents, and in the Spring the tinier enemies that attack the foliage and the blossoms must be fought with sprayer and insecticides. Then the trees must be trimmed and pruned, and when the embryo apples appear the careful grower thins them out, so that instead of bearing a profusion of diminutive fruit of inferior flavor the trees will yield apples that will be a delight to the eye and a joy to the palate. Finally comes the job of picking, sizing, sorting, packing and shipping—and a man's size job it is.

So let the apple propaganda be carried on, that the growers may thrive, the millions of capital invested in New York State orchards be conserved, and the public benefited by a plentiful supply of this cheap and wholesome delicacy.

WILL CONFER ON "DRY" LAW

Anti-Saloon League Officers Will Discuss Enforcement Measures.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America, announced tonight that national and State officers of that organization would confer in Washington for three days, beginning Wednesday, to discuss enforcement of the prohibition law.

Mr. Wheeler, who will open the conference by explaining the situation relative to enforcement and discuss the duties of the Federal and State Governments, said that the subjects of concurrent power, the harmonizing of Federal and State laws and the relation of civic bodies to Federal enforcement would be discussed.

"The official investigation of political expenditures and Federal liquor inspectors," said Mr. Wheeler, "has revealed that the liquor interests are collecting money to elect a President and Congress whom they claim will favor a beer and wine amendment. This means legislative nullification of the Eighteenth Amendment, as was recently pointed out by Mr. McAdoo and ex-President Taft.

"The indorsement and financial aid of the liquor interests carries with it an obligation to help the liquor interests carry out their program. Temperance voters are watching the recipients of this influence and will act accordingly at the polls in November."

DENIES POLISH AGGRESSION.

American Committee Blames Lithuanian Expansionists for Clash.

Commenting upon dispatches telling of differences between the Poles and Lithuanians the American Committee for the Defense of Poland yesterday issued a statement saying that "the outbreak of hostilities between the Lithuanians and the Poles is made to appear as due to Polish aggressions against Lithuania in reports from Lithuanian sources. It is significant that the towns of Suwalki, Augustow and Sejny, which are mentioned as the scene of the fighting, are all in Poland. These towns are thoroughly Polish in population and the Allied Supreme Council gave them to Poland when it drew a boundary line between Poland and Lithuania in December, 1919.

"This is the same line which Secretary Colby advised the Polish Government to respect in its military operations against the Bolsheviki east of Warsaw. Possession of the City of Wilno is another issue in dispute. Poles made up 53 per cent. of the total population. The Polish ethnographic claim to Wilno is supported by affiliations extending over centuries, and the Poles hold that Wilno is as Polish a city as Warsaw, and they will combat any attempt at annexation by Lithuania.

"There are elements in Lithuania which desire to extend their national borders to include immense areas not inhabited by Lithuanians, which were a part of Lithuania in the Middle Ages. It is the influence of this faction which is responsible for the expansionist policy now bringing Lithuania into conflict with Poland."

NEW POLICY ON LABOR LAW.

Industrial Commission to Seek Co-operation of Employers.

The State Industrial Commission announced from Albany yesterday that on the recommendation of Bernard L. Shientag, its chief counsel, it has decided to experiment with a plan to obtain a more hearty co-operation from employers in the enforcement of the labor law. Under this plan, when an employer is charged with violation of the labor law, he will be summoned to appear before the commission and show cause why he should not be prosecuted. At the outset this plan will be limited to minor violations.

"This," Mr. Shientag announced, "will bring employers into personal touch with the members of the commission and secure a better understanding and respect for the law. It will do away with the necessity for prosecutions in the Magistrates' courts in many cases of minor violations which have heretofore resulted in a large number of suspended sentences.

"The aim of the commission is to secure compliance with the law through voluntary action of employers whenever possible, and better results will be obtained along these lines if the commission itself takes up first offense violations and explains to employers directly the necessity of complying with the law and the consequences of subsequent violation. This procedure on the part of the commission is bound to result in fewer suspended sentences when the commission finds that it is obliged to take employers into court."

HUNGARIAN JEWS THANK US.

New Year's Message of Gratitude Sent to Co-Religionists Here.

A message of thanks from Hungarian Jews to the Jews of this country for aid extended through the Joint Distribution Committee of the American Funds for Jewish War Sufferers was made public yesterday by Felix M. Warburg, Chairman of the distribution committee. The message was brought by Morris Engelman, who returned to this country after an inspection trip in Hungary for the committee, and who said that the Hungarian committee intended their message as a greeting to Jews here at the beginning of the Jewish New Year. The message said:

"The glorious people of America have brought light into the darkness of our lives and have brought succor to us with their understanding, prompted by their great desire to give aid to the unfortunate. We are happy in the thought that our co-religionists and countrymen who have become part of the body of the great people of America are with heart and soul co-operating in the task of affording relief to our stricken country, and that we, who never until now knew what it meant to beg, are given the opportunity through their help to establish a new and a free life. We express our heartfelt gratitude and send to you at the inception of the new religious year our greetings and best wishes, extended in the name of our religion to all those who are so fortunate as to be the generous sons and daughters of liberty-loving America."

SEES INTERNATIONAL PANIC.

Dr. Campbell Morgan Protests Against Chaos Over League.

The Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, until recently of London, England, who a few months ago came to America with his family and settled at Winona Lake, Ind., preached yesterday morning and afternoon in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, at Fifty-fifth Street. It was the first time the voice of the distinguished clergyman had been heard there for a decade, and the church was crowded.

"My text of the morning is a protest against the international panic we are now having," he said, speaking of the chaos in regard to the League of Nations. "There is no harmony anywhere. You tell me the war is over; my brother, you lie. We are in the midst of the war. All things I hoped for, prayed for and fought for are in a state of bloody rebellion. There is a restlessness in all the world in spite of 'peace.'

"Stoicism is a wonderful thing. I take off my hat to those old stoics who without the consolation of the Christian religion kept a stiff upper lip and endured. But my text is an appeal not to fatalism, but to faith."

Abelman to Direct City Conference.

The appointment of Max Abelman, Executive Director of the Brooklyn Federation of Jewish Charities, as director of a contemplated public welfare conference was announced yesterday by Commissioner Bird S. Coler. Details of the conference, which will be attended by representatives of the city department and of private charitable organizations, will be announced later.

TENNESSEE 'ANTIS' TO CALL ON COLBY

Will Urge the Secretary to Withdraw His Proclamation of Suffrage Ratification.

AGAIN DENIES LEGAL ACTION

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Secretary Colby will on Tuesday be urged by a delegation of Tennessee opponents of woman suffrage to withdraw his proclamation of the ratification of the nineteenth amendment on the ground that it was not legally ratified. It also will be contended by the delegation that confusion and many contests may result in the coming election unless the proclamation is withdrawn.

The Tennessee delegation is headed by Seth M. Walker, speaker of the State House of Representatives, who in 1919 led the legislative campaign which granted Presidential suffrage to Tennessee women by State action, but who led the recent fight in Tennessee against suffrage by Federal amendment. The delegation left Nashville tonight and will be met on its arrival here Tuesday morning by delegations of "antis" from Maryland and other States. After visiting the State Department the Tennessee delegation will visit Baltimore and possibly Hartford, Conn.

In making this announcement tonight the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage gave out a statement prepared by Speaker Walker dealing with the Tennessee tangle, as follows:

"On Monday, Aug. 8, a motion was made in the House that Senate joint resolution No. 1, ratifying the Nineteenth Amendment, lay upon the table. This motion failed, the vote being a tie, 48 to 48. The question then recurred in the House concurring in the said joint resolution by a vote of 49 to 47, but before the Clerk announced the vote, and before the Speaker declared the result, I changed my vote from No to Aye and entered upon the journal a motion to reconsider. Under all rules of parliamentary law, this was a privileged motion.

"The House met on Aug. 19 and Aug. 20 without any action being taken on the motion to reconsider. On Saturday, Aug. 21, in the absence of a quorum, as the journal affirmatively shows, an effort was made to call said joint resolution No. 1 from the journal, and in the absence of a quorum the House refused to reconsider.

"The motion to reconsider was entered on the journal on Aug. 18. Until this motion was lawfully disposed of the Clerk could not transmit to the Senate said joint resolution No. 1. If no motion had been entered on the journal for a reconsideration within two days next succeeding Aug. 18, then, under Rule 31, it would have been out of order for any member to make a motion to reconsider. Said Rule No. 31 does not provide that a motion to reconsider shall be disposed of within two days, but it does provide that it shall be in order for any member voting with the prevailing side 'to move for a reconsideration at any time the same day or the next two succeeding days of actual session.'

"This rule has always been recognized and followed as I have interpreted the same herein. The motion to reconsider was entered on the journal the very minute the vote was cast, and the rule was complied with when, the very first day a quorum was present, on Sept. 1, the House did reconsider its action and non-concurred in said joint resolution No. 1.

"Tennessee, under Section 32 of Article II. of her constitution, could not ratify the amendment at this session. Furthermore, Tennessee has not done so, as an examination of Haire vs. Rice, 204 U. S. 291; State vs. Algood, 87 Tennessee, 103; U. S. vs. Ballin, 144; U. S. 1, 5 Lansing, New York 11, and Hawke vs. Smith (Ohio referendum) decisions will prove."

The antis declared tonight that the published statement that Secretary Colby would "stand pat" on the proclamation would make no difference in their plans. They denied that Tennessee attempted to "rescind" or "withdraw" a ratification, and maintained that ratification was never accomplished in Tennessee.

GOETHALS PRAISES TORONTO

New York and New Jersey Party Inspects Harbor Work.

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—General G. W. Goethals, accompanying a party representing the New York and New Jersey Port and Harbor Commission which inspected the Toronto harbor improvement now under construction, paid high tribute to the work. The scheme is costing $26,000,000, of which Toronto is supplying $20,000,000 and the Dominion Government $6,000,000.

"I wish," said General Goethals, "that I could bring all New York and New Jersey over here to see the way you people go at this thing. I am tired of the slipshod methods we have too often of doing things on the other side."

In the party are Julius Henry Cohen, chief counsel of the commission; J. Spencer Smith, Vice Chairman; Commissioner Dewitt Van Buskirk; C. W. Ruhlman, Secretary; Senator Roy Heath of New Jersey; Representative and Mrs. Henry Gaede, and Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Harry B. Halter. While here they were guests of the Lieutenant Governor, Lionel Clarke, Mayor Church and the Harbor Commission. They will also inspect the habor works and water front of Montreal.

THE REV. DR. MILLS RESIGNS.

Leaves Montclair Pulpit to Become Secretary of Funds.

The Rev. Dr. Charles S. Mills read his resignation from the pulpit yesterday morning as pastor of the First Congregational Church, Montclair, N. J. He will become joint Secretary of the Pilgrim Memorial Fund and the Annuity Fund for Congregational Ministers, with headquarters at 875 Broadway.

Dr. Mills went to Montclair eight years ago as successor to the late Rev. Dr. Amory H. Bradford, who had been pastor more than thirty years. In 1914 the church was burned and Dr. Mills erected a new church which cost $300,000, and four years ago the last debt was paid.

PANAMA PASSPORT RULING.

Reacts Against United Fruit Liners Going to Canal Zone Via Havana.

A new ruling by the United States Passport Bureau requires all travelers to the Canal Zone to carry passports unless they travel on vessels that do not touch at foreign ports, with the exception of American citizens on steamships calling at Bermuda. These tourists are not required to carry anything but birth certificates.

This ruling is favorable to the Panama Railroad Steamship Company, which is owned and operated by the Government, and the Grace Line and Pacific Steam Navigation Company's vessels, which go direct to Colon, but acts against the United Fruit steamships, known as the White Fleet, which call at Havana each way.

JEWISH NEW YEAR WIDELY OBSERVED

RABBI RANSON INSTALLED

Free Synagogue of Bronx Announces Plans for $125,000 Community Centre.

Jewish New Year's Day began at sundown yesterday and it will be observed until sundown tonight. The orthodox Jew will continue his observance through tomorrow. The day begins the year 5,681, which is suposed to date from the creation of the world. The Jewish name for the solemn season is Rosh-Hashonah. In ten days will occur Yom-Kippur, or the Day of Atonement.

At 6 o'clock in the evening stores operated by Jews in Manhattan and the Bronx closed and the proprietors and their families made their way to synagogues to pray.

"The New Year: Wherein New?" was the topic last night of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise's address to the members of the Free Synagogue in Carnegie Hall. Dr. Wise arraigned bitterly the persecution of Jews in Poland, Galicia, Russia and Hungary. There were 2,000 persons in the hall. This morning Rabbi Wise will discuss "The Jewish Peril and Christendom's Shame."

Services were held last night in Temple Emanu-El, Fifth Avenue and Forty-third Street, and there will be a preaching service there this morning. The Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman, the rabbi, conducted the services, and was assisted by Rabbi H. G. Enelow. The big temple was packed.

The New Year service at Temple Beth-El, Fifth Avenue and Seventy-sixth Street, was marked by the installation of Rabbi Marius Ranson as assistant there. The exercises were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Schulman, the rabbi. Rabbi Schulman preached on "The Jewish Soul." He devoted his discourse to the coming of his young assistant, asking the membership to give him a hearty welcome. After the service Dr. Schulman and Rabbi Ranson held a short reception.

Services at Ellis Island.

At Ellis Island the New Year was celebrated with all the ancient Hebrew customs. Michael Kley, who is the agent for the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society, had charge of the arrangements.

Rabbi Israel Goldstein will preach this morning on "Is Idealism Bankrupt?", at the new building of Temple B'nai Jeshurun, 257 West Eighty-eighth Street.

The New Year services last evening had special significance for the members of the New Synagogue, Broadway and Seventy-sixth Street, that congregation commemorating the fifth anniversary of its founding. The Rev. Dr. Ephraim Frisch, rabbi, took for his topic "A Fifth Anniversary Address." The congregation has been worshipping in the Manhattan Congregational Church, but it contemplates the erection of its own house of worship as soon as building conditions become normal.

Rabbi Frisch said that five years ago a group of Jews of liberal religious views, most of whom were residents of the west side of Manhattan, adopted a progressive platform both as to theology and synagogue administration and called him from Far Rockaway.

"The first service was held on the Jewish New Year, 1915, at Aeolian Hall," said the rabbi. "After two years the congregation made arrangements to share with the Manhattan Congregational Church the Broadway, near Seventy-sixth Street. use of the latter's church building. In Since that time the growth of the New Synagogue has been remarkable. The permanent adherents of the congregation now number approximately 1,500 persons.

Reaches the Unsynagogued.

"In one direction the New Synagogue has rendered an important service to the cause of religion generally in New York. One of its fundamental aims from the very start has been to reach the unsynagogued. At least 90 per cent of the members had not heretofore been affiliated with a congregation."

The President of the New Synagogue is Morris H. Rothchild and the First Vice President is Carl Rosenberger.

Rabbi Louis I. Newman preached last night on "Religion and the Masses" in the new Free Synagogue of the Bronx, 163d Street and Southern Boulevard. This congregation worships in the Prospect Avenue Methodist Church. The rabbi outlined a plan for a $125,000 campaign whereby this synagogue hopes to purchase the church as its community and borough centre.

"The war and its consequent industrial strife have left the masses of men and women cynical and bitter," said the rabbi. "They have lost faith not only in the promise of Governments, but in the preachments of organized religion. If religion is to rewin the masses and restore confidence among the throngs of workers and laymen in the great cities it must speak out daringly and pointedly on the debatable political and economic issues of the day. It must recover the independence it surrendered to the State during the war."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Judge Abram I. Elkus will speak before this congregation next Friday evening.

Rogers-Bigelow Engagement.

Captain and Mrs. William R. Sayles of 564 Park Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Mrs. Ernest A. Bigelow, Jr., to Herman Livingston Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Rogers of Crumwold Hall, Hyde Park-on-Hudson. Mrs. Bigelow, a member of the Colony Club, served as a nurse with the French Army for two years. Mr. Rogers was graduated from Yale, class of 1914, and served overseas as a Major in the 308th Field Artillery.

WILSON BOOKS GIVE STOLEN BOND CLUES

WASHINGTON INQUIRY ENDED

Officials Now Hopeful of Discovering the Murderers of Messenger Binkowitz.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Lloyd H. Wilson, the Chicago bond broker who was arrested Saturday in Billings, Mont., charged with having disposed of a large amount of the $173,000 worth of Liberty bonds stolen in New York by members of the "Nicky" Arnstein gang of bond thieves, is now alleged to have disposed of bonds stolen in Los Angeles.

While Wilson was speeding back to this city in the custody of Detective of having received stolen property, other detectives were going over his books and records in an effort to throw further light on his activities. It was in this way that they stumbled onto the Los Angeles angle.

An investigation showed that several weeks ago the Los Angeles police arrested two men leaving a hotel where they had stolen $34,000 worth of Liberty Sergeant John J. Gegan of the New York Bomb Squad, to answer charges bonds from beneath the pillow of a guest.

The men were locked up and the bonds placed in the safe in the station for safe keeping. Some one, a policeman it is charged, stole the bonds from the safe, however, and trace of them was lost until coupons turned up in Chicago. These coupons for intereest had been presented for payment by a Chicago physician. Through the physician they were traced to the First Trust and Savings Bank, where he had purchased them, and from the bank it was learned that they had been acquired from L. H. Wilson, Inc., of which Wilson is the head.

The police are now endeavoring to discover if any of the hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of bonds disposed of in the last year by the Wilson concern were stolen securities. Bank books and correspondence seized in the office of L. H. Wilson, Inc., following his arrest, showed that in the last few months he had deposited nearly $200,000 in various Chicago banks.

Efforts are also being made to discover if there is any connection between Wilson and A. C. Ecremont, Canadian Parliament member, who was arrested in Chicago in May. Ecremont, who had been masquerading in Chicago as C. B. Arthur, a broker, was wanted in New York on charges of disposing of a large amount of stolen bonds.

Wilson waived extradition, and will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning. He said that all the bonds he had disposed of had come into his possession in legitimate transactions.

The Prosecutor's office feels that if it can discover from Wilson where he acquired the stolen securities it will be able to apprehend the murderers of Binkowitz, the messenger.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. — Having concluded its investigation, the Federal York and in connection with which the Grand Jury here is expected to make its final report this week on the Washington end of the alleged conspiracy whereby $5,000,000 in bonds were stolen in New York and in connection with which the New York authorities are holding Jules (Nicky) Arnstein and others. The investigation here, which has been in progress for several weeks, has to do with the sale in Washington of bonds alleged to have been stolen in New York.
New York authorities are holding Jules (Nicky) Arnstein and others. The investigation here, which has been in progress for several weeks, has to do with the sale in Washington of bonds alleged to have been stolen in New York.

Saul S. Myers, attorney for the robbed security holders in the Arnstein and Benjamin Binkowitz cases, had received no report up to a late hour last night indicating that any of the stolen bonds had been recovered through the arrest of Wilson by Detective James J. Gegan.

Mr. Myers said that in the event of refusal by Wilson to come here without extradition procedure arrangements may be made to examine him at Chicago, as the matter is within the jurisdiction of the Federal courts. The attorney suggested that if Wilson, who may be innocent of knowingly receiving stolen bonds, will assist the authorities with all information he may have, and some clue be forthcoming from it, to reach the bond bandits, he will be treated leniently.

"My clients," he said, "are interested both in the recovery of the bonds and in the binding of the murderers of the messenger Binkowitz, and when we trace the looters of the bonds we will get to the murderers."

The Bigness of New York

NO CITY is self-contained and independent. New York does not and cannot exist by iself alone. It is big--so big that it must depend upon the entire State. It lives and grows and becomes greater each day with the aid of the other communities in this State. It is dependent upon the produce and the products of these communities. Day after day their men and women must toil by thousands to enable the greatest city of the Western World to carry on. Their pastures, their farms, their forests, their factories and their mills must all give of their output to the Metropolis, or else millions of people within the City must suffer.

ALL roads lead to the modern Rome. They not only lead to it, but they lead out from it to the centers of trade and industry and agriculture upon which this city depends. These roads are its highways, rivers, canals, railroads, telegraph and telephone wires. They reach the large communities and the small communities.

And of these none is greater than the telephone.

Its service is quick, direct and personal.

It keeps New York in touch with its sources of supplies.

Daily and hourly it carries the orders and directs and watches the transportation and conduct of business, big and little, with a speed and sureness that saves New York millions of dollars.

It is invaluable.

The New York of today could no more do without the service of the State-wide telephone system than it could do without transportation. The City and the State are so closely related and their interests so finely interwoven that it is not possible to separate them.

This State-wide system of telephone communication must:

Serve all communities in the State.
Bring them all together into one neighborhood.
Give everyone adequate service at reasonable cost.

To do their part to keep this system adequate the communities of the State outside the City are paying higher rates. Now the City itself, the one community that benefits most, is asked to do its part to maintain and develop this great system—this highway that has done so much to make New York big.

Not only must it be maintained. It must be expanded. New markets, new industrial plants, new activities of all kinds are constantly springing up in out of the way corners. Before the wheels have begun to turn the telephone must be there ready to serve them and you—ready to make them a smoothly functioning part of the great industrial fabric that is New York.

GERMAN SHIP DEAL REVEALED BY CLEGG

Kerr's Associate, in Statement, Says Harriman Group Conceded Too Much.

HIS BACKERS WANT INQUIRY

"WAR CLAUSE" DENOUNCED

Would Work Hardship to American Maritime Interests, Public Is Warned.

A. E. Clegg, Vice President of the Kerr Steamship Company, Inc., yesterday issued a statement in support of charges previously made that Germany, through an agreement between the Hamburg-American Line and the American Ship and Commerce Corporation, had taken a long step toward her ambition of rehabilitating her merchant marine, and at the expense of American shipping.

Before giving "a full history of the negotiations with the German interests," which resulted in his resignation as President of the Kerr Navigation Corporation on the ground that Germany was getting the better of the deal, Mr. Clegg, to show the "German view of the situation," quoted a recent editorial in the Schiffahrt Zeitung of Hamburg, which was republished on July 29 in the Shipbuilding and Shipping Record, and which read:

"After the armistice and the signing of peace, many people thought that the Hamburg-American Line—and with it Germany—must renounce not only its fleet but also the device: 'Mein feld ist die welt' (my field is the world).

German Editor Optimistic.

"Unflinching will, shrewd negotiations, and firm resolution to work anew have prevented the Entente from reaching the above aim. What the representatives of the Hapag (Hamburg-American Line), Geh. Rat (Managing Director), Cuno and Direktor Hulderman, have brought back from New York is the first beginning of new world influence. The agreement with the Harriman firm is the first step on the way from nothing to a new prime. The German flag will again wave over the ocean, and, though the title be changed to Hamburg-Amereka Linie Gemeinschaftslienst (partnership service), the basis is German, and the hope remains that in twenty years the old Hapag will again traverse the seas.

"* * * Each company has the right, under the agreement, to provide up to 50 per cent. of the vessels required for every service. Actually, of course, Harriman will provide all the vessels at first, but the tonnage will be redistributed as the Hapag's fleet is rebuilt."

This redistribution of tonnage is one of the most striking points in Germany's favor, according to Mr. Clegg, who asserts in the statement that General George W. Goethals, Kermit Roosevelt and other officials and Directors agreed with him from the ground up in his stand and resigned when he did. In connection with it his statement says:

"He (W. G. Sickel, American Director of the Hamburg-American Line and now chief assistant to W. Averell Harriman, President of the American Ship and Commerce Corporation) told us that Mr. Harriman had not questioned the clause in their agreement which contemplated the withdrawal of American steamers to make place for German flag vessels."

Says Harriman Was Unyielding.

After detailing many changes that he suggested in the proposed twenty-year contract with the Hamburg-American Line, Mr. Clegg said:

"Some of these suggestions conveyed meaning even to Mr. Harriman, and he stated he would discuss them with Director Cuno (Director Cuno was in charge of the negotiations for the German side, assisted by Directors Hulderman and Peltzer, also from Germany, and by Messrs. Sickel, Meyer and Lederer). On the point, however, of the withdrawal of American tonnage he was firm that nothing could be done, that he had given his word to the principle of the agreement to Dr. Cuno and he felt obliged to go through with it."

In his summing up of the history of the negotiations with the German interests, Mr. Clegg made the following assertions:

"1. That Harriman had committed Harriman & Co. to an undertaking with the Germans, which, among other things, contemplated a withdrawal of American steamers from American and other trades immediately other ships were available.

"2. That Harriman & Co. had agreed to produce an American corporation to take over this agreement, and the American Ship and Commerce Corporation fell heir to the doubtful honor through a stock arrangement with Mr. P. M. Chandler, President of Chandler & Co., one of the Directors of the American Ship and Commerce Corporation.

Calls Contract "Grossly Unfair."

"3. That the contract was grossly inequitable and unfair to American shipping, and, though I was able to obtain some revision, is still inequitable and unfair.

"4. That the contract influencing the destinies for twenty years of a large American corporation was formulated without reference to the most important and far reaching legislative Shipping act—an act to provide for the American merchant marine—generally known as the 'Jones bill,' which had been passed June 5, 1920.

"5. That I explained to the Directors of the American Ship and Commerce Corporation that the 'Jones bill,' the provisions of which were not determined when the Kerr-Clegg-Hamburg-American Line discussions were on, assured in itself to American shipping a number of the benefits to get which we, a few months before, thought a Hamburg-American Line alliance deal, and that under these circumstances it was altogether unnecessary to stand on anything but high ground when dealing with the German line.

Protested Against Sickel.

"6. That I protested against the election of a Hamburg-American Line Director (Sickel) who had taken the principal part for the German side in arranging the Kerr-Clegg tentative agreement, and later the Harriman contract, when he was proposed by Mr. Harriman to be assistant to the President of the American Ship and Commerce Corporation to work out the details of the main agreements for the American side.

"7. That on being helplessly outvoted I resigned as President of the Kerr Navigation Corporation.

"8. That unless the pooling arrangement or, as it is now termed, 'an agreement relative to an accounting and settlement as between the parties,' which I understand is still to be signed, is formulated by experienced steamship men who are whole-souled in the American cause, the situation holds further dangers.

"9. That such pooling arrangement cannot be worked out at all until it develops just what share of the tonnage the Hamburg-American Line will supply over the difficult period of the next five years."

Expect Congressional Inquiry.

Those close to Mr. Clegg said that a Congressional inquiry of the whole shipping situation might be expected as the result of his disclosures in the statement. The statement was focused criticism on Section 9 of the contract between the American Ship and Commerce Corporation and the Hamburg-American Line.

"Section 9," says the statement, "is the part of the contract intended to provide business for the new tonnage already ordered by the Hamburg-American Line and some time in the future to be delivered. This part of the agreement gives to the Hamburg-American Line the right to enter such new tonnage in any of the trades theretofore established, and this provision of the contract goes so far as to require, in certain contingencies, the actual withdrawal of American tonnage theretofore employed in such trades in order to make room for the new Hamburg-American Line tonnage now being built, and it is contemplated that once such American tonnage is withdrawn it may never again be used under the agreement.

Sees Future Disadvantage.

"It requires no great stretch of imagination to see the great disadvantage to American shipping if this part of the contract becomes operative, when one considers that American shipping is already engaged in several of the trades covered by the agreement and no tonnage now owned or controlled by the Hamburg-American Line is plying in such trades. The necessity of withdrawing such American tonnage from trades to make room for the new Hamburg-American Line tonnage when completed and the inability to use the withdrawn American tonnage under this agreement may readily result in the necessity of placing American tonnage in unprofitable trades or else to leave such tonnage idle."

Mr. Clegg asserted that Mr. Chandler had informed him that his "rigidity" on the point of withdrawal of American ships in favor of German ones "had been the cause of the German Directors breaking off negotiations with the Kerr Steamship Company, Inc." The statement went on:

"I came out very pointedly to the effect that, if they agreed to the principle of withdrawing American ships from trades to make place for Germans, they might as well be prepared for the utmost criticism in the press, and that the corporation would find it impossible in this event to go before the investing public for funds with which to do an increased business."

Here is the description by Mr. Clegg of the purchase by the Harriman interests of his and Mr. Kerr's holdings, the feature of which was the transfer of $4,900,000 in cash to Mr. Kerr and Mr. Clegg, the Government placing a notice of lien upon the money immediately. Said Mr. Clegg:

"On July 24 the American Ship and Commerce Corporation, then controlled by the Chandler-Harriman group, served notice on the Kerr Steamship Company, Inc., of the cancellation of the contract under which the Kerr Steamship Company, Inc., was operating all of the Kerr Navigation Corporation steamers, and we were informed that these steamers, which we had purchased and operated under great difficulties, would be turned over to an operating company in the ownership of which Mr. Harriman had an interest.

"The American Ship and Commerce Corporation had the right to serve such notice of cancellation and the privilege to us to receive cash for the stock we held in the corporation came automatically into force."

Criticises "War Clause."

Mr. Clegg criticised severely several sections of the contract between the American Ship and Commerce Corporation and the Hamburg-American Line. His criticism of Section 16, which he terms the "war clause," might give an idea of the trend of criticism as a whole, particularly when taken in conjunction with his comments on the withdrawal of American ships. Says the statement:

"War Clause. Here, the Hamburg-American Line takes advantage of a possible requisitioning of the American company's tonnage should the United States become involved in war after the passage of a few years. Under the war clause the following might result: If after operating twelve American steamers, a trade had been made profitable at the end of five years, and at that time an emergency arises requiring the American steamers to do Government duty, the American company on being again free to re-enter the trade, would be thereafter permitted to have only 50 per cent. of such trade. In short, having built up, without assistance, and with possible losses, a regular freight service, the American company is penalized as soon as the United States Government requires ocean-going tonnage for an emergency, and, of course, the hardship to the American steamer accrues to the benefit of the German.

Charges German Selfishness.

"The concluding paragraph of the war clause makes apparent the selfishness of the Hamburg-American Line, for it provides that the act of commandeering (requisitioning) in itself shall be the signal for penalizing the suffering party, for, even if such party provides substitute tonnage through chartering, purchase, or any other way, and immediately re-enters the trade, it cannot again participate except to the extent of 50 per cent."

After telling in detail of the war clause that he had offered as a substitute, Mr. Clegg said:

"Twenty years is a long period, and reasons of the heart, of policy, of revenue, might make this enforced catering to the German export and import trade, under certain conditions, decidedly irksome.

"My argument seemed to entirely convince Mr. Harriman and the other Directors, but, after an interview with the German Directors, at which I was not permitted to be present, my efforts went for nothing, and Harriman flatly stated that, as he had given his word to the Germans, it was useless to discuss the matter further."

As Admiral Benson of the Shipping Board has been quoted as stating that he most "whole heartedly" approved of the contract between the Harriman interests and the Hamburg-American Line, opinion in shipping circles yesterday was that a "show-down" by the Government was about due.

Mr. Clegg's charges not only were taken as a reflection on the wisdom of the Harriman interests, but also as a challenge to the perspicuity of the Shipping Board.

"Germany got much the better of the bargain," says Mr. Clegg, not in those exact words, but to that general effect.

Japan to Cut Siberian Force; Influenced by Our Stand

TOKIO, Sept. 12.—The Japanese garrison at Khabarovsk, Eastern Siberia, will be withdrawn to Saghalien Island, according to the newspapers, which also report that the Japanese troops in Siberia will be reduced from three to two divisions in accordance with the policy of gradual evacuation.

The Kokumin Shimbun attributes the reduction in the forces, first, to the opposition to American occupation; second, the necessity for a reduction of expenses, and, third, to the anti-Japanese feeling in Siberia.

MACLEOD MET END IN WANDERING FIT

Clergyman's Son Disappeared from Grandmother's Home, Telegram to Father Tells.

Tragedy Ends Long Affliction with Amnesia, Beginning in Camp in 1918.

Henry Blakeley MacLeod, who was drowned near Eldon, Prince Edward Island, off the Canadian coast, met death while in another of his wandering fits. This was made known to his father, the Rev. Dr. Malcolm James MacLeod, pastor of the Collegiate Reformed Church of St. Nicholas, Fifth Avenue and Forty-eighth Street, in telegrams which reached the MacLeod home yesterday. Young MacLeod, who was visiting his grandmother at Eldon, disappeared from her home three days before his body was washed ashore. His disappearance was as sudden as that from Camp Merritt in June, 1918, which led to a long search both in this country and France.

A search made for him at Eldon resulted in the discovery of his lifeless form. Young MacLeod was an excellent swimmer, and although no details have been learned as to the manner of his drowning, there is a surmise that he may have attempted to swim toward the mainland and been overcome. He once swam the St. Lawrence River in the year and three-quarters which elapsed between his disappearance from Camp Merritt, at Tenafly, N. J., and his discovery last March in the jail in Virginia, where he had been placed for walking on a railroad track.

Dr. and Mrs. MacLeod were both too overcome to see any one yesterday. They have with them Dr. and Mrs. Henry Stoever of Chester, Pa., brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. MacLeod. Dr. MacLeod and Dr. Stoever, who is one of the best known physicians in Pennsylvania, married sisters.

The preacher yesterday at the Church of St. Nicholas was the Rev. Dr. Charles R. Brown, dean of the Yale Divinity School, New Haven, Conn. He prayed fervently for Dr. and Mrs. MacLeod, Miss Jean MacLeod, the sister, and Malcolm James MacLeod, Jr.

Thus far only brief telegrams told of the tragedy. The MacLeods are expecting a letter today giving all the details. Besides his grandmother, two sisters of Dr. MacLeod live at the Eldon home.

"We have placed the body in the family burial ground of his forefathers," said one of the messages received at the home of Dr. and Mrs. MacLeod, 151 Central Park West. Because the burial has already taken place, Dr. and Mrs. MacLeod did not leave for Prince Edward Island, but they have decided to make the trip there a little later.

Physicians who made a special study of MacLeod's case seem to agree that the sudden change from his home to Company M of the Forty-ninth Infantry brought on the amnesia from which ever since he had suffered. The lad was a sort of human "hot house plant" who volunteered while a student in Princeton University, 18 years old.

Young MacLeod disappeared from Camp Merritt two days before his company went to Camp Upton. He has told since that he has no recollection of leaving the camp or of anything he did in between for many weeks. The first time he came to himself was after he swam the St. Lawrence. He told of going into a great mill and toiling day in and day out for many weeks.

When at his home he showed great powers of memory. He would spend a few moments reading over a daily report of the Stock Exchange and for the rest of that day he could give exact quotations on the stock market to the most minute detail.

After he was found in Virginia he was for a time in a Government hospital at Washington. Then he received an honorable discharge from the army.

Dr. MacLeod took his son to Prince Edward Island early in the Summer and remained with him until ten days ago.

FIGHTS WARD'S CANDIDATE.

Sutherland, in Westchester, Opposes Werner for Sheriff.

Special to The New York Times.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Sept. 12.—A challenge to William L. Ward as leader of the Republican Party in Westchester County is seen by many Republicans in the candidacy for the Republican nomination for Sheriff of Under Sheriff Robert Ferguson of Yonkers, supported by Leslie Sutherland, Republican leader of Yonkers and former Mayor of that city. He is opposed by George Werner of Rye, Ward's home, and is endorsed by Ward, who is Chairman of the Republican County Committee and a member of the Republican National Committee. Other candidates also are in the running.

The candidacy of the two men has caused a split in the usually solid Republican ranks in Westchester, many of Ward's opponents declaring that the main fight is against him. In turn his supporters declare that no Republican ever before had opposed the candidate designated by the County Committee, and they deny that it has been precedent to give the nomination to the Under Sheriff. Ulrich Wiesendanger, ex-Sheriff, charges that Werner, who has been Chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, received the designation because he aided in a fight to reduce the pay of District Attorney Lee Parsons Davis, an independent Republican nominated in face of Ward's opposition.

Sutherland, who is said to be slated by his friends to succeed Ward as leader of the committees, is Vice President of the Third Avenue Railway Company of New York.

LUNN CHALLENGES WALKER

Calls Upon Lieutenant Governor to Explain Position on League.

Lieut. Gov. Harry C. Walker, organization candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, was charged last night with evading the League of Nations issue by Mayor George R. Lunn of Schenectady, who is opposing him for the nomination. Mr. Lunn called upon Lieut. Gov. Walker to make public his position on the League in the following telegram:

"You have steadfastly failed to make any statement regarding your stand on vital national issues. Enrolled Democrats of New York have the right to know where you stand before casting their ballots at the primaries on Tuesday.

"There are Democrats opposed to the League of Nations who are led to believe by your silence on the League issue that you are opposed to it and for that reason expect to support you. It has come to my attention that within the last few days you have pledged yourself to support the League. Do you not consider yourself in honor bound to make a public statement to the effect that you are so pledged, as well as giving your position on other vital national matters concerned with the coming campaign?"

Greek Advance Is Checked.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 9.—The unexpected resistance of the Turks has halted the Greek advance in the region of Askichbeker. The French and Italians are also reported to oppose any further Greek advance in this area.

Plot to Kill Obregon, Calles and Gen. Hill Said to Have Been Unearthed in This Country

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 12.—A plot to assassinate General Alvaro Obregon, President-elect of the Republic of Mexico, and Generals Elias Calles, Francisco Serrano and Benjamin Hill has been unearthed in the United States, according to an announcement made here last night in Mexican circles friendly to Obregon.

It was stated that a prominent Mexican, friendly to the President-elect, left San Antonio today for Mexico City to warn General Obregon and the other three Generals of the plot.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—Rebel forces headed by General Felipe Pineda have seized the town of San Cristobal, in the State of Chiapas, according to advices received at the War Department. General Elias Calles, Secretary of War, declared last evening, however, that the movement would soon be crushed. Government troops to the number of 8,000 will be used in the campaign. There is no indication that the rebellious movement is spreading, the Secretary declared.

Bertie C. Johnson, the British subject whose recapture by the Jalisco bandit, Pedro Zamora, was reported yesterday, has not regained his liberty, as far as known. Advices from Guadalajara state that Johnson, who had escaped from Zamora, was again made captive by Colonel José Covarribias, Zamora's chief lieutenant in the State of Jalisco.

Petitions from Socialists asking for the right to establish a soviet university in this city have been rejected by Provisional President De la Huerta, who took this action on the ground that the institution would be a political school and used for the dissemination of Bolshevist doctrines.

HOUSING REMEDIES TO BE HEARD TODAY

Trade and Realty Men to Consider Real Estate Board's Program.

WILL GO TO LEGISLATURE

Chief Features of Plan Are Rent Law Amendments and Tax Exemption of Mortgages.

Representatives of trade and realty organizations will meet today in the rooms of the Real Estate Board, 217 Broadway, to consider the board's program of housing legislation to be presented to the special session of the Legislature called by Governor Smith for Sept. 20. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Richard O. Chittick, Executive Secretary of the board.

Among the organizations whose cooperation the board is seeking are the following: The Merchants Association, Building Trades Employers' Association, Building Managers' Association, Brooklyn Board of Real Estate Brokers, Long Island Real Estate Exchange, Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests, Investing Builders' Association, Chamber of Commerce of Queens, Committee of Apartment House Owners and Builders, Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, Hotel Men's Association, Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, Broadway Association, and New York State Association of Real Estate Boards.

According to Mr. Chittick, the main purpose of the Real Estate Board and of the organizations whose co-operation it has asked will be to present to Governor Smith and the Legislature a program that will help to stabilize rents as well as mitigate the bad features of the April rent laws and remove as far as possible the existing obstacles to the production of new housing.

The outstanding features of the board's program include amendment to the rent laws which will not discourage building and ownership of multi-family houses; total exemption of the interest on mortgages from the provisions of the Income Tax law and the memorialization of Congress for the same purpose; authorization of the State Controller to invest surplus revenues and public funds in the securities of the State Land Bank; sensible amendments to the Tenement House law which would provide for the proper utilization of three and four story dwellings; priority shipment of building material to builders and coal to concerns manufacturing building material; licensing of real estate brokers so as to correct such evils as may flow from acts of irresponsible brokers.

At the meeting today every new proposal will be thoroughly considered and an effort will be made to secure entire unanimity on all those having merit and which will aid in solving the housing problem.

A careful study of the housing problem has been made by the Committee on Housing and Rent of the Republican Club of the Twenty-third Assembly District. The study, in the form of a petition and report, has been submitted to the State Legislature Housing Committee.

As a result of conferences with thousands of tenants the committee made the following suggestions:

"1. The burden of establishing the reasonableness of any increase in rent shall be placed on the landlord. As the law now stands the tenant has the burden of proof when the increase is above 25 per cent. Except in unusual cases, the tenant is incapable of making the necessary proof. The facts are peculiarly within the knowledge of the landlord and the existing law permits him to remain silent. As a result plain injustice results in innumerable cases, and the present laws, in practical effect, have become a license to landlords to exact increases of 25 per cent. in rent regardless of the circumstances or justification therefor.

"2. A statute should be enacted compelling all landlords, lessees or persons having the management, care or control of tenement or apartment house property to file with the appropriate local authority in the place where the property is located a particularized statement of (a) the gross and net rentals derived therefrom, (b) the operating expenses thereof, (c) the actual incumbrances thereon, (d) the actual consideration given or paid therefor, (e) the names, business and residence addresses of the actual, beneficial owners thereof, and (f) if the owner be a corporation, the same information in respect to the actual bona fide stockholders therein, together with the amount of their holdings and the date of the acquirement thereof.

"3. A statute should be enacted requiring all persons engaged in the management, care or superintendence of tenement or apartment house property to procure licenses from some appropriate official or body and prohibiting all unlicensed persons from engaging in any of these activities, as well as providing for the issuance and revocation of such licenses.

"4. Chapter 131 of the laws of this year should be amended so that its prohibition shall fall, not upon the lessor alone as now, but upon every agent, manager, superintendent, or janitor as well, who is guilty of willful interference with the tenant's rights; and it should be further amended so as expressly to apply to the furnishing of hot water, and be broadened so as to apply to every service of facility to which the tenant is entitled.

"5. The Code of Civil Procedure should be amended so as to authorize the Appellate Term (or a Justice of the Supreme Court when the Appellate Term is not sitting) to grant a stay of the warrant upon proper terms as to security, &c., where an appeal is taken by the tenant from a final order in hold-over proceedings.

"6. The right to bring hold-over proceedings should be narrowly limited where tenement or apartment house property is involved. More than ninety per cent. of the hold-over proceedings gave for their real object nothing but the collection of a larger rent.

"7. Stays for more than a year should be authorized.

"8. Section 5 of Chapter 137 of the laws of this year should be amended so as not to require of the tenant, as a condition of granting him a stay, payment at least 'at the rate to which he was liable as rent for the month immediately prior to the expiration of his term.'

"9. The law should be amended so as to negative the judicial misconstructions thereof which are brought to the attention of the Legislature. Otherwise it will be claimed that the Legislature, in failing to change the statutes so as to meet these errors, approved and accepted them.

"10. The law should be amended so as to abolish the rotation of Municipal Court Justices and require them to sit only in the district from which they were elected, except in special cases.

"11. A rent commission should be appointed, with plenary power over the whole situation."

FIND BRITAIN PREY TO LABOR AGITATORS

English Business Men, Arriving by the Caronia, Call Outlook Dark.

PRIEST TELLS OF MIRACLES

Reports Seeing Well of Healing and Bleeding Statues in Irish Cottage.

English business men arriving yesterday on the Cunarder Caronia from Liverpool were pessimistic regarding general conditions in their country and said a strike of coal miners would be serious. Miners, they said, were led by agitators like Smillie and Snowden, exponents of direct action, which was nothing more than Soviet government under another name.

While the families of the soldiers who were fighting and dying for their country in France were going without sugar, butter, eggs, milk, meat and other commodities during the war, the Government supplied the miners with meat, ham, pork, bacon, butter, cheese, sugar, fruit, vegetables, &c., without stint, and even had Canterbury lamb brought from New Zealand for them, it was declared. The passengers added that the Government was too weak to deal with the agitators and the only hope for England was in a general election and a united effort of the middle classes to get together to save the country.

Colonel Henry Breckenridge of Lexington, Ky., ex-Assistant Secretary of War, returned on the Caronia from Antwerp, where he competed in the Olympic games as a member of the American fencing team, which finished third.

Deplores Conditions in Europe.

"The chaos in Central Europe today is a greater menace to civilization than the German militarism during the war," said Colonel Breckenridge, "and the co-operation of the United States is needed more now than it was then. When we do go in to help we cannot go in any half-hearted manner. Half-hearted efforts at this time would avail just as much as half-hearted efforts would have availed at the time we went into the war. Europe must have our help to recover. What the United States must do is to salvage civilization in Europe."

When asked about the reported friction between Americans and the Allies, Colonel Breckenridge said:

"Whatever superficial points of irritation exist, there is a foundation of lasting sympathy between the United States, France and England."

There were eleven Catholic priests on board, returning from a visit to Ireland, where they said that they had seen the miracles and the bleeding statues at Templemore, which is seventy-nine miles from Dublin. The Rev. Father J. Dawson Byrne of Beresford, S. D., who was born and educated in this country and ordained in Chicago, discussed his visit to Templemore on Sept. 2, 3 and 4.

"The place where all these miracles have been performed," said Father Byrne, "is in a bedroom of a small thatched cottage, where the Blessed Virgin appeared to James Welch, a poor boy 17 years old, on July 2 and told him to dig a small round hole in the earthen floor of his sleeping room, which would become a well for healing the sick, the lame and the blind. He told me that the Holy Mother had appeared to him in visions several times during June, but he had been afraid to mention it until he was convinced that it was his duty to do so after making the well. When he had made the hole, about the size of a small washing basin, he said the Blessed Virgin passed her hand around the rim and the water began to flow, and it has been kept filled ever since.

Says He Saw Statues Bleed.

"The next demonstration was on Aug. 14, when the statues in his room began to bleed. I saw blood coming from the mouth of the statue of the Holy Mother and blood from the eyes of the statue of the Saviour. When I was at Templemore pilgrims were arriving there at the rate of 30,000 a day from all parts of Great Britain. I saw an Irish soldier who had his leg withered away to the bone from a wound received in the war walk away from the cottage after having the limb anointed with the blessed water. The lad, James Welch, followed him and advised him not to throw away his iron plate for three days.

"Outside the cottage there are piles of crutches left by pilgrims who have had the use of their limbs restored to them. Blind people who had to be led to the shrine walked away without assistance, as their sight had been restored. The small well will never be empty, as it was blessed by the Holy Mother and the water will flow forever. Templemore is close to the place where the present fighting with the Sinn Feiners started."

The priests said that conditions in Ireland were becoming worse every day and they did not know what would happen there if Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork died in his English prison.

Among the thirty-six first cabin passengers who landed from the Caronia at Halifax were W. H. Smith, President of the New York Central Railroad, and F. W. Baldwin, who recently crossed the Atlantic from Cape Breton to Cowes, Isle of Wight, in a 35-foot motor boat.

Japanese Premier Refuses Peerage.

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—Premier Takashi Hara has declined a peerage in connection with the court bestowal of peace honors upon Japanese statesmen, it is said today in official circles. The Premier is reported to have said he preferred to keep his seat in the House of Representatives as a commoner and retain active leadership of the Seiyukai Party.

The New York Times regrets the omission today of 12 columns of advertisements.

Bolshevist Brigade, Including Staff, Reported Captured in Ekaterinoslav Province.

POLES ADVANCE IN SOUTH

Occupy More Villages in the Region of Brest-Litovsk and Also Southeast of Lemberg.

SEBASTOPOL, Sept. 10.—The battle for possession of Taurida ended in the total defeat of the Bolsheviki.

Military observers say that a new element has been introduced in Russian warfare by General Wrangel, namely strategy carried out by disciplined troops. They also say that Wrangel's front now is expected to be stationary unless the Bolsheviki bring up reinforcements from the remnants of their armies on the Polish fronts.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A Constantinople dispatch says General Wrangel reports severe fighting near Pologhi, in the Province of Ekaterinoslav, where an entire Bolshevist brigade, including the staff, has been captured.

On the other hand, an official Russian report received in Berlin speaks of the occupation of newly fortified positions on the Bug River and the almost total destruction of the forces of General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevist leader.

The dispatch adds that the Poles have retreated near Brest-Litovsk before a new Russian offensive.

The Rumanian Government has replied to the Russian Soviet's peace proposal, according to a Moscow wireless message received here, stating that Rumania desires restoration of friendly relations between Rumania and Russia and promises shortly to inform the Soviet Government of its views as to ing between the two countries.

WARSAW, Sept. 11.—The Poles have extended their lines southeast of Brest-Litovsk along the Kovel Railroad and have occupied Wielkoryta, Maloroypa and Mielniki after some fighting. The Bolsheviki in attacking the Poles in this sector used nine armored cars, which were captured, according to today's official communication. Eighty drunken Reds also were captured during the action.

Southeast of Lemberg Polish cavalry, co-operating with the Ukrainians, advanced and occupied Burszeyn, Bukaczowce and Nastaszyn.

The communication does not mention the Lithuanian sector.

The newspapers today publish the following order signed by Chief of Staff Rozwadowski and addressed to the commands of all the armies:

"Headquarters is informed from various sources of complaints referring to bad treatment by our troops of Jews in localities retaken from the enemy.

"Though it is a fact that a part of the Jewish population during the time of the Bolshevist invasion has been hostile against our State and has supported the enemy, we cannot consider as guilty all Jews, some of whom, especially the Orthodox, were even patriotic.

"The command of all the armies will immediately take steps in order to stop all excesses toward the Jewish population. It is absolutely forbidden to attempt mass revenge for the guilt of an individual and, if it happens, then the guilty must be tried.

"Orders will be especially issued immediately to the commands of the Second and Fourth Armies in the Wyszkow and Sokolov districts, where we are informed that troops have committed excesses."

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—Press dispatches today from Verkhne-Udinsk indicate the anti-Bolshevist movement in Western Siberia is spreading and the 6,000 men in Magyar regiments of the Soviet guard have joined the movement in Perm Province.

PEACE DELEGATES OFF TO RIGA

Poles Going to Meet Bolsheviki, Who Already Have Left Warsaw.

WARSAW, Sept. 12.—The conference between the Poles and the Bolsheviki at Riga will begin Sept. 18 or Sept. 20, according to the understanding here. The Soviet delegates left Moscow Friday and the Polish delegation is planning to depart within a few days. At present it is expected they will leave Tuesday or Wednesday, proceeding by boat from Danzig.

The personnel of the delegation is virtually the same as that which went to Minsk. Prince Sapieha, Minister of Foreign Affairs, may accompany the delegation, but it is understood that M. Dombski will continue as its President.

WOMAN HAS COUGHLIN CLUE.

Telephones Police She Has Information in Kidnapping Case.

A woman, who said she was Miss Kathleen Keenan, the former wife of a United States Secret Service man, telephoned to Police Headquarters in Jersey City from her home at 7 St. James Place, Brooklyn, last night, and asked the Desk Lieutenant whether Blakely Coughlin, 13 months old when he was kidnapped from his crib in his parents' Summer home at Morristown, Pa., had been found. The Lieutenant replied that to the best of his knowledge the child had not been found up to last night.

"I'd be very glad to have a detective visit me at my home. I may have some information of value in the case," the voice said. The name and address was recorded and the Jersey City police communicated with the police of this city.

A TIMES reporter found her, however, at 7 St. James Place, a rooming house, late last night.

"I want to see this crime solved and those guilty punished. I have been very much interested in the Coughlin case and believe I have some information that will lead directly to its solution," Miss Keenan declared.

She was an unwilling witness, however, when pressed for details as to her "information," saying that she wished to tell her story to the police, a representative of the Coughlin family or Mr. and Mrs. George H. Coughlin themselves. It developed that she based her suspicions upon the fact that two women in whose apartment she had noticed the sleeve of a baby's dress moved to other quarters when she mentioned the Coughlin kidnapping case to them.

At Brooklyn Police Headquarters it was said that a detective would have been sent to discuss the case with Miss Keenan last night if she had not told the Jersey City police that she would not be at home until this morning. Headquarters was attempting at a late hour to get in touch with detectives who had been working on the case, considering them best fitted to judge whether thhe story told by Miss Keenan should be followed up.

AID EARTHQUAKE VICTIMS.

American Volunteers Feed and Clothe Hundreds of Children.

The earthquake in Italy has left hundreds of children and babies homeless, without food, and many of them orphans. These unfortunate children are being cared for largely by the American Free Milk and Relief for Italy which has rushed food and clothing to the devastated districts, according to a cable received at the headquarters of the organization here yesterday.

Nurses and volunteer workers trained in the care of infants have been sent into the field and from motor trucks and temporary relief stations they are giving every possible aid to the little victims, not only by distributing food and clothing but by providing shelter when possible.

Mrs. John A. Drake, President of the organization, now on her way to Italy, is scheduled to arrive today and it is expected she will take personal charge of the relief work.

Pittsburgh Off the Rocks, Steams Toward Libau Harbor

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The United States cruiser Pittsburgh, which went aground on the rocks off Libau on the west coast of the Baltic on Thursday morning, was successfully floated yesterday and was making her way into the harbor of Libau, the Navy Department was informed today in a dispatch from Vice Admiral Huse.

The department was advised that the cruiser was able to draw clear of the rocks under her own power and with the aid of such small craft and lighters as were in the vicinity.

Admiral Huse recommended to the Navy Department that the officers and men of the Pittsburgh be especially commended for the hard and successful efforts they had made to float the cruiser. The department has not yet been advised as to the full extent of the damage done the vessel.

According to Admiral Huse's message, the Pittsburgh was proceeding to Libau under her own power.

SUBSIDY OF SOVIET STOPS TRADE PARLEY

London Times Declares It Has Wrecked Work of the Bolshevist Mission.

CONFERENCE PLAN ENDS

Lloyd George Refuses to Continue Arrangement, Charging Breach of Promise.

LONDON, Monday, Sept. 13.—The Times this morning says the Russian Soviet Government's placing of £75,000 of "Bolshevist gold" in the hands of The Herald, the labor organ, has temporarily wrecked the work of the Bolshevist Commercial Mission in London at a moment when Leonid Krassin and Leo Kameneff, the Commissioners, had high hopes of immediate results.

Krassin and Kameneff, says the Times, had an appointment with Premier Lleoyd George on Friday afternoon for the purpose of notifying him of the progress of certain trade negotiations and the prospects of establishing trade relations. But on arriving at Downing Street, the Premier's official residence, they were politely informed that the Herald's announcement that it had in its possession the Soviet gold had entirely altered the situation and that until it was explained it would be impossible to deal with any other subjects, in view of the undertaking given some time ago that, while the mission was in this country, no propaganda should be attempted.

In the course of the interview, which lasted three hours, Kressen assured the Premier that he and Kameneff were ignorant of the Bolshevist offer to the Herald, and Kameneff said he was returning on Saturday to Moscow, where he would consult his colleagues concerning the offer. Meantime, says the Times, the activity of the Soviet mission has been suspended.

According to The Herald's version of the interview between the Soviet Commissioners and Mr. Lloyd George, the Premier "fiercely attacked Kamaneff for alleged breaches of faith regarding implied obligations not to interfere in British internal policies." Mr. Lloyd George, the newspaper adds, charged Kameneff with disposing of Russian precious stones in Great Britain, of being instrumental in giving The Herald £75,000, of having relations with the Labor Council of Action, and of deliberately misrepresenting to the British Government the Russian terms for an armistice with Poland.

Mr. Lloyd George, according to The Herald, expressly dissociated Krassin from these charges, but he intimated that Kameneff could not be trusted and also that if Kameneff had not been returning to Russia on his own initiative he would have been asked to leave the country.

Some of the morning newspapers assert that Kameneff will not be allowed to return to England.

MEXICO CITY PARTLY DRY.

President Bans Liquor on Saturdays and Sundays.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—President de la Huerta has ordered the closing of saloons and cabarets in Mexico City on Saturdays and Sundays. Late Saturday evening the restaurants, hotels and clubs were notified that they could not serve liquor even with meals, and today, for the first time in history, Mexico City and the Federal District were absolutely "dry."

Restaurants were crowded with diners when the order came. Natives took the order quietly, but foreigners, mostly American, raised a great outcry.

This step of the President is taken to mean a step toward prohibition for the whole republic.

During the automobile races this afternoon an automobile skidded at a turn, crashed through a fence and killed five spectators.

President-elect Obregon is expected to arrive in Mexico City on Monday and his followers have arranged a big demonstration.

Survivors Reach Ismid After Wandering for Forty Days.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 12.—Fifteen hundred refugees have arrived in Ismid, Asia Minor, from the village of Kirazli, after having wandered for forty days in the wilderness and the unchartered valleys of the mountains at the mercy of bandits.

They report having lost one thousand persons by starvation and other privations.

BARCELONA BEATS H. C. OF L.

Deportee Would Return to $7 a Week Expenses with Wine and Beer

Two American deportees, William R. Oldham of 1,494 Liberty Street, Santa Clara, Cal., and David J. Bureau of Hogansburg, N. Y., arrived penniless yesterday from Barcelona on the Spanish liner C. Lopez y Lopez. Oldham said he was a machinist and was working in a cash register factory in Barcelona when arrested without cause and deported despite the protests of his employer and the United States Consul.

Oldham said that out of his weekly wages of $20 he spent only $7 to live comfortably, this amount including expenditures for beer and wine. He added that he wanted to go back there again.

The machinist said there were thousands of discharged American soldiers working in France and Spain who were having a good time and enjoying life. Bureau, it was admitted, had been in trouble with the police in Barcelona and was arrested on a charge of assault. The men said they would protest to the Secretary of State against their treatment by the Spanish Government. The liner brought seventy-four cabin and 236 steerage passengers.

STRIKING MINERS THREATEN VIOLENCE

Insurgents Said to Plan Reign of Terror in Anthracite Field.

SIX HOMES DYNAMITED

Some Workers Vote to Return, Expecting Order After Policy Committee Meeting Today.

MINERS HAVE NEW WAGE PLAN

Workmen Prepare for Long and Studied Campaign to Obtain Higher Pay.

Special to The New York Times.

WILKES-BARRE, Sept. 12.—Developments of last night indicated the return of more miners to work tomorrow. Meetings were held by miners employed by the Henry Colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company at Plains and in Broderick's local union. Both groups voted to go back to work tomorrow morning. Pittston miners will meet tomorrow night to vote to return. They will endeavor to resume operations and place their grievances in union hands, despite the reign of terror that is said to have been decided on to prevent a return to work at the Pennsylvania Coal Company collieries which have been tied up two months.

Disorderly conditions in the Pittston section are becoming worse and men who would like to return to the mines openly charge that strikers have tried to intimidate them by threatening to blow up the homes of all workers.

The Pennsylvania strike is considered the keystone of the situation, since it was the miners of the company who struck first. Within the last two weeks the homes of six contractors and miners have been dynamited, one railroad track wrecked and a mine motor badly damaged by powder explosions.

Dynamite was exploded last night at 10 o'clock in the rear of Russell Williams's apartment building at 106 South Main Street, Pittston, where a suite of rooms is occupied by Steve Latoro, one of the contractors of the Pennsylvania Company. Latoro is a brother-in-law of Sam Luchino, a detective, who was murdered soon after the strike started. He is a son of Samuel Latoro of 175 Railroad Street, Pittston, whose home was dynamited one week ago.

Other miners whose homes have been dynamited are Michael Condosco, John Booth, George Memory and Frank Agosta. The railroad track demolished was that of the Pine Ridge Colliery of the D. & H. Company.

If the meeting of the policy committee of the United Mine Workers at Hazleton tomorrow morning decides to favor a return of all miners to work, rather than a repudiation of contract, there will begin in the anthracite coal fields a reorganization of all workers to conform with a plan for seeking higher wages when the next agreement expires.

They are not telling what this plan is, but it seems that the present situation is making the miners realize that, like fighters, they cannot enter the ring without long and careful training. So, consoling themselves with the thought that they have only eighteen months to wait, the men of District 1 are returning in large numbers. Their officials express the belief that the policy committee will favor a return of all miners to work in accordance with their contract.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 12.—According to reports around Mine Workers' Headquarters today, the "Vacation" movement, so far as it concerns Lackawanna County, will soon be a thing of the past. The indications are that many of the men now out will resume work the coming week. This change of front is due to the an announcement of union leaders that there was a good chance of securing additional concessions, providing the men returned to work and kept their agreement to accept the decision of the commission.

DENY CABLE TO CALGARY.

British Laborites Contradict Story of Appeal.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Monday, Sept. 13.—A Reuter telegram from Calgary says the delegates of the "one big union" will appoint a committee to consider the answer to the telegram from Smillie favoring simultaneous action to bring about a strike on Sept. 28.

Interviewed by THE NEW YORK TIMES representative at Portsmouth tonight, Smillie said he knew nothing about the alleged telegram and added, "No such telegram has been sent by me."

Timothy Healey, Secretary of the American Stationary Engineers' Society, who has been attending the trade union congress, said: "It would surprise me if Smillie had communicated with this body. I certainly heard nothing about the telegram and had it been sent I very probably should know."

FLETCHERS COMING HERE.

Didn't Run Away, Just Got Lost, Miss Fletcher Says.

Special to The New York Times.

CLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 12.—Louisa Fletcher, whose sudden disappearance from here and discovery as a farm hand at Ipswich, created such a stir in the Summer colony, left for New York tonight with her mother. There she will meet her father and later enter the art school at Cramercy Park, to continue her studies under Miss Felicia Howell, whose class she attended here this Summer.

"I saw the dory while painting on the beach, and it looked so inviting I just rigged myself out like a boy and started out," Miss Fletcher said today. "I had no idea where I was going or of staying any length of time.

"I didn't run away at all, and wouldn't have stayed away overnight if I hadn't got lost."

THIEVES ENTER REGAN HOME

Get $3,000 Loot, the Property of Former Owner of Knickerbocker.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 12.—Burglars last night entered the home of James B. Regan, former proprietor of the Hotel Knickerbocker in New York, at Westfield Beach last night and stole more than $3,000 worth of silverware, linen and jewelry. Mr. and Mrs. Regan are in Paris, but James B. Regan, Jr., and his wife, formerly Alice Joyce, motion picture actress, were at home while the men were looting the house.

Hearing a commotion on the second floor, Mr. Regan jumped out of bed and pulled an electric alarm to awaken servants in another house. The servants slept on, but two dogs began to bark in the lower part of the house and the burglars fled. Mr. Regan ran out of the house in pursuit, but the men escaped before the police answered his call for help.

YANKS HAVE MERRY TIME WITH DETROIT

New York Bats Work Overtime Against Quartet of Pitchers in Opening Game.

FINAL FIGURES ARE 13-6

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Sept. 12.—The Yankee bats played a tune to a quartet of Detroit pitchers this afternoon that sounded like an intermezzo by the Fuller Construction Company. The New Yorkers sent the Tigers to a 13 to 6 defeat under a rataplan of fourteen hits, which included five two-baggers into the overflow crowd, and two home runs that sailed above the field fans and into the bleachers. Ayres, Boland and Morrisette all got a taste of Yank hitting, and Babe Ruth was foot weary from walking. He ambled four times and didn't get a hit.

The Yanks were frightened into action after the Bengals hammered Carl Mays out of the box in the first inning. Detroit rolled up four runs on Carl before he departed. The sting of being defeated by a club in seventh place in the league race scared the Yanks into activity and they began to speed up in the third and rushed out in front and stayed there.

There was a remarkable turnout of fans at Navin Park. The crowd was so big that every bit of space was occupied. The fans completely surrounded the playing field and the outfielders were just at the edge of the crowd. Manager Hughey Jennings himself acted as master of ceremonies and helped the police keep the crowd under control. The throng was one of the largest ever gathered at a ball game here. It was estimated at over 30,000.

Mays Receives Ovation.

There was a slight evidence of a demonstration against Carl Mays when he went out to pitch in the first inning. Jeers and hisses swept through the stand, but it lasted only a minute or two when it gave way to an outburst of applause which completely smothered the attempt to embarrass the Yankee flinger. The crowd was sincere, too, in its rally to Mays's support, for when he was pounded out of the box and walked with head bowed forward to the bench there was an outburst of hand-clapping which was so spontaneous that Carl had to wave his hand and bow his acknowledgment to the tribute. The hooters were lost in the shuffle.

Rip Collins, the rip-roarer from the cowpunchers' country in the Southwest, succeeded Mays and held the Tigers in check right up to the end, giving them an occasional run or two, because it didn't make any difference to the Yanks.

Collins fanned Ty Cobb in the fifth and Ty was fit to be tied. Rip had control and speed and benders to boot and had the hard hitting junglers swinging like the old bell in the church steeple.

While Ruth didn't make a hit, because they wouldn't pitch him anything he could reach with a fish pole, he decorated the game with the most marvelous catch of the pastime. In the second inning he rushed back and got Bob Veach's smash just before it was going into the crowd. Babe was running along with the ball when he reached over his shoulder and nipped it. Very delicatish.

Veach Makes a Double.

Young greeted Mays in the first with a two-bagger into the right field crowd. Bush sacrificed and Cobb's single to right sent Young to Third. Veach doubled into the right field crowd. Both this fly and Young's previous bang to the same place would have been easy catches for Meusel on an open field. Heilman doubled to the centre field crowd, scoring Cobb and Veach. Shorten's single scored Heilman. Mays was served with an eviction process and Rip Collins went to the mound. Pinelli tickled Rip for a single. The Yanks ended the uprising with a double play, Stanage rolling to Collins, who chucked to Ward. Ward forced Shorten and Stanage was double at first.

With one out in the second Meusel singled to centre and Lewis walked. Ward smacked a terrific drive to right centre which would have been a home run if it had not been limited to two bases by the crowd. Cobb was nowhere near the ball. Meusel scored on the drive. Ward then executed a stupid bit of base running and spoiled all chances for any more scoring. Hannah hit a short fly over short and Ward ran to third. Bush went back and made the catch, doubling Ward at second.

The Yanks tore loose in the third and hurdled into the lead. Collins was called out on strikes and Peck walked. Wallie Pipp whaled a home run into the right-field bleachers, sending Peck on ahead of him. Ruth tried to do the same thing, but was fooled by a slow ball on the outside and Young threw him out at first. With two down the fusillade was resumed in all its fury. Pratt and Meusel both singled to centre and Duffy Lewis sent them both home when he hit a home run into the right-field bleachers. Ward smashed a double to the crowd in left centre and Dauss was yanked out of the game, Doc Ayres going to the box. The satisfying session came to a close when Hannah lifted to Bush. Nine Yanks went to the bat that inning. It doesn't seem enough.

Rip Starts Double Play.

With one gone in the fifth Rip Collins got himself into a heap of trouble and got himself right out of it again. After he struck Cobb out and Ty had jawed his way to the bench, Rip hit Veach and Heilman walked. Shorten got an infield hit and filled the bases. It looked bad for Rip, but wait. Pinelli slapped a hopper at the cowboy at a mile a minute. Rip knocked the ball down, threw to Hannah, forcing Veach, while Truck got the ball to Pipp in time to double Pinelli.

More Yank runs flowed over in the sixth. Hannah singled and was forced by Collins. Peck singled to centre, sending Rip to third. Peck took second when Cobb made a wild toss to third. Pipp sent a sacrifice fly to Cobb. Ruth walked and Pratt doubled to the left field crowd, scoring Peck. Ruth and Pratt tallied on Meusel's double to left.

Stanage walked in the sixth and Hale, batting for Ayres, skied to Ruth. Young walked and was forced by Bush. Cobb's single to right scored Stanage.

Both Pipp and Ruth walked in the eighth and Pratt sacrificed. Meusel rolled to Bush and as Ruth was being disposed of between second and third, Pipp scored. In the Tigers' eighth Young singled, Bush walked and Cobb filled the bases when he got an infield hit to Pipp. There was a race for the bag between Collins, who took the throw, and Cobb, and Cobb got the decision. Veach fanned and Young scored on Heilman's sacrifice fly.

And Still They Come.

There were two Yanks out of the way in the ninth, when Collins walked. Peck's two-bagger sent him to third and both runners scored on Pipp's single to centre.

The crowd howled for Morrisette to let Ruth hit the ball. The pitcher sent one right over the middle of the dish. Ruth took an almighty swing at it and the ball went foul far outside of the park. Morrisette wouldn't give him another like that and Ruth walked for the fourth time. The crowd booed the pitcher.

WILL POST A. L. SCORES.

Polo Grounds Board to Follow Progress of Yankees' Rivals.

Recognizing the great interest being taken by New York fans in the American League pennant race, President Charles A. Stoneham of the New York Giants has arranged for the posting of scores at the Polo Grounds daily showing how all the contenders in the American League are progressing. It has been customary for several years to give scores by innings of all National League games and also the Yankees' scores, when the Giants are at home, and scores of all American League games and of the Giants when the Yanks are here. For the remainder of the season the usual National League scores will be posted, also the scores of games played by the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox. A special board is being arranged and it will be in operation at the Polo Grounds today.

HOMERS WIN FOR RED SOX.

Circuit Hits by Hooper and Menosky in Eighth Beat Browns, 9-7.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.—Home runs by Hooper and Menosky broke a tie in the eighth inning and gave Boston a 9 to 7 victory over St. Louis in the opening game of the series here today. Boston drove Deberry from the box in the fourth inning and also hit Vangilder freely. Hoyt's wildness forced his retirement in the seventh, and Bush held the locals safe the rest of the way.

Curves and Bingles

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Sept. 12.—By doing some winning themselves yesterday the Indians managed to hang on to first place by a wish and a whisper.

Babe Ruth's band from St. Mary's Industrial School in Baltimore is here with the big bazoo and Babe started a fund for them with a check for $100.

The crowd started to go home after the Yanks made their four runs in the sixth and brought the score to 10 to 4. Enough was plenty for the fans.

After Ruth made his great galloping catch of Veach's drive in the second, he couldn't stop running and tumbled head first into the crowd.

Dauss fooled Babe with a wide slow ball in the first and struck him out.

A strong wind was blowing across the field and it kicked up the dust. Every time a played struck out he dropped his bat and started to fish the dirt out of his eye. A great alibi.

The home run taps of Pipp and Lewis both sailed over a wire fence into the right field bleachers.

Wardie's double in the second would have been a sure home run if the crowd hadn't been on the field. He hit the ball right on the beak and it went on a low line between centre and right. No one was within miles of it.

Bill Morrisette, who finished the game, is the same lad who tarried with the Giants for a while a few years back.

GIANTS GET COSTLY JOLT FROM CARDS

McGrawmen Drop Game, 6 to 3, and Lose Ground to Dodgers in Pennant Pursuit.

TRIPLE PLAY IS FEATURE

Kelly and Bancroft Figure in Rare Killing—Ninth-Inning Rally Prevents New York Shutout.

The St. Louis Cardinals, somewhat disfigured as a result of being kicked around Flatbush last week, bobbed up at the Polo Grounds yesterday with all the pepper and enthusiasm of a ball club going somewhere in the pennant hunt. The Giants, all set for a killing against a team that can absorb defeat as a blotter takes ink, got a jolt that hurt worse than any defeat the McGrawmen have suffered this year. A ninth-inning rally saved the home team from a shutout, but that was small consolation. The Cards took the ball game, 6 to 3.

Dropping ball games these days is a sad experience for the Giants, and it was equally sad to one of the largest crowds that the McGrawmen have played to this season. Close to thirty-six thousand fans, excited over the pennant prospects of the Giants, filled grandstand and bleachers to cheer a New York victory and pull for a Brooklyn defeat. The crowd lost on both angles. The Giants played in the field like a flock of nervous schoolboys, and their attack was sad to behold. In each of the first five innings, the first New York batsman got on the bases and only one of the five reached second base. That is how weak the team was in taking advantage of opportunities.

Meanwhile, the score board showed the Giants and the fans that defeat would be doubly expensive as the Robins were winning. In the ninth, the McGrawmen made a desperate rally that put three runs over the plate and had three more on the bases, enough to tie up the game. The crowd was in an uproar as Jess Haines was driven to the clubhouse and Bill Sherdel took his place on the mound. Ross Young, first batsman to face the little southpaw, grounded to Rogers Hornsby, which is about the last way to keep a rally in motion against the Cardinals. Hornsby threw Young out and he almost threw the Giants out of the pennant hunt at the same time. The defeat dropped McGraw's team four and one-half games behind the league leading Robins.

Errors Hurt Giants.

Five errors by the Giants did much to make the game fairly comfortable for the Cardinals until the home team began to cause some worry in the ninth. Frank Frisch, whose middle name has been steadiness since he joined the Giants, had an off day, and the other Giants acted as if they did not want the young third-sacker to be lonesome. Some work that escaped the error column also crept into the New York defense, and all together it was as poor an exhibition as the Giants have given at home this year. Following baseball precedent, the spilled it all in the presence of a great crowd.

The fans got one other thrill besides that furnished in the belated ninth-inning rally. It was a triple play that was clicked off with lightning speed by Kelly and Bancroft in the seventh inning. Two errors and a hit by Hornsby had sent one run over for the Cards, and Stock beat the throw on McHenry's bunt, filling the bases. Lavan caught one of Sallee's twisters on the end of his bat and it whizzed like a bullet into Kelly's glove. Kelly rubbed his toe on first base, exterminating McHenry, and then whizzed the ball along to Bancroft before Hornsby could get back to second base. It happened bing, bing—just like that.

The Cards not only threw the Giants for a loss, but they took another fall out of some pitching on which the McGrawmen based much of their pennant confidence. Arthur Nehf was the victim of too much activity by the St. Louis hitters and his departure paved the way for the post-graduate entry of Slim Sallee. Slim got a rousing welcome from the crowd and pitched better than he was supported. Poll Perritt, who has become an adept in finishing games, put on the closing touches.

Lee King as Santa Claus.

The Cardinals were presented with a pair of runs in the second inning, with Lee King playing the rôle of Santa Claus. Nehf started the trouble with a pass to Hornsby, which is one way of taming that celebrity, but the gift would have been of no value if King had done his bit. McHenry followed with a fly to centre, and it wafted through Lee's fingers to the lawn, Hornsby taking third and McHenry second on the misplay. Lavan and Heathcote furnished no aid to the waiting baserunners, but Pickles Dilhoefer slapped a single past Frisch and the two runs were chalked up at the plate. The count was three balls and no strikes, when Nehf put one where Pickles could hit and he accepted the invitation.

Nehf got normal support in the next two frames, and the Cards were quiet, but they broke out in the fifth with some hits and the Giants broke out with some more loose playing. Dilhoefer hoisted to right field for a double, the ball bounding off Young's glove. Haines bunted to Frisch, and Frank's throw to first was as high as next month's rent, Dilhoefer scoring from second easily while Kelly was chasing the ball. Haines, not too ambitious to show his speed, halted at first. Janvrin's single to left, Schultz's sacrifice and a single to right by Stock sent the two runs across. Nehf went out—McGraw to the clubhouse. The cheers are for Slim Sallee, who wanted to retire from baseball rather than play with the Giants and who recently came back to the Giants rather than retire. Larry Doyle chipped in with a muff of Hornsby's pop fly in short right field, but there was no more scoring in this inning.

In the seventh errors by Frisch and Smith and a single by Hornsby sent over a run just before the triple killing by the Giants. That ended the Cardinals' scoring, and the autopsy on the game showed it was plenty.

The Giants got three runners past first base in eight innings, but there was a parade past this station in the ninth. Frisch singled to centre and was forced by Kelly. King drove a roller through Lavan's fingers and feet, closely bunched, and Doyle pasted a single to centre, scoring Kelly. Smith's hit to left crowded the corners. Spencer went up to hit for Perritt and carried his bat back to the bench, and then a pass to Burns forced King across. Bancroft's single to left scored Doyle and might have carried Smith along too, but Johnny Evers was playing safe. With the bases filled Haines gave way to Sherdel and Young's grounder to Hornsby ended the game.

Friends of Al Lefevre presented the substitute infielder with a K. of C. charm before the game.

Robins Strongly Entrenched as League Race Nears End

As a result of the Robins' recent string of successes and reverses suffered by the Reds and Giants, the National League pennant race is gradually assuming a pronounced Brooklyn aspect. The Robins this morning are leading the Reds by a margin of three and one-half games, and the Giants are a full game further back.

An idea of the advantage now possessed by the Robins may be gained by figuring on the basis that the Flatbush team breaks even in its remaining sixteen games. Such a record would give Brooklyn eighty-nine victories against sixty-five defeats. Under such conditions the Reds would have to win sixteen of their twenty-three games to beat out Brooklyn and the Giants would have to win fifteen of their remaining nineteen games. If Brooklyn wins ten of its remaining sixteen games the Reds must take eighteen out of twenty-three to beat the Robins and the Giants would need to win seventeen of nineteen games. As the Robins have won seven games more than the Reds while losing the same number and have the edge over New York by six victories and three defeats, only a slump by the Robins will make it possible for the Reds or Giants to overtake the Flatbush troupe.

In the American League the contenders remain so closely bunched that no club has a clear-cut advantage.

GHARRITY'S HOMER RETIRES HIS SIDE

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Ed Gharrity of the Washington team today performed the unprecedented feat of pounding out a home run which retired his side, while Washington was defeating the White Sox, 5 to 0. Baseball sharks say there is nothing like it in the annals of the game. It was the cause of tremendous uproar and protests, but the umpires stood pat on the decision which robbed the Senators of two additional runs and reduced Gharrity's home run to a two-bagger.

Ellerbe had reached first base via an error in the fourth inning. Two men were out. Gharrity came up and soaked the ball over Jackson's head into the bleachers. Ellerbe mistook the yells of glee from the bleachers as an indication that Jackson had speared the fly, thus retiring the side, so he doubled in his tracks after rounding third base and started for his position at short.

Meanwhile Gharrity, trotting around the circuit, passed Ellerbe, thus automatically putting himself out, under the rule which imposes that penalty for passing a preceding base runner who had not already been put out. Both umpires saw the play and they simultaneously called Gharrity out, thereby causing the entire Washington team to spill vast quantities of heated conversation. They argued that since the ball was out of bounds it made no difference if Gharrity did pass Ellerbe, but the decision stood.

BUY SAN ANTONIO PLAYERS.

Giants Recall Three and Purchase Three Others.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 12.—Five members of the local Texas League club will go to the majors by sale this Fall, while Lear, first baseman, and Kelly and Garten, pitchers, have been claimed by recall by the New York Giants.

Others include Ed Brown, outfielder; Ewell Gross, shortstop, and Claude Davenport, pitcher, who go to the Giants; Walter Stewart, pitcher, who goes to the Detroit Americans, and Frank Gibson, catcher, sold to the Boston Braves.

LIGHT TEAM FOR HAMILTON.

Football Practice Starts Sept. 20—New Rush Line Coach's Task.

CLINTON, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Initial practice for the Hamilton College gridiron squad has been definitely set for Sept. 20, at which time it is expected that a goodly number of veterans of previous squads and newcomers will be present.

A stiff program has been mapped out to fill in the short period before the opening of college, so that the most fatiguing part of the work will be over when the call to classes sounds. It is expected that the first part of the training period will be given over to developing a rush line to replace the one lost. All indications point to the Buff and Blue being represented by a light team this season, so that they will have to make up in speed what they lack in beef and brawn. In all probability speed drills will be stressed throughout the entire season to produce a snappy, aggressive aggregation.

Max Ziel, assistant coach, is expected to arrive in town the early part of this week to assist in laying out the early training work. It is expected that Ziel will devote most of his attention this year to the backfield. Captain Campbell and a number of veterans will arrive the latter part of the week to get things in readiness for the start.

DODGERS WIN AND GAIN MORE GROUND

While Giants Lose and Reds Are Idle, Robins Whitewash Cubs by 5 to 0.

Each succeeding day furnishes additional foundation for Brooklyn's cherished hopes of a pennant. This morning the team is enjoying a lead of three and one-half games over the Reds and four and one-half games over the Giants and there are no visible signs of a cessation in the Robin's march pennantward.

Hippo Jim Vaughn, sturdy Cub southpaw, sought to check the mad rush of the Flatbush clan yesterday at Ebbets Field when the Cubs and Robins clashed in the first tussle of a five-game series. The Windy City portsider is a sadder but wiser man today. Under a thunderous shower of Brooklyn hits the Cub southpaw was chased to the showers and humbled to the complete satisfaction and delight of 25,000 broiling fans whose every thought is interwoven with calico. Brooklyn took the pastime by a count of 5 to 0. Since Cincinnati was idle and the Giants were beaten, Brooklyn's pennant stock took a bound. With only sixteen games remaining, a three and one-half game lead is not to be sneezed at.

Earle Neale and Larry Kopf of Pat Moran's Red clan, viewed the spectacle passively. They came to Ebbets Field for the express purpose of ascertaining whether the Robins really had a chance for the pennant. They were shown in the most approved style.

Mound Duel for Four Innings.

For four innings the game promised a palpitating pitchers' battle between Vaughn and Burleigh Grimes. Then something snapped and the promised battle went up in smoke, sent skyward by a shower of Brooklyn hits which were promptly transformed into winning numerals. Maybe the heat was too much for Vaughn or possibly the dire necessity for a Robin triumph played havoc with Hippo's conscience. Whatever it was, Vaughn's deceptiveness left him from the moment he took the hill in the fifth and with their pitcher's arm tinkling like fractured crockery the entire Cub defense collapsed.

Grimes, on the other hand, delivered one of the greatest games of the season. In fact, the entire Flatbush ensemble played in a manner which bespoke supremacy and pennant confidence. Nary a fielding miss was recorded on Brooklyn's side of the ledger, and the players accounted for many brilliantly difficult fielding pieces.

With the support that was his, therefore, it seemed only natural that Grimes should be at his best. With his moist ball working smoothly and a choice assortment of hooks and slants for an effective change of pace, Grimes was always the master of the situation. He yielded four singles and issued but one pass. Three of the Cubs died on strikes, but Grimes, with good support behind him, didn't extend himself for strike-out effect, for the simple reason that he didn't have to. Third base was an unexplored part of the field for the Bruins. But one Cub got as far as second. Dode Paskert was this fortunate individual and to accomplish the feat he had to turn to theft. Dode drew a pass in the second and pilfered second, but was marooned there.

Grimes In Stingy Mood.

In the closing seven innings but twenty-one men, the minimum, faced Grimes. Three singles were made in this stretch, but they were expunged, in so far as concerned results. In the seventh Grimes tossed just four offerings at the Cubs. Back of their star hurler the Robins played a bang-up game. The infield sizzled with scintillating plays on ground balls, and hair-raising catches were contributed by the guardians of the outer bulwark. Ray Schmandt, replacing the injured Konetchy at first, covered himself with glory, accepting seventeen chances, including several difficult throws, without so much as a quiver. In addition, he started the Robins on the scoring path in the fifth. Ivan Olson at short had ten chances without a blemish and made all sorts of trick stops on hard-hit grounders. Bernie Neis, in right, contributed the fielding gem, a remarkable running catch of a blow from O'Farrell's bat in the second which looked ticketed for extra bases.

Brooklyn bats were virtually inactive in the first four rounds, when Vaughn's service matched that of Grimes. Olson almost bowled Deal over with a single in the first and Johnston crashed a single to right in the third.

The Robins shook off the spell in the fifth and started scoring. Schmandt's crash to right-center went for a triple when Flack and Paskert over-ran the blow trying for a catch. A shower of straw lids accompanied the blow. This has come to be a daily scene at Ebbets Field. There was a time when home runs were counted necessary to arouse this extravagance, but matters have reached such a stage now that singles and sacrifice bunts provide excuses for hat throwing, not to mention Giant defeats as they are dolefully recorded on the score board. To resume, Kilduff pumped a single to left, scoring Schmandt with the opening run.

Robins Add Two to String.

In the sixth two more runs were recorded. Johnston was hit, Neis beat out what was intended for a sacrifice bunt in front of the plate, and Wheat did likewise when Vaughn was slow in fielding his tap. The bases were filled. Myers raised a sacrifice fly to deep centre, on which Johnston scored and Neis and Wheat each advanced a base. Wheat, in racing to second, collided with Terry and was stretched out for a few minutes, but he regained his feet and continued. Schmandt raised a twisting fly back of first which eluded both Merkle and Friberg, while Neis scored. Wheat was killed off trying for third on the blow and Kilduff popped to Merkle.

Grimes took a hand in the assault in the seventh when, with one down, he doubled to left. He appeared pocketed on Olson's grounder to Deal, but raced to third when Deal threw past Friberg to right field. Johnston clouted a single over Terry's head to left, scoring Grimes and Olson. The Flatbush enthusiasm was dampened in the eighth, for Bailey, who replaced Vaughn, prevented further scoring.

INDIANS BUNCH HITS AND BEAT MACKMEN

Three Doubles by Smith, Each Scoring Speaker, Feature Victory—Score Is 5-2.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12.—Cleveland retained first place by defeating Philadelphia today, 5 to 2. Mails won his third American League game, keeping the Athletics' hits well scattered. While Perry was not hit hard in any inning, Cleveland made its base hits count for runs, Smith making three doubles, each of which scored Speaker.

WILHELM WINS TWO GAMES.

Pitches Skeeters to Victory Over Syracuse by 7 to 3 and 10 to 0.

Irving Wilhelm inscribed his name on baseball's honor roll yesterday afternoon by pitching Bill Donovan's Skeeters to victory in both ends of the double-header with Syracuse, giving Jersey City's ball tossers a clean sweep over their rivals with three straight victories. The Skeeters won 7 to 3 in the opener today and 10 to 0 in the concluding seance. Wilhelm breezed along through each contest with an easy delivery that, although frequently nicked by base hits, kept the visitors' run-making to a minimum. Although touched up for an even dozen wallops in the farewell session, the Jersey City gunner blocked every attempt to register.

There was a difference of only one hit in the work of the rival teams in the day's long engagement, Jersey City totaling twenty-four bingles in all, while Syracuse hung up 23. Yet Donovan's lads had the good fortune to put their safeties together effectively and tacked up seventeen counters.

Sells handled the shoots for the visitors in the opening canter and held the locals under control for five rounds. They broke out in the sixth, however, and gained a two-run lead with a brace of four counts.

After Kane had fanned, Tom Denoville got a life on Witter's muff of Ben's throw to first. Wiglesworth drove a liner too hot for Sells to handle. Zitman filled the corners with a hit through short, all of which served to unnerve Pitcher Sells, and he forced Jersey City's first run over by passing Eddie Gill. Freitag filled in with a screeching liner to right, scoring Wiglesworth and Zitman. With Gill on third, Wilhelm clinched it by a sacrifice fly to McGrainer, Gill crossing the rubber.

A base on balls, singles by Wilhelm and Zimmerman and Donelson's muff of Eddie Mooers's long fly to left, accounted for three more marks in Jersey City's eighth frame.

In the curtain act Jersey City lost no time in getting a grip on the game, but really put it in cold storage in the first. After Zimmerman had been retired, Eddie Mooers ripped off a pretty drive from Donovan's delivery, stole second and continued to third when Tom Madden, the Syracuse backstop, overthrew second in trying to head Mooers off. Kane failed on strikes, but Captain Denoville was on deck with the hoped-for single, and scored Mooers with a drive to right. After this good start, the Skeeters kept hammering away, forcing Donovan to resign at the end of the fifth with ten hits and nine runs against him and W. Carlson finished the remainder of the route with four hits and a tally charged against him.

MOESKOPS BEATEN WHEN WHEEL FALLS

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, Sept. 12.—Raymond Eaton came through with a victory over Frank Kramer and Peter Moeskops, the Hollander, in a three-cornered match race at the Velodrome this afternoon. Eaton was a bit lucky in winning, for Moeskops, after taking the first heat from him and Kramer, fell in the second and had to withdraw from the race. Eaton won the second heat after Moeskops had fallen and Kramer punctured. Kramer was able to continue on to the tape with a puncture, but after he crossed the finish line his rear wheel collapsed, throwing him heavily to the track. Moeskops fell when his front wheel hit the flat of the track. He was painfully bruised, but there were no bones broken in the fall.

Kramer and Eaton resumed the race in the third heat, Kramer winning by riding all the way from in front. In the fourth and deciding heat Eaton won by inches after a hard ride. Alfred Goullet, riding in his usual brilliant manner, won the ten-mile open from Alex McBeath, Percy Lawrence, Willie Hanley, Crell Walker and Alf Grenda. Over thirty riders started, but on account of the hot pace only seven were left two laps from home. A lap and one-half from the finish Grenda, Willie Spencer and Magin went down in a spill. Grenda was able to get fifth place by picking up his bike and running around to the finish.

The summaries:

Two-Thirds Mile Handicap (Amateur)—Won by L. F. Seuffert, Bay View Wheelmen (35 yards); Louis Benesatti, U. S. I. (25 yards), second; David Lands, Bay View Wheelmen (20 yards), third; Carl Hanbacher, Bay View Wheelmen (10 yards), fourth; William Kirk, Newark (50 yards), fifth. Time—1:18 3-5.

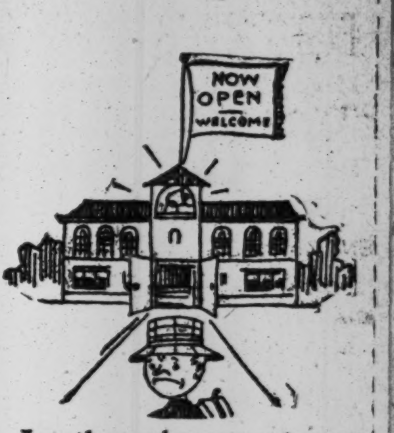
PENN STATE WORKING HARD.

Football Squad Getting Stiffest Drills Ever Scheduled.

EAGLES MERE, Pa., Sept. 12.—Coach Hugo Bezdek and his squad of Penn State football huskies arrived here last night. Today has been spent in sightseeing and in resting from the furious grind through which the men have been going during the last two weeks. Thirty-five men, in addition to Coaches Bezdek, Harlow, Hermann and Martin, Manager Stark and Graduate Manager Neil Fleming, are in the party, and they will leave early Monday morning on their return journey to State College.

Since practice opened on Sept. 1, Bezdek has been giving the players the hardest work-outs ever experienced by a Penn State squad, and the Eagles Mere trip was planned as a reward for the way in which the men have responded. With the opening of college this week, the more normal routine of one practice session a day will be in vogue; but the Blue and White coach expects to speed up the playing from now on. The opening game with Muhlenberg is less than two weeks away, while Dartmouth looms up as a dangerous opponent in less than a month. So Bezdek told the boys to make the most of their vacation today, because it was their last day until after the Thanksgiving Day battle with Pitt.



In the elementary grades they don't teach Psychology, but it operates just the same!

WOMEN TO BATTLE FOR TENNIS HONORS

Draw Is Announced for National Singles, Starting Today in Philadelphia.

ENTRY LIST NUMBERS 76

Miss Helen Baker and Miss Corinne Gould Meet in Early Round—New York Well Represented.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—All the leading women lawn tennis players of the country, with few exceptions, assembled here today for the national tournament, which will start tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket Club, at St. Martin's. The entries reach the highly impressive total of seventy-six. Play will start tomorrow not only for the women's national singles title, but for the girls' national junior singles. The draws in both these events were made this afternoon.

All sections of the country are well represented in the entry list of the women's championship. The present champion, Mrs. George W. Wightman, has announced that she will not defend her title, and this leaves an open field. Favorites for final honors most frequently mentioned by tennis fans here are Miss Marion Zinderstein of Boston, national women's clay court champion, and Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, who will make a determined bid to regain the laurels which were hers during three seasons as national titleholder. The luck of the draw brings Miss Zinderstein and Mrs. Mallory into opposite parts of the list, so that many observers believe that they are more than likely to be the finalists.

New York Well Represented.

New York has a strong representation among the entries, probably the strongest in famous tennis names of any district represented. Among the leading players of the Greater New York district who will take the courts tomorrow, in addition to Mrs. Mallory, are Miss Eleanor Goss, national champion in women's doubles and runner-up last week to Mrs. Mallory in the Westchester invitation tournament; Miss Florence Ballin, Miss Clare Cassell, Mrs. Robert Leroy, Mrs. Barger Wallach, Mrs. B. F. Briggs, Mrs. E. V. Lynch, Mrs. De Forest Candee, Miss Phyllis Walsh and Miss Margaret Davis.

Boston, too, is strongly represented, for, in addition to Miss Zinderstein, her clubmates from the Longwood Cricket Club, Miss Leslie Bancroft, Mrs. N. W. Niles and Miss Edith Sigourney are sure to make an impressive showing. Of the Middle West, Miss Bobbie Esch of Cleveland, winner of many tournaments in her section of the country, will offer strenuous competition in all her matches, while the former national women's clay court champion, Miss Corinne Gould of St. Louis, will likewise seek to take the honors to the Middle West.

There was hope for a time this Summer that Mrs. May Sutton Bundy would come East in quest of the championship which she adorned as long ago as 1904, but both she and Miss Mary Browne, who was champion from 1912 to 1914, decided that their games were not in form to warrant their undertaking the trip. None the less, the Pacific Coast will be well represented in Miss Helen Baker, who is the Coast champion, and Miss Eleanor Tennant, who has played successfully in many Eastern tournaments this Summer.

A Blind Draw.

It is a blind draw that governs the play for the national championship, and the result of it assures some exceedingly important matches in the opening rounds. In the upper half Miss Tennant will meet Miss Carona Winn of New York in a contest that should be prolific of good tennis, and another match of especial significance today will be that between Miss Helen Baker and Miss Corinne Gould, two of the strongest entries on the list. Miss Eleanor Goss is also likely to meet with spirited opposition from Mrs. De Forest Candee and Miss Lillian Scharman, though without her opponent's long tournament experience, should be able to supply Miss Florence Ballin with plenty of action.

Mrs. Mallory and Miss Zinderstein should advance through the early rounds without great difficulty. The former is drawn against Miss Renee Christy and the Boston girl will meet Mrs. Margaret Wiener.

The draw for the women's singles and also for the girls' junior event follows:

First Round, Upper Half—Miss Molly D. Thayer vs. Mrs. John S. Rogers; Miss Ellen Trevor vs. Miss Mary Law; Miss Alice Bayard vs. Mrs. Joseph Grubb; Miss Anne B. Townsend vs. Miss Evelyn Seavey; Miss Deborah Seal vs. Mrs. S. B. Gibbs; Miss Eleanor Tennant vs. Miss Caroma Winn.

Lower Half—Mrs. Gilbert S. Harvey vs. Mrs. Robert Leroy; Mrs. John E. Bailey vs. Mrs. E. V. Lynch; Mrs. Deforest Candee vs. Miss Eleanor Goss; Miss Madelon Mulqueen vs. Mrs. W. P. Newhall; Mrs. Robert Herold vs. Mrs. Richard Noble; Miss Florence Ballin vs. Miss Lillian Scharman.

Second Round, First-Round Byes, Upper Half—Mrs. F. Borden vs. Miss Helene Pollak; Miss Harriet Chapin vs. Miss Helen Rice; Mrs. Ream Leachman vs. Mrs. Sydney Wolff; Miss Eleanor Cartman vs. Miss Gertrude Ostheimer; Mrs. M. D. Straffin vs. Mrs. H. F. Kerbaugh; Miss Marjorie Hires vs. Miss Odette Feder; Miss Peggy Ferguson vs. Miss Elizabeth Strubing; Miss Rosamund Newton vs. Miss Edith Sigourney; Mrs. Franklin I. TALCOTT AND YOUNG WIN.

Take Tennis Doubles Final at Seabright Handily.

Special to The New York Times.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Sept. 12.—On the courts of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club this afternoon the final match in the men's doubles for the club title was played before a large crowd. Playing consistent tennis Hooker Talcott, formerly of Harvard, and Stuart Young, a former Princeton 'Varsity racquet wielder, in straight sets defeated Ted Banks, former Yale star, and Sydney Henshaw, one-time Harvard 'Varsity player. The score was 6—1, 7—5, 6—4.

In the challenge round, which is scheduled to be played the last of the week, Talcott and Young will oppose Holcombe Ward and Bernon S. Prentice.

K. of C. Road Race on Oct. 12.

Entry blanks will soon be distributed among local clubs for the second annual handicap road race of the New Rochelle Council, 339, Knights of Columbus, which will be held over the roads of New Rochelle Oct. 12. The distance will be six miles. Thirteen prizes will be distributed among the successful competitors.

GOOD RACES STILL ON BELMONT CARD

Champagne Stakes on Tomorrow—Man o' War May Run in Autumn Gold Handicap.

The Autumn meeting of the Westchester Racing Association is almost at an end, but there is promise of good sport in the three days before the scene shifts to Aqueduct.

The Nassau, for three-year-olds and upward, at a mile, is the feature of today's program. For tomorrow the Champagne Stakes, with $3,500 added, is carded. This event is a two-year-old feature, and the first stake test for juveniles this season. The fillies of this year are playing a prominent part in the two-year-old classics. There is an abundance of good material for a splendid struggle. Star Voter, Kirklevington, Exodus, Grey Flag, Oriole, Our Flag, Touch Me Not, Our Boots, Playfellow, Smoke Screen and Brigadier General are a few of those that will probably go to the post, and on public form it should be a very even thing.

There is a prospect that Man o' War may go to the post for the Autumn Gold Cup Handicap, at two miles, on the closing day. The big three-year-old came out of his contest Saturday kicking up his heels, and it was announced that if the weight should not be excessive for the Gold Cup he would be among the starters for Wednesday's big prize. Should Man o' War be a starter, his chief opposition probably would come from Exterminator. Fair Gain, Cleopatra, Donnacona, Wildair and Audacious are among the eligibles.

The Brook Handicap Steeplechase, of a value of $5,000, at three miles, is also down for the last day. Candidates that should furnish a stirring spectacle for those who like cross-country sport are The Wisest Fool, Skibbereen, Decisive, Barklie, Elysian, Surf Queen, Duettiste, Valspar and Mohonk.

Today's entries follow:

FIRST RACE—For two-year-old fillies; five furlongs; straight. Light Rose 105 pounds, Fluff 110, Clare Frances 105, Idle Dell 110, Josava 105, Dough Girl 115, Tamarisk 115, Mavehona 105, Thoughtless Beauty 105, Seraphine 110, Bacchanalian 105, Playcany 110, Conine 105.

SECOND RACE—For four-year-olds and upward; steeplechase; selling; about two miles. Ruplea 145 pounds, *Surf 138, Infidel II. 145, *Prince Hal II. 140.

THIRD RACE—The Nassau Selling Stakes; for three-year-olds and upward; $2,000 added; one mile. Major Parke 111 pounds, Pickwick 118, Sundial II. 111, Tom McTaggart 112, Ralco 109, Abadane 110.

FOURTH RACE—For three-year-olds and upward; handicap; one mile. Audacious 119 pounds, Cirrus 126, Best Pal 112, Lunetta 100.

FIFTH RACE—For three-year-olds; one mile. Yung Chin 117 pounds, Sea Mint 117, Lunetta 111, Pontypridd 114, Capt. Alcock 117.

Comment on Current Events in Sports.

GOLF

As regards the outcome, last week's tourney for the amateur golf championship was highly satisfactory. The two leading American amateurs happily met in the final, and a magnificent golfing day favored the largest golf gallery ever assembled in this country. A study of the progress of the tournament also reveals pleasing signs. The youngsters are coming along swiftly and are insuring the game an abundance of experts ready to take places at or near the top. Such neophytes as Peter Harmon, Fred Wright, Richard Hickey and Jess Sweetser in addition to that veretan in experience if young in years, Bobby Jones, promises much.

But in view of the venue for the 1920 tournament the talk of rotating golf championships around a specified few courses, which is recurrent at this time, is especially opportune. There was a fairly general consensus that Engineers' left many things to be desired. Accused by many of being too difficult, it was described by others as being a "trick" course. It is probably true that if a man is playing his shots correctly he will get his rewards, and, conversely, his poor, careless golf will be penalized. But it is also undoubtedly true that penalties on some of the short holes, on several of the approaches, and on some greens which have not been built long enough to produce thick, firm putting surfaces, proved exorbitant. The fact that such golfers as Tolley, Travers and Anderson failed to qualify will be considered by many as redounding not so much to their discredit as to that of the course.

If more than 12,000 spectators visit a course as hidden as Engineers', what would be the size of galleries at convenient, accessible links? Golf is growing more rapidly, it is asserted, than any other amateur sport, and great throngs will insist annually on the opportunity to see important matches. For this reason many leading shotmakers agree that to adopt the English system and rotate the championships around six or eight or ten courses of the first rank would be desirable. In the metropolitan district such courses as Nassau and Garden City are favored, and in Philadelphia the Merion links. Such courses, differing from Engineers', have practically no hilltop holes where at best only a fraction of a large crowd can see the play.

The scheme is growing in favor. Many resent the methods now employed for picking a course in a haphazard way. At last January's annual meeting of the U. S. G. A. it is doubtful if one quarter of those present had the faintest idea where Engineers' C. C. was when they awarded it the tourney. Probably no more than five of the hundred present had ever seen it. What's more, only a handful of the delegates are active golfers capable of qualifying in a championship.

TURF

After the running of the Futurity it is usually possible to point quite definitely to the best two-year-old of the season, but this year that annual classic has served only to eliminate one of the real pretenders to the crown and to narrow the contest down to two candidates. After a long season of racing among the juveniles there are but two horses which have a logical claim to the championship, these being H. P. Whitney's Tryster and J. W. McClelland's Leonardo II., neither of which has met with defeat. Unless these two meet and decide the issue there will be no outstanding champion this year.

The Futurity on Saturday quite definitely disposed of the claims made for Prudery. The race this filly ran showed that the attempt of some critics to pin a championship on her after the Hopeful at Saratoga was hasty, to say the least. She suffered no mishaps Saturday and was beaten by horses which she had previously led home, and, moreover, was beaten badly.

It would be quite ridiculous to make any championship claims for Step Lightly, which won the Futurity despite her very creditable race. She has been defeated on several occasions this year by horses of no championship pretentions and on her record is entitled to little consideration.

It was unfortunate that neither Tryster nor Leonardo II. was eligible for the Futurity, for these two colts undoubtedly stand out from the other youngsters of the year. They have never met, but they have defeated practically all of the other good ones. Both have defeated Prudery. Tryster has raced more than his rival and on the score of victories earned must be given preference at present, though this by no means proves that he is the better colt. Leonardo II. did not come to the races until late in the season and he has been improving steadily. It is quite possible that he was not the top of his form in the Hopeful. If he continues to improve over that race he will be hard to beat. It is possible that Tryster and Leonardo II. will meet in the course of the racing in Maryland and if they do the winner will be entitled to premier honors in his division.

The American League pennant race enters its closing three weeks with no signs of a break on the part of any of the three clubs which have been battling for championship honors for the past two months. Crowded into the scant stretch of eleven percentage points, the Indians, Yankees and White Sox are stepping along in the order named and nothing in sight can be considered as giving any of the contenders any marked advantage over the others.

A few days ago the Yankees were not highly rated in comparison with the Indians and White Sox, because the Hugmen had to play most of their games away from home, while the Westerners were battling on home soil before friendly crowds. In four days of travel the Yankees have won three games, while the teams playing at home had to be content with even breaks for the same period. By taking two out of three games at Cleveland the Yankees made it plain that they are far mrom out of the race, whether at home or traveling, and if they can repeat the performance when they meet the White Sox for three games this week few will be found to chant a requiem over the Yankees' chances.

Much may depend on the success, or lack of it, that the Yankees experience on their return to the East. Seven games must be played in this section by the Hugmen, four with Washington at the Polo Grounds and three with the Mackmen at Philadelphia. So far this season the Yankees have taken five of their seven home games with Washington, and they have won seven of their eight at Shibe Park. These figures would indicate that success may be looked for in these games on eastern soil. Meanwhile the Indians and White Sox will hook up in a series of their own that may turn out to the marked advantage of the Yankees.

For the past week the Yankee pitchers have been showing better than the boxmen of any other American League club, the runs scored against the New Yorkers, even including yesterday's game at Detroit, being the low total of the league in the past eight days. Thormahlen's return to form, as indicated by his work against the Mackmen and Indians last week, and the pitching of Collins at Detroit yesterday furnish much encouragement to Yankee followers, as it was in pitching that a break threatened. Capable successors have stepped in to fill the places of Ruel and Bodie and the outlook is brighter now than it has been for weeks. The Yanks can take much satisfaction in having outplayed both Indians and White Sox in the interclub series but other and greater honors may be theirs by a continuation of the playing done in the last ten days.

One effect of the intersectional tennis matches between the East and the West last week at the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia, was to increase the difficulties of the committee in choosing the members of the Davis Cup team to challenge Australia at the year's end. The choice in the singles is simple. There is no king but Tilden, and Johnston is his prophet. Tilden and Johnston together could account for any other singles players the world could possibly offer, and the only man who at the present time can give Tilden a real battle is the man whom Tilden dethroned at Forest Hills and whom he defeated again in Philadelphia Saturday.

But the problem is different in the doubles. Three pairs were presented in the doubles at Philadelphia any one of which could be trusted to represent America in that branch of the game capably. Preference would naturally fall upon the team that contains the players of the greatest individual brilliancy. The test would thus rest between the national champions, Johnston and Griffin, on the one hand and Tilden and Williams on the other.

There is, however, a third team that gave a magnificent account of itself at Philadelphia, as it could in any company. That is the one composed of Wallace F. Johnson and Watson M. Washburn. These two, in the manner in which their tennis individualities harmonize, in the consonance of their temperaments, in their style of play, are ideally suited for the winning of the highest laurels in doubles. Judging by the impressive manner in which they defeated Davis and Roberts, runners-up to the national champions, they could, if they persisted in teaming with each other, enter the lists against the two other teams mentioned at any time with an excellent chance of winning.

However, the Davis Cup Committee will undoubtedly confine its selections to a team the members of which will also qualify for singles play. Thus the selection would be limited to Johnston and Griffin or Tilden and Williams. In either team there would be complete confidence. The test at Philadelphia was all in favor of Tilden and Williams, a team composed of the champion of champions in individual tennis and of another man always capable of raising his game to supreme heights, and who in doubles, in the opinion of many, utilizes his talents, especially in playing off backhand, even better than he does in the singles. That is a marvelous pair, but the national champions are a marvelous pair, too. In the matter of teamwork, acquired by long experience together, Johnston and Griffin are probably more advantageously situated than any other team in the game.

The sum of the matter is that the Davis Cup Committee faces an exceedingly delicate and difficult task. But tennis sportsmanship is such that, however the decision goes, the pair chosen will carry the hopes and good wishes of all the rest of tennisdom.

BOXING

All doubt as to whether Jack Dempsey could readily regain a state of physical perfection after his long lay-off from ring activity was dispelled at Benton Harbor last Monday afternoon when the champion successfully defended his title against Billy Miske. Dempsey was in the same superb condition when he climbed into the ring for his first bout in fourteen months that he displayed at Toledo when he mowed down the mountainous Jess Willard and ascended the heavyweight throne. The champion had a slight cold that interfered a little with his breathing, but otherwise he was just as strong and was possessed of the same powerful punching power that had carried him from obscurity to the top.

"As a matter of fact I think I was in better condition than I was at Toledo," said Dempsey to the writer while discussing his condition after the fight. "Owing to an error my weight was announced as 188 pounds. In reality I weighed 185 pounds shortly before entering the ring. That was two pounds less than I weighed when I fought Willard."

And Dempsey did not experience any great difficulty in attaining such excellent condition. When the match was first made there were many who entertained the belief that the champion would have to put in a long siege of particularly hard work to perfect himself. This did not prove to be the case. He started training in this city before leaving for the Middle West, and by the time he was ready to go to Benton Harbor to complete his work he had convinced himself and his handlers that but a little more hard work would put him on edge. He was not mistaken. A week before the fight the chief concern of his trainer was the danger of Dempsey's being overtrained and going stale. It was for this reason that for several days he eased up in his work, and one day laid off entirely.

Dempsey thought that perhaps the long lay-off might seriously affect his judgment of distance, but he was mistaken. In the three rounds the bout lasted he missed only one punch. That was a right-hand swing aimed at Miske's jaw in the second round. Incidentally, Dempsey seems to punch straighter than he did when fighting Willard. He does not swing as much. This may have been due to the fact that he was fighting a man of his own size, and did not have to swing into the air to reach Miske as he did when in front of Willard. But the fact remains that his punches were straighter and shorter. They are rather hooks than anything else.

His legs, always one of the strongest features of his ring work, were a centre of close scrutiny by the critics during his workouts. It was feared they might have weakened. Again, those who were looking for weak spots were doomed to disappointment. Dempsey is a great believer in road work, and the strenuous miles that he had put in on the road in the early morning hours had made his legs as strong as ever. He was just as shifty and was able to get just as much assistance from his lower extremities in adding to his punching power as ever.

On the whole Dempsey proved conclusively that he has not gone back either physically or as a fighting machine.

PASTIME A. C. WINS ON JAVELIN THROW

Final Event Decides Bronx A. L. Track and Field Meet at Macomb's Dam Park.

The success of the club's athletes in the javelin throw gave the Pastime A. C. a victory over the St. Anselm's A. C. yesterday in the handicap track and field meet of the Bronx Athletic League, conducted at Macombs Dam Park. The wearers of the Brazilian Cross, garnering six points in the closing event on the program, came from behind and led the St. Anselm's representatives by the slim margin of one point. The score was 43 points to 42. Athletes of the Mohawk A. C. finished third, with 12 tallies, and the St. Jerome's Catholic Club, the only other organization represented, was fourth, with one marker.

Up to the javelin test the St. Anselm's A. C. athletes maintained a lead in the struggle for point laurels. They outscored the Pastime men on the cinderpath, but the latter redeemed this shortcoming in the field events, particularly in the shot-put and the javelin, in which events St. Anselm's failed to score. In the shot-put four Pastime huskies gained the point positions, while in the javelin three Brazilian Cross wearers trailed the victorious toss of J. Gomez of the Mohawk A. C.

The summaries:

100-Yard Dash (Handicap)—Won by W. Quigley, St. Anselm's A. C. (6 yards); J. Ostendorf, St. Anselm's A. C. (4 yards), second; M. Cohen, Mohawk A. C. (scratch), third; W. Netter, Mohawk A. C. (4 yards), fourth. Time—0:10.

300-Yard Run (Handicap)—Won by J. Bascomb, St. Anselm's A. C. (15 yards); L. C. Silver, Mohawk A. C. (15 yards), second; F. Egan, Pastime A. C. (16 yards), third; W. Hannon, St. Anselm's A. C. (14 yards), fourth. Time—0:32 2-5.

880-Yard Run (Handicap)—Won by W. Deegan, St. Anselm's A. C. (30 yards); C. Beagan, St. Anselm's A. C. (10 yards), second; E. Sinnott, St. Anselm's A. C. (42 yards), third; J. Gaskell, St. Anselm's A. C. (scratch), fourth. Time—2:00.

One and a Half Mile Walk (Handicap)—Won by J. J. Farrell, St. Anselm's A. C. (35 seconds); J. Aronson, Pastime A. C. (35 seconds), second; M. Greenberg, Pastime A. C. (25 seconds), third; C. Haggman, Pastime A. C. (35 seconds), fourth. Time—12:49 3-5.

Two-Mile Run (Handicap)—Won by J. Tvieten, Pastime A. C. (60 yards); P. Borrell, Pastime A. C. (240 yards), second; E. O'Connor, St. Anselm's A. C. (scratch), third; Fred Travalena, Mohawk A. C. (75 yards), fourth. Time—9:58.

One-Mile Relay; Handicap—Won by Pastime A. C. (Egan, Bascomb, Lichtman and Schenkelbach), 83 yards; St. Anselm's A. C. second team (Gilson, Beagan, Sinnott and Caryl), 80 yards, second; St. Anselm's A. C. first team (Bennett, Hannon, Gaskell and Lolly), 40 yards, third. Time—3:26 2-5.

12-Pound Shot-put; Handicap—Won by N. Yiahnis, Pastime A. C. (4 feet), with 52 feet 2 inches; W. Speers, Pastime A. C. (10 feet), 51 feet 3 inches, second; C. Vretos, Pastime A. C. (2 feet), 50 feet 6¼ inches, third; W. O'Connell, Pastime A. C. (12 feet), 49 feet 10 inches, fourth.

Running High Jump; Handicap—Won by J. Quirk, St. Anselm's A. C. (3 inches), with 6 feet 2 inches; E. Benzinger, St. Anselm's A. C. (scratch), 5 feet 10 inches, second; E. Sies, St. Anselm's A. C. (8 inches), 5 feet 9 inches, third; J. Murphy, St. Jerome's Catholic Club (4 inches), 5 feet 8 inches, fourth.

Throwing the Javelin; Handicap—Won by J. Gomez, Mohawk A. C. (8 feet), with 150 feet 7 inches; N. Yiahnis, Pastime A. C. (8 feet), 138 feet 10 inches, second; Dan Shea, Pastime A. C. (10 feet), 138 feet 7 inches, third; B. Lichtman, Pastime A. C. (scratch), 137 feet 8 inches, fourth.

Point Score—Pastime A. C. 43 points, St. Anselm's A. C. 42, Mohawk A. C. 12, St. Jerome C. C. 1.

MRS. FAIR AND WHITE WIN.

They Lead in Mixed Foursomes on Nassau Country Club Links.

Miss Alexa Stirling, women's national golf champion, and Bobby Jones, the Atlanta youngster, turned in the best gross score in the invitation mixed foursomes at the Nassau Country Club yesterday, but lost out when the handicappers had finished their calculations. The pair of top-notchers covered the eighteen holes in 82, which was both their gross and net figure, they having started from scratch. The winners were Mrs. T. M. Fair and Gardiner White, whose card showed an 83-8-75 at the end of the eighteen holes.

Cyril Tolley, the British amateur champion, was only one of the notable golfers who took part in the foursomes. Roger Wethered and Lord Charles Hope were the other Britons playing, and Miss Marion Hollins was also in the thick of the battle. Miss Hollins, with Howard F. Whitney as partner, was one of the three couples tied for second place with a 78, three strokes behind the leading pair. The others deadlocked for second honors were Mrs. Vanderbeck and J. H. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Quentin F. Feltner.

S. Davidson Herron, who lost his amateur crown in last week's tourney, was tied for fourth place, with Mrs. Boyer as his partner. The other couple to equal their mark of 80 were Lord Hope and Miss Caverly. An unusually large gallery watched the play, the biggest throng following Miss Sterling and Jones around the links.

The scores follow:

Mrs. T. M. Fair and Gardiner White, 83, 8—75; Miss Marion Hollins and H. F. Whitney, 83, 5—78; Mr. and Mrs. Quentin F. Feltner, 83, 5—78; Mrs. Vanderbeck and J. H. Walker, 85, 7—78; Mrs. T. D. Smithers and Roger Wethered, 85, 6—79; Mrs. Boyer and S. Davidson Herron, 85, 5—80; Miss Caverly and Lord Hope, 85, 5—80; Mrs. H. F. Whitney and Findlay S. Douglas, 89, 8—81; Mrs. Jack Renwick and Charles Tiffany, 93, 11—82; Miss Alexa Stirling and Robert T. Jones, 2d, 82, 0—82; Mrs. Sherwood and Percy R. Pyne 2d, 93, 10—83; Mrs. J. H. Alexandre and Reginald F. Lewis, 90, 6—84; Mrs. C. C. Auchincloss and Joseph E. Davis, 94, 10—84; Mrs. Post and John N. Stearns, Jr., 92, 8—84; Mrs. J. E. Davis and Cyril Tolley, 91, 4—87; Mrs. C. D. Steiner Breaks a Golf Record.

H. A. Steiner, who won the qualifying round in the Inwood Country Club's championship golf tourney on Saturday, continued winning yesterday and incidentally broke the course record. The latter feat was made in Steiner's first-round match with M. P. Myers, whom he defeated, 9 and 8, making the journey in 75. The previous record at Inwood was 77, made by Dr. N. E. Sprague last month. Steiner made the outward trip in 35 and made the last nine holes in 40. In a second-round match he won from B. Goldstein, 8 up and 6 to play. The semi-final matches in the tournament will be played Saturday and Sunday.

CARPENTIER ARRIVES IN NEW YORK TODAY

French Boxer, with Manager Descamps, Will Land This Morning from La Lorraine.

All the pomp and ceremony which attended his initial visit to this country last spring is planned for the arrival of Georges Carpentier, European heavyweight boxing champion, this morning. The French boxer, with his manager, Francois Descamps, is scheduled to arrive here on the liner La Lorraine about 10 o'clock. The ship will dock at Pier 57, North River, where hundreds of his countrymen are expected to greet the returning war hero and boxing idol.

Marcel Ribaute, who is in charge of the reception ceremonies, announced yesterday that the welcoming delegates will assemble, with one or two bands, in the reception room of Pier 57 at 9 o'clock this morning. When Carpentier steps down the gangplank he will immediately be taken in tow, according to present plans, and escorted by his countrymen to the Biltmore, where he will make his headquarters while in this country.

A representative of the French Consulate is expected to welcome Carpentier, together with members of the French Democratic Club, the French War Veterans of 1870, L'Esperance, L'Amitie, La Ruche, L'Avenir, Les Felibres, L'Etoile, Les Gardes Lafayette, L'Union Alsacienne, L'Alsace-Lorraine and many other prominent French societies.

Tex O'Rourke of the International Sporting Club, which is promoting the fifteen-round bout between Carpentier and Battling Levinsky at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Oct. 12; Jack Curley, who arranged the match for Carpentier; M. Wilson, Carpentier's chief second, and many other admirers of the returning European champion plan to participate in the reception ceremonies.

EXPECT THRONG AT BOUTS.

Ted Kid Lewis and Mike O'Dowd Will Meet Next Week.

In anticipation of a large crowd at his all-star boxing show, which will be held under the auspices of The Arena at the Jersey City Baseball Park, Sept. 23, Jack Frost, president of the club, is planning an elaborate seating arrangement for the Skeeters' baseball field. It was at this park last year that the record crowd of 46,800 turned out for a bout between Frankie Burns and Johnny Kilbane. Frost is of the opinion that the forthcoming series of bouts will prove unusually attractive, and is making his plans for the accommodation of a capacity crowd.

The principal bout will bring together two former champions, Ted Kid Lewis, former king of the welterweights, and Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul, erstwhile leader of the middleweight ranks. The other bouts will be as follows: Willie Jackson vs. Ned Fitzgerald and Charlie Beecher vs. Frankie Burns.

GOLD NUGGET GOES TO GAR WOOD, JR., II.

Winning Motor Boat Averages 43.5 Statute Miles an Hour in Second Heat.

DETROIT, Sept. 12.—The Gar Wood, Jr., II., flying the pennant of the Detroit Yacht Club and with G. A. Wood at the wheel, took the second heat and first prize in the Gar Wood $5,000 gold nugget race in the Gold Cup Regatta here this afternoon. Wood's boat finished the 43¼-mile heat alone, two other starters having been forced out after completing more than half the heat. Wood's elapsed time for the distance was 59:35, an average of 43.5 statute miles an hour.

Sure Cure of the Detroit Yacht Club, winner of yesterday's heat, and Miss Nassau of the Cleveland Yacht Club were disqualified by their failure to finish today's heat, and it was decided not to run a third heat tomorrow. The standing of the three contenders on points for the two heats was: Gar Wood, Jr., II., 6; Sure Cure, 4; Miss Nassau, 3.

A pretty finish marked the second 22½-mile heat in the Sallan Trophy race for cabin cruisers with a maximum speed of seventeen miles an hour. The heat was won by Lidwina III., of the Buffalo Launch Club.

Entering the river after the swing into the lake in eighth place, the Buffalo cruiser, with E. B. Egan at the wheel, overtook six others before reaching the lower turn into the home stretch. In the half-mile from the last turn to the finish line Lidwina overhauled Cornelius II. of the Cleveland Yacht Club and crossed the line less than one minute ahead of the Cleveland cruiser. The other six, 2 P. M. of Detroit; White Cap, Toledo; Tillamook, Detroit; Mauvol, Detroit; Pidando, Detroit, and Lilli Vesta, Detroit, crossed the finish line in the order named within four minutes after the victor. The final heat in the Sallan race will be run tomorrow.

Second heats in the Carl Fisher Trophy race for displacement boats capable of thirty-five statute miles an hour and the Gold Challenge Cup race will be features of tomorrow's racing. It was announced today that Miss Toronto of the Toronto Boat Club will start in the Gold Cup race tomorrow.

KODAK LEADS MOTOR BOATS.

Time Allowance Gives It Victory in Hudson River Y. C. Race.

Kodak, the speedy motor boat owned by Richard Hasslinger, won the annual fifty-mile race of the Hudson River Yacht Club yesterday, beginning at the club landing at the foot of Ninety-second Street and going to Rockland Light and return. Nine boats took part in the race and favorable weather made the event one of the most successful of the season. Kodak won on its time allowance, the best actual time being made by T. W. Johns's Falcon, which covered the distance in 4:53, two minutes and twenty seconds better than Kodak. On corrected time, however, Kodak was victorious, its figures being 4:05:17, as compared to Falcon's 4:05:52.

The start was made at 10:30 and the race was held under the rules of the American Power Boat Association. Of the other competing yachts Viva took third honors, with the other boats coming home close on the heels of the three leaders. Falcon was first to cross the finish line, with Viva second and Kodak third. On corrected time Falcon took second honors and Viva third.

The summaries:

JACK O' LANTERN IS VICTOR.

Leads Arrow Class Yachts Over Indian Harbor Course.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 12.—In a northeast wind which shifted to southwest the Jack o' Lantern, owned by Leonard H. Dyer, won the race among Arrow Class yachts over the five-mile course of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club this morning. R. H. Monks's Windward II. was a close second.

H. N. Whittlesey's Salomey was the winner in the Indian Harbor one-design class.

FIVE HARNESS RACES LISTED

Matron Stake on Today's Card at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Five events, with purses totaling $13,500, comprise the opening day's program of the Grand Circuit meeting here tomorrow in connection with the New York State Fair. The feature event of the day's card is the Matron Stake for three-year-old trotters, with a purse of $6,500.

The Empire State Stake, $10,000, will be contested Tuesday. The speediest of the big line 2:12 class trotters are entered.

Omnium Stakes in Paris Won By Former Vanderbilt Racer

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Battersea, from the stable of U. Rutgers Leroy, and formerly belonging to the late W. K. Vanderbilt, today won the Omnium Stakes, the French St. Leger, at the resumption of the Metropolitan racing season at Auteuil. Sixteen horses started. The winner was ridden by Frank O'Neill, the American jockey, and paid three to one in the betting.

MILKY WAY LEADS STAR CLASS YACHTS

Finishes First in Final Event of Manhasset Bay Season, with Aquilla Second.

PORT WASHINGTON, L. I., Sept. 12.—The curtain fell on yacht racing for the season on Manhasset Bay this afternoon, when the Port Washington Yacht Club held a special handicap race for yachts of the Star Class over the triangular course. The handicaps were determined on the basis of the showing of the seven yachts in the last of the three races for the interclub championship trophy. William L. Inslee of the Bayside Yacht Club, who won that event with the Taurus, did not compete today, but the two principal prizes put up by the Port Washington Club were won by a skipper of the Bayside Club when F. W. Teves sailed the Milky Way to another victory.

The Milky Way won both the first scratch and the first handicap prizes, second scratch prize going to Gordon Curry, sailing the Aquilla under the colors of the Port Washington Yacht Club, and second handicap prize to Arthur Teller in the Nereid, the latter being another Bayside contestant.

The summary:

HANDICAP RACE, STAR CLASS.
Start 3:40; course, 3½ miles.

TENNIS AT HOBOKEN.

Tourney for Castle Point Trophies Will Begin on Saturday.

One of the few and the most important of the remaining lawn tennis tournaments of the present season in the metropolitan district is the Castle Point Tournament of the Hoboken Tennis Club, which will begin next Saturday. Matches will be played in men's singles, women's singles and mixed doubles. Entries for the men's singles will close Wednesday evening, Sept. 15, and for the women's singles on Saturday. Play in the women's singles will begin next Monday.

Entries for mixed doubles will close Tuesday, Sept. 21, and play will begin the next day. Harold Throckmorton won the men's cup last year, Helene Pollak the women's cup, and Mrs. Samuel Waring and Fred Letson the mixed doubles. The cups are three-year cups and the winners have to play through each year.

Trotting Jottings.

Murphy had one of the best weeks of his career at the Hartford meeting, where on four days he had a mount in twelve of the sixteen races contested. Friday, when rain stopped the races, he called at the pay window and found he was credited with seven first moneys, two seconds, two thirds and a fourth. Crozier also won a race for him with Ethel Chimes on Thursday, Symbol S. Forrest finishing third in the same event after winning a heat in 2:02¼, the fastest at the meeting.

The returns for the week show that Murphy won the free-for-all on the opening day with Sanardo in 2:03¼, and finished second to Wiki Wiki with Dar Hyal in 2:08¼. On Tuesday he won through the heavy footing with Red Russell and Dr. Nick, the latter defeating Selka, Tootsie Toise and Don de Lopez. Three of the four races decided Wednesday were won by Murphy with John Henry, Dar Hyal and Arion Guy.

Thursday Murphy scored his fifth victory in ten years in the $10,000 Charter Oak Purse, when he breezed home in front of the field with Peter Manning in 2:05¾. His first win was made in 1911 with R. T. C. His next was earned by Peter Scott in 1915, while the last three were checked off with Chilcoot, Mariondale and Peter Manning.

Williams Football Men Arriving.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Sept. 12.—Members of the Williams football team have started to arrive in town in preparation for the opening practice which is slated for tomorrow. Smith, substitute centre last year, and Lasell, the veteran tackle, were the first two to report. Coach Brooks and Captain Boynton are slated to come on from New York City tomorrow.

UNION EIGHT VICTOR IN ITS FINAL RACE

Defeats Octopede Crew in Exhibition Rowing Contest on the Harlem River.

The Union Boat Club's senior eight-oared shell crew, victors in the recent Middle States Regatta Association annual fixture, hung up its blades yesterday, after a spectacular victory over an octopede crew in an exhibition race held in connection with the Union Boat Club members' regatta on the Harlem River. The senior eight, stroked by F. Brodil, snatched victory in the exhibition test of half a mile, after a nip-and-tuck battle from beginning to end of the journey.

The race was arranged for the purpose of providing a final glimpse of the fast Union eight in competition. Originally it was planned to send the crew down the stream alone, but this plan was discarded when an octopede crew was assembled, and a thrilling race ensued. The two boats, sent at a fast pace through the water by the sturdy strokes of their opponents, raced practically on even terms until within twenty-five yards of the finish mark, when Stroke Brodil and Van Houten, at No. 7, put added strength to their blades and, with a rhythmic response from the remainder of the crew, sent the shell home in front by a margin of about three feet.

This race was one of five conducted as the closing competitive attraction of the Union Club. Stroke Brodil had a gala day, taking the honors in three races and missing another victory by a slim margin. Brodil stroked the winning crews in the four oared gig and centipede races, and just missed adding to his achievements in the eight-oared shell race, in which his craft trailed that of Crew 2, stroked by F. Hekker.

Joe Culletin and James Harth rowed to a hard-earned victory in the double gig event, in which five crews got away. The Culleton-Harth combination had a struggle with A. Lochhead and A. Aubrey through the opening quarter, but the latter pair tired in the drive on the finish line and victory went to Culleton and Harth by a length of open water.

The summaries:

Double Gig Race—Won by Crew No. 2 (J. Culleton and J. Harth); Crew No. 1 (A. Lochhead and A. Aubrey), second; Crew No. 3 (G. Harth and S. Hekker), third.

Four-Oared Gig Race—Won by Crew No. 1 (bow, E. Finnegan; 2, G. Harth; 3, I. Copper; stroke, F. Brodil; coxswain, G. Stolz); Crew No. 2 (bow, J. Culleton; 2, M. Lampman; 3, G. Wascheck; stroke, J. Harth; coxswain, E. Culleton), second.

Centipede Race—Won by Crew No. 2 (bow, I. Copper; 2, M. Lampman; 3, J. Culleton; stroke, F. Brodil); Crew No. 1 (bow, A. Aubrey; 2, E. Finnegan; 3, L. Godsel; stroke, W. Falb), second.

Eight-Oared Shell Race—Won by Crew No. 2 (bow, J. Jannicke; 2, W. Stolz; 3, J. Regan; 4, L. Godsel; 5, A. Lochhead; 6, W. Ripperger; 7, J. Harth; stroke, F. Hekker; coxswain, L. Aime); Crew No. 1 (bow, M. Murphy; 2, A. Aubrey; 3, T. Meagher; 4, E. Finnegan; 5, M. Lampman; 6, G. Wascheck; 7, I. Copper; stroke, F. Brodil; coxswain, G. Stolz), second.

Exhibition Race—Won by senior eight-oared shell crew (bow, F. Hekker; 2, J. Harth; 3, R. Swinburne; 4, C. Dixon; 5, G. Harth; 6, I. Copper; 7, S. Van Houten; stroke, F. Brodil; coxswain, J. Culleton); octopede crew (bow, E. Finnegan; 2, M. Lampman; 3, W. Bertsch; 4, L. Godsel; 5, G. Wascheck; 6, W. Falb; 7, A. Lochhead; stroke, J. Harth; coxswain, G. Stolz), second.

SCHIMPF WINNING CANOEIST.

Captures Two Individual and One Team Event in Hudson Regatta.

M. Schimpf of the Tubby Hook Canoe Club carried off the individual laurels yesterday in his club's canoe regatta held in the Hudson River off Dyckman Street. Schimpf captured two individual victory awards and, with Ottinger, also won the canoe-tilting contest. Schimpf's individual triumphs came in the single blade event and duck race. With Ottinger, in the tilting test, he emerged victorious over Regan and Hines, clubmates, in 16:20.

The summaries:

One-Man Single Blade Race—Won by Schimpf, Tubby Hook C. C.; Vogel, Inwood C. C., second.

Tandem Double Blade Race—Won by Foote and Lederer, Byrnes C. C.; Fairbanks and Freeland, Unity Club, second.

Canoe Tilting Contest—Won by Ottinger and Schimpf, Tubby Hook C. C.; Regan and Hines, Tubby Hook C. C., second. Time—16:20.

FINANCIAL SITUATION

Business Enters Autumn Season in State of Indecision—Prospect of Great Crops.

The changes taking place in the underlying business and financial strata as the Autumn season progresses are of a character not yet apparent in sentiment. The country's bank clearings in August, the smallest for any month, excepting last February, since June of last year, told of a contraction of business as well as of a lowering of goods prices, but reports from leading districts of manufacture and distribution fail to disclose a uniform reaction. Activity continues in some lines, as in steel and iron, and the plaint of shortages of materials, including the building field, is heard in some quarters, not excluding products considered as luxuries. It seems as though labor is finding no difficulty in obtaining re-employment when released from undertakings that are feeling the effect of a lessened demand. And the persistence of strikes and threats of more strikes show that workers maintain confidence that there will be more jobs than hands for some time to come. Being bereft of new influences, the various markets last week supplied little material for making estimates of the next few weeks or for several months ahead. Some significance might, however, be attached to the opening of the American Woolen Company's books for Spring orders. It was not so much the fact that prices were reduced 10 to 20 per cent., for declines were in line with expectations, as the atmosphere surrounding the acceptance of forward orders. The company may or may not have known in advance of the presence of buying which would make profitable an early reopening of the mills. The impression gathered from the company's action was that prices were adjusted and plans for increased manufacturing were formed with the thought of stimulating a business which had fallen into a severe slump, with the purpose of re-creating confidence where doubt and uncertainty had long prevailed. The result will be interesting to business outside of the textile field. If the woolen company succeeds in arousing its own market, the possibility is contained of a renewal of activity elsewhere in directions marked by a great deal of hesitation among wholesalers who have been unfavorably impressed by the attitude of consumers since last May. The Autumn period is usually one of increased business as compared with the Summer. It remains to be seen whether a diffident and drifting initial week means a continuance for the entire season.

The downward movement of wholesale prices continues and as long as it goes on it will be clear that buyers are holding back or supplies of goods are increasing faster than the absorptive powers of the consumer or a combination of these forces. Business has learned, however, that it is unsafe to make plans on the basis of current statistics, for conditions may be altered almost over night. Last Spring many sellers of textile, leather and other goods found rather suddenly that they were overstocked, because the market had unexpectedly fallen out from under them, and it may be that these and others will discover by and by that their shelves hold too few materials for a new demand.

Grain crop prospects are not only much better than a month and two months ago, but they hold forth the promise of a yield which will stand high among the best in the country's history. While the September survey by the Department of Agriculture indicates a 25,000,000 bushel decline of Spring wheat from the August forecast, the total probable crop of 770,000,000 of Winter and Spring wheat, together with a 100,000,000 bushel carry-over will cover domestic requirements and leave about 250,000,000 bushels for export. Last year's exports amounted to 222,000,000 bushels. From the point of view of new wealth the crops as a whole are to be considered rather than unusually large or disappointingly small returns from any one crop. The outlook is for 3,131,000,000 bushels of corn, a new high record, on top of 2,484,000,000 bushels of other grain, or an aggregate expected yield of 5,615,000,000 bushels. Last year the return from the soil was 250,000,000 bushels less. These figures fail to disclose any reasons for pessimism over prospective business conditions in the farming regions, and the vast new spending power of the producers of grain cannot help but be reflected through a wide radius of industry from one coast to the other. There is a bit of irony in the thought that whereas some doubt was expressed in April and May over the possibility of the crops being large enough to meet home and foreign demand, the point of uncertainty now lies in the question whether or not the railroads will be able to move the grain fast enough to meet the call of the markets.

At a time of criticism of the Federal Reserve banks, it is of some public interest to recite how they functioned last week to relieve a credit pinch at New York. The local Reserve District had with the member banks at the beginning of the week about $400,000,000 of the $650,000,000 Treasury certificates of indebtedness which mature on Wednesday. This was a heavy load at a time when income tax payments and interest and dividend requirements, also due for payment on Wednesday, required financing. Predictions were made that both the Reserve Bank and member institutions, grouped in the Clearing House Association, would make a poor showing in their weekly statements. But the Reserve Bank stepped into the situation, taking over a large amount of Treasury certificates from the banks, distributing them among other Federal Reserve Banks and enabling the sellers to replenish their cash as well as to retire loans at the New York Reserve Bank. The result was a general improvement of the banking position, including that of the Reserve Bank itself, which received credit through the gold settlement fund for certificates sold to the other Reserve institutions. It was for the meeting of an emergency of this sort, among other duties, that the Reserve Bank system was formed and the simplicity of the operation should go far to ease the minds of any persons who still fear the return of "money panics."

The stock market of last week was hardly satisfactory to those traders who had counted upon a continuation of the preceding week's rise. This was especially true of the railroad market, for irregular tendencies had been expected in the industrial list. The shifting qualities of quotations showed that forces which bring about a sustained rise had not become coordinated. The sentimental effect of a quick oversubscription of the $100,000,000 French Government loan was lost under profit-taking sales, and the bond market seemed to come under the onus of the same influence.

A Sound Financial Condition

There are 1,100 members of the New York Stock Exchange. The average of business failures among them during the past ten years is less than ½ of 1% per annum. Half of these settled with their creditors and were reinstated, reducing the absolute failures to ¼ of 1%. This percentage is lower than that of any other business, including national banking.

This reveals a high degree of business ability and honesty among Exchange members and suggests the desirability of conducting security transactions with firms where risk is reduced to a minimum.

MAYOR ASSAILS BUDGET DEMANDS

Amazed at the Tremendous Increases Requested for the City Departments.

WILL EXCEED DEBT LIMIT

Wants Pay-as-You-Go Law Amended to Permit Bond Issues for the Building of Schools.

Mayor Hylan, in a statement issued yesterday, declared that he was amazed at the tremendous increases requested for the city departments in the preparation of the 1921 budget, and added that "those requesting more and more millions for the different activities of the city seem to have little conception or regard for the burden that is continually being placed upon the backs of the taxptyer." The Mayor declared that under the present system adequate appropriations for the construction of new schools were impossible.

"The Legislature, through mandatory legislation, has placed a burden upon the city of between twenty-five and thirty million dollars," says the Mayor's statement, "for which burden on the taxpayers the city administration is in no way responsible for the greatly increased taxes which will result. With the mandatory legislation passed at the last session of the Legislature and the wild scramble for money for all sorts of activities, the budget will go millions beyond the debt limit.

"The financial crowd in Wall Street had a law passed several years ago known as the pay-as-you-go law, compelling the city authorities each year to put into the tax budget the amounts appropriated for public improvements, such as the building of schoolhouses.

"The President of the Board of Education requests approximately $46,000,000 for the construction of new schools, which are sorely needed in this city, because of the neglect of past administrations. If this $46,000,000 were appropriated to build schoolhouses in one year it would all practically have to be placed in the tax budget of that year, which would be an impossible burden for the taxpayers to meet, and likewise retard the construction of new schools. Before the pay-as-you-go law was passed, long-term bonds were issued covering a period of possibly forty years, thereby spreading these enormous expenses over a period of many years, so that posterity would help to pay for the construction of public schools which they will enjoy after our time.

"It was this situation which prompted the President of the Board of Education to ask that a special meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment be called to request the Governor to send a message to the special session of the Legislature asking that they exempt appropriations for the construction of schools from the pay-as-you-go law, in order that the people may have schools for their children and not be obliged to pay for these schools practically all in one year through tax levies.

"I call this to the attention of the public, in order that they may understand the tremendous demands that are being made in the next year's budget and to ask their co-operation through the members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to help curtail requests for appropriations in the 1921 budget."

MERCHANTS WANT HEARING.

But Rail Board Does Not Plan to Create Tribunals.

The United States Railway Board, in reply to a request made by the Merchants' Association for a hearing before any order is issued establishing national boards of adjustment to deal with controversies between railroads and their employes, has declared, according to a statement issued yesterday by the Merchants' Association, that the question of creating tribunals is not now before it.

The Merchants' Association reports a nation-wide response to its appeal for commercial organizations to take action upon the proposal to create national adjustment boards. Nearly all of the organizations say that they would be represented at any hearing which may be set on the proposal.

NEW DIET KITCHEN RECORDS

Association's 8 Stations Handled 9,718 Cases in Last 100 Days.

The New York Diet Kitchen Association has exceeded all records in work accomplished this Summer, according to a report issued yesterday from 33 West Forty-second Street. During this period 3,727 babies under 2 years, 1,307 children of pre-school age between 2 and 6 years, 3,963 mothers, 380 prospective mothers and 341 social service cases have received care or instruction. In the last 100 days 9,718 individual cases have been under the care of its eight milk and health stations.

Miss R. A. Miller, assistant director, explained that the staff, which comprises twenty-five doctors, fifteen nurses, ten aids and one dietician, has done other than intensive work in the stations, where 462 conferences have been attended by 14,405 persons. The nures, their aids and the dietician have made 6,909 visits in the homes, enabling the visitor to assist in the proper adjustment of home conditions.

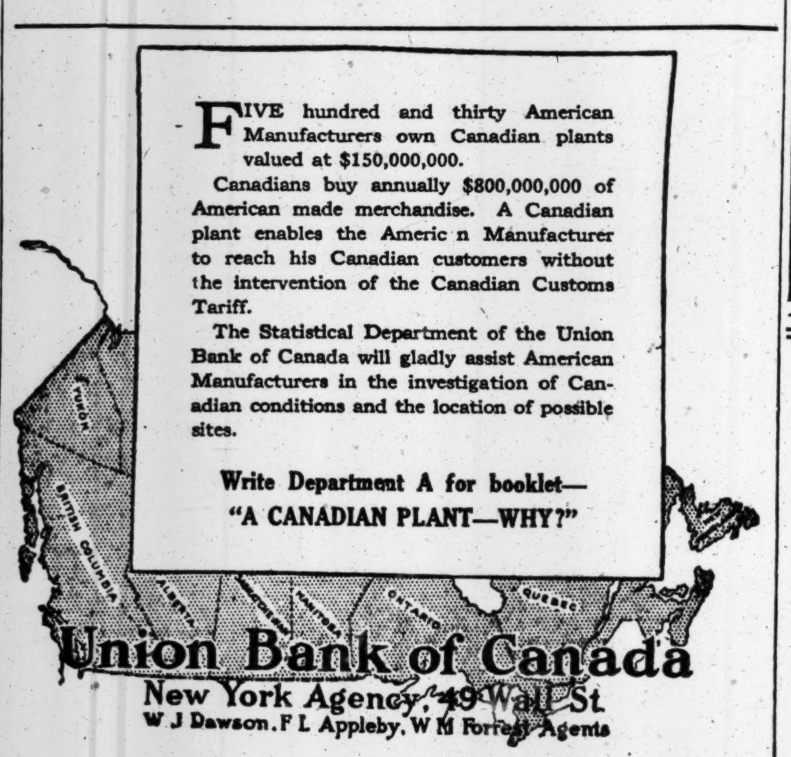
A Canadian Plant—Why?



FIVE hundred and thirty American Manufacturers own Canadian plants valued at $150,000,000.

Canadians buy annually $800,000,000 of American made merchandise. A Canadian plant enables the American Manufacturer to reach his Canadian customers without the intervention of the Canadian Customs Tariff.

The Statistical Department of the Union Bank of Canada will gladly assist American Manufacturers in the investigation of Canadian conditions and the location of possible sites.

SAYS OWEN CHARGES ARE BASED ON FACTS

Controller of Currency Insists Banks Here Have Exacted Excessive Rates.

QUOTES THEIR REPORTS

These Show Instances of Loans at 14, 18, 20 and 25, and in One Case 30 Per Cent.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—John Skelton Williams, the Controller of the Currency, issued a statement tonight backing up the charges of Senator Owen of Oklahoma that some New York banks had been making call loans at excessive rates of interest.

Mr. Williams declared that the statements made by Senator Owen are substantially correct and that in thousands of instances and at numerous times "burdensome and oppressive" interest rates were charged upon call loans, aggregating hundreds of millions of dollars. Mr. Williams, however, reiterated his previous statement that "although the aggregate amount upon unjust and oppressive interest rates which has been exacted by some banks is very large, a majority of the national banks in New York City have made a comparatively small proportion of their loans at these indefensible rates."

In his statement today Mr. Williams says:

"A leading New York paper, in its financial columns criticises the statements made this week by Senator Owen relative to the excessive interest rates which have been charged by certain banks in New York City during the past year, and says that bankers point out that when Senator Owen charges that $500,000,000 has been loaned at rates up to 30 per cent. he is speaking without the record. Continuing, the press article says:

"'That high figure was obtained on the Stock Exchange for about ten minutes one afternoon, the middle of last November, and probably as much as one million dollars was loaned at the rate.'

"During the last year the burdensome and oppressive interest rates to which the Senator refers have been exacted, not in 'one or two possible insignificant instances,' as one New York paper expressed it, and not as to the 'high figure,' as another paper expressed it, 'for about ten minutes one afternoon the middle of last November,' but in thousands of instances at numerous times and upon call loans aggregating hundreds of millions of dollars.

"The information on this subject requested as of Aug. 5 from all of the New York City banks has been applied by nearly all of them and is now being compiled; but in anticipation of a more complete statement which will be available later it may be interesting to the public to know that the amount of demand loans, upon which two or three of the banks only (exclusive of various others which were charging the same rates), were exacting 20 per cent. or more per annum interest—in some instances as high as 25 and 30 per cent., was:

"On Nov. 13, 1919, about $50,000,000.

"On Nov. 14, 1919, about $40,000,000.

"The new call loans at the rate of 25 per cent. per annum made by one of these banks at the close of the year on Dec. 29, 30 and 31 aggregated about $20,000,000.

"On Jan. 2, 1920, the two or three banks referred to were lending at 18, 20 and 25 per cent. interest about $75,000,000.

"On Jan. 3, 4 and 5 the two or three banks referred to were lending at 18 per cent. interest from $60,000,000 to $70,000,000.

"On Feb. 6, 1920, at 20 and 25 per cent. over $40,000,000.

"On Feb. 9, 1920, at 20 per cent. interest about $40,000,000.

"As late as the end of June it appears that interest as high as 14 per cent. per annum was being demanded by these banks on millions of dollars of call loans.

"These illustrations are from the official records of only two or three of the thirty-odd national banks in New York City, but are sufficient I think to show the unfairness and incorrectness of the criticisms of Senator Owen's just condemnation of the excessive interest rates which for some time past have been distinctly disturbing factors in the business and financial situation."

KIMBALL REPLIES TO MEYER.

Suggests Bankers Get Together on Plan to Encourage Savings.

Ingalls Kimball, President of the National Thrift Bond Corporation, in a statement issued yesterday urges that a call be sent out to savings, investment and commercial bankers to "get together and combat by constructive action the fallacy of economic salvation by governmental enactment suggested for the savings scarcity by Eugene Meyer, Jr.—namely, increasing the number of Postal Savings Banks and raising the interest rate on postal deposits from 2 to 4 per cent."

Mr. Kimball asserts that Mr. Meyer's plan would not be practical and that it is within the power of the Investment Bankers' Association and the American Bankers' Association to adopt a plan of popular investment, with a liberal sales commission to banks and bankers, which would put in operation a selling force "the like of which has not been seen since the Liberty loans and which would continue to function permanently, to the great advantage of themselves, their customers and the nation."

"It is definitely within the power of the 25,000 banking institutions and the thousands of investment bankers in this country to increase the number of regular savers by 10,000,000, and quite possible to secure an addition of $2,500,000,000 a year (less than 5 per cent. of the annual wages fund of $50,000,000,000) to productive investment," says Mr. Kimball.

"The $2,500,000,000 which Mr. Meyer proposes to raise annually from 10,000,000 new investors can be raised continuously, year after year—but not by governmental action. It can be raised if the commercial, the savings and the investment bankers of this country will unite upon a uniform security, based on solid savings bank values and paying an interest rate low enough to allow a selling margin so broad as to provide an ample profit for the bankers themselves and the salesmen in their employ."

Refuse to Halt Canadian Rates.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—The Dominion Government in an official statement issued tonight declined to grant a stay in the ruling of the Board of Railway Commissioners which authorized the railways to increase freight, passenger and sleeping car rates. The order goes into effect tomorrow. The Government, however, recognized the right of appeal against the ruling and, it was announced, would facilitate an early hearing.

GERMAN EXPORTERS LOSING DUTCH TRADE

AMERICANS GAIN THEREBY

But Dutch Wish Our Merchants Would Agree to Arbitration of Disputes, Says Publisher.

German manufacturers have been so slow in restoring their products to prewar standards and have been so unscrupulous in repudiating contracts, in marked contrast to the methods of American and British manufacturers, that it will be a long time before they can ever compete with exporters of this country or England, according to Franklin Johnston, publisher of The American Exporter, who has just returned from a study of European markets.

"In Holland, where German trade should, if anywhere, be showing distinct recovery," said Mr. Johnston yesterday, "German manufacturers have received a black eye as a result of their wholesale repudiation of contracts. The cost of materials and wages rose in Germany very rapidly after the armistice, coincidentally with the fall of the value of the mark, and German manufacturers refused to deliver merchandise at the prices at which they had accepted orders.

"While Dutch importers fully realize the exceptional conditions and while the German courts for a time at least uphelp repudiation on contracts within Germany based on these exceptional rises in cost, the charge is made in Holland that German manufacturers often refused delivery except at a cost which not only covered the increased cost but gave them an extra profit.

"I was told that American manufacturers, who have also been contending with increase in costs, had lived up to their contracts absolutely; also that when British manufacturers found they had to make delivery at a loss they lived up to their contracts and, at the most, drew the importers' attention to the exceptional circumstances and left it to him as to whether he would let them stand this loss or not.

"The prestige of both American and British manufacturers has been greatly increased in Holland and that of German manufacturers greatly decreased since the armistice. The better class of German manufacturers, I was told, are now accepting many of their orders from Holland on a sliding scale basis.

"One suggestion that was made with regard to Dutch trade was that the Dutch importers would like to see greater recourse to arbitration where there was any dispute over quality of deliveries, the claim being made that American exporters, even if they agreed to arbitration in their contracts, are not, under American law, absolutely bound to such arbitration, but may, if they elect, refuse to arbitrate, and have the case tried in the law courts. This is not satisfactory to the Dutch importers, who prefer arbitration."

SAYS AIR MAIL IS RUN FOR SPEED, NOT PROFIT

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Colonel John A. Jordan, chief construction officer of the Aerial Mail Service, when asked today if the Aerial Mail paid, said:

"The Post Office Department is not run as a profitable institution. If it were, over 80 per cent. of its normal operations would cease and would be continued only in large cities. We do not wish to make the Post Office Department pay, nor could it do so if it tried. Our Post Office Aerial Mail Service, particularly since it came into the hands of Mr. Burleson, is being run with the greatest amount of speed. We are trying to do our best for speed of mail delivery for common people as well as big business interests.

"In all matters except the transportation of mail we are strong for economy. We will not risk fifty cents too much on a telegram, but instead will put that fifty cents toward letting common people get their mail free of overhead expenses. We are going to get mail through at any costs.

"There is another phase of aerial mail about which people seem to know very little. We are now drilling a large force of pilots and ground men who, in case of an emergency, can be placed at the disposal of Uncle Sam's army or navy within forty-eight hours' notice. No nation in the world has such a scheme."

TO GET PUBLIC TELEPHONES

Public telephones will be ready for use before the end of the week at the principal stations of the Interborough and Brooklyn Rapid Transit lines in Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx and Queens, Transit Construction Commissioner John H. Delaney announced yesterday. There will be 1,153 such booths on the city-owned lines and almost the same number on the elevated stations of the two systems. The installation of the booths will proceed as rapidly as possible during the next three months.

Under the terms of the agreement the telephone company will pay to the operating roads for the booths 10 per cent. on the first 50 cents; 5 per cent. additional on the next 25 cents and 20 per cent. on all receipts above $1 a day. The New York Telephone Company now has more than 76,000 unfilled applications for service.

MEXICO TO SUPPLY MOST OF OUR OIL

Promises to Become Hemisphere's Reservoir, Says Commerce Department.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Mexico promises to become the oil reservoir of the Western Hemisphere, the Department of Commerce declared today in a review of the petroleum industry in the southern republic. With increased consumption in the United States likely to exhaust producing fields in this country within twenty or twenty-five years, Mexico, the statement said, "offers the most encouragement to the American oil industry, both for present production and geographical situation."

Exhaustion of 40 per cent. of the producing fields of the United States, the department's review stated, has caused Mexico to take second place in oil production, although only about 12 per cent. of the potential capacity of Mexican wells is being actually produced.

Oil exports from Mexico during the first six months of 1920 totaled 60,000,000 barrels, an increase of 72 per cent. over the previous year. At this rate total exports for the year are expected, according to the department, to reach 135,000,000 barrels.

Development of the Mexican oil fields, however, is only in its infancy, the review states, adding that of the 231,250 square miles of territory believed to contain oil deposits, not more than 800 square miles are being exploited. Curtailment of production is ascribed by the department to lack of transportation and storage facilities and to the unsettled political conditions.

Of the $350,000,000 estimated to be invested in the Mexican oil industry, including $50,000,000 in tankers, about 70 per cent. represents American capital, one review says. About 27 per cent. is British and Dutch capital, and 3 per cent. Mexican and other interests. Twenty-seven companies are producing oil in Mexico, seventeen of which are American-owned, five Spanish-Mexican, three Dutch and two British.

The United States received 71 per cent. of the oil exported during the first six months of 1920.

URGES LARGE CREDIT FOR ELECTRIC LINES

John H. Pardee Suggests That Regulatory Bodies Make Returns More Flexible.

CALLS SITUATION ACUTE

Nearly $400,000,000 of New Capital Needed at Once to Make Up for Deterioration.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—John H. Pardee, President of the American Electric Railway Association, holds that credit is vitally needed by electric railways throughout the United States, and can, in his opinion, best be restored by regulatory bodies making the returns to lines more flexible.

"In the electric railway industry," Mr. Pardee said in a formal statement, "as in every other business, economic law dictates that the price of the product must be based upon the cost of producing it. In the attempt to regulate the profits and the service of electric railways, this truth has been lost sight of and the operation of these carriers has been so hedged about with laws, ordinances, regulations and contract restrictions, that in the main their revenue has been controlled by the dictum of commissions and other regulatory authorities, while their expenses have been controlled by economic law alone, and have mounted as expenses in all other business and among the private individuals have mounted.

"To restore electric railway credit it is essential that these artificial methods of fixing prices should be done away with. As the commission well states 'Public control must be flexible enough to enable them to secure sufficient revenues to pay the entire cost of the service rendered, including the necessary cost of both capital and labor.'

"A very acute situation exists among the electric railways at the present time. The abnormal increase in urban population, which has marked the development of the country during the last thirty years, continues, as is evidenced by the latest census returns. The problem of caring for these new millions of city dwellers is not alone one of providing dwellings, it is equally a problem of providing local transportation facilities.

"The industry needs immediately for such extensions and betterments and for the rehabilitation of existing properties which have deteriorated during the war, between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 of new capital and it will need for years to come an average of more than $200,000,000 a year, exclusive of its refunding obligations. Today, the investor looks askance at electric railway securities, and it is practically impossible for these companies to dispose of either their stocks or bonds.

"Unless the confidence of the investor be regained, the electric railways of this country, which represent an outlay of more than $5,000,000,000, will cease to properly function and will prove of little avail in the solution of the housing and transportation problem which confronts almost every community in the entire United States.

"They should not be weakened in their ability to serve the public by the competition of jitneys or city buses which cannot approach the complete service rendered by electric railways; they should not be compelled to bear an undue burden of taxation and public charges and they should have freedom to put into operation every practicable operating economy that is in the public interest. Only in this way are low fares possible, and the lowest fare compatible with the payment of full cost of service, including a return that will attract the necessary new capital, is in the interest of both the public and the companies."

Turkey to Pay Back Interest.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 12.—The interest on the Turkish Government loans and securities held by citizens or subjects of countries which recently were at war with Turkey may now be paid, says an official note published in the Official Journal today. The decree is retroactive and accumulated interest from 1914 until March, 1920, will be paid. Payment will be in Turkish paper money.

Syndicalists Force Paper to Suspend

BARCELONA, Sept. 12.—La Publicidad has decided to suspend publication, in consequence of the frequent Syndicalist attacks on its employes. Other newspaper proprietors have informed the Government that they also are considering cessation of publication unless better protection for their men is provided.

The Civic Pride of DANIEL LUDLOW

A LITTLE incident in the vicissitudes of Bowling Green goes far to show the public spirit of the merchants and men of affairs who inspired the policy of the Bank of the Manhattan Company. In 1786, Bowling Green being neglected, Daniel Ludlow (later first President of the Bank) offered at his own expense "to manure the ground and sow the same with proper grass seed and have it well laid down as a green." In short, the unique service performed to the business community by the Bank of the Manhattan Company is not a matter of resources alone, but of insight and community spirit, so that the services of the Officers of the Bank become a personal service, rendered in the light of full knowledge and understanding.

Seaboard Air Line Railway Company

To the Holders of the $4,000,000 Six Per Cent. Secured Gold Notes of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, Dated September 15, 1917, due September 15, 1920.

Through the co-operation of Division Four (Finance Division) of the Interstate Commerce Commission under Section 210 of the Transportation Act of 1920, the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company is enabled to offer to each holder of a $1,000 note of the above issue, $750 in cash, the balance, $250, to be extended to September 15, 1923, with interest at 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually. Upon presentation at the Guaranty Trust Company of New York or The Continental Trust Company, Baltimore, the cash amount will be paid on September 15th, and the extended notes delivered containing the necessary coupons. The interest coupon due September 15th should be detached and collected in the usual manner.

The character of collateral to secure the extended amount is the same as now held by the Trustee of this note issue (the First and Consolidated Series "A" 6 per cent. bonds of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company) and will be held by the Trustee in the same proportion or pro rata amount as is held by the Secretary of the Treasury to secure the portion of the loan the Government has made to the Railway Company to assist in meeting the aforesaid notes.

The above-mentioned loan from the Government matures in fifteen years, with the first payment eleven years from the date thereof, and as required by the Transportation Act the Interstate Commerce Commission has issued a certificate to the Secretary of the Treasury that the prospective earning power of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company together with the character and value of the security offered, furnish reasonable assurance of the ability of the Railway Company to repay the Government loan at maturity.

The Loans made by the Commission to the Railway Company under Section 210 of the Transportation Act bear interest at 6 per cent. per annum with maturities 11-15 years from date and will materially aid the Railway Company, for, in addition to assisting in meeting the aforesaid notes as above described, important additions and betterments and other needs of transportation are provided for the Railway, under the Transportation Act.

The Seaboard Air Line, together with the other railroads of the country, was controlled and operated during the years 1918, 1919, and until March 1, 1920, by the United States Railroad Administration. The guarantee as to compensation during that period was extended by Congress to September 1, 1920. The annual rental or compensation provided by the Federal Control Act to be paid by the Government for the use of the Railway's property has met the fixed and other charges of the Company, including the interest on its adjustment bonds.

Under the Transportation Act rates are now required to be adjusted to yield, as near as may be, a return of 5½ per cent. on the value of the property of the carriers devoted to the public use, in the aggregate, in each of the four rate groups or districts established by the Commission, plus one-half of one per cent. for unproductive improvements at the option of the Commission. The Seaboard Air Line is in the Southern Group. The value of the property of the railroads of the Southern Group, in the aggregate, has been found by the Commission, for the purposes of this procedure, to be $2,000,000,000 (the combined property accounts of the railroads as of December 31, 1919, composing this group being $2,183,923,124.

An increase in rates has recently been granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission under which the railroads will now operate. While the increase granted the Southern District (25 per cent.) is apparently not proportionately as great as in the Eastern (40 per cent.) and in the Western (35 per cent.) Districts, the Commission was of the opinion that such increase (25 per cent.) would, under conditions obtaining at that time, result in rates that will yield a return of 6 per cent. on the above-named aggregate value of the property of the carriers in this group. Since the operation of the Act in relation to rates is more or less automatic, should the increase named not yield the expected return under the requirements called for by the Act, the Commission will doubtless make the necessary adjustments to meet those requirements.

The gross revenue of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company shows a steady annual increase. The increase from January 1, 1920, to June 30, 1920 (four months under private operation), over the corresponding period of 1919 was 20.67 per cent. Adjusted to the new rates the gross revenue for the year ended June 30, 1920, will equal $56,432,000. Under these conditions with rates adjusted on the fair aggregate property value of the Southern Group to the return which Congress has provided shall be definite that general railroad credit will be stabilized, the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company under efficient management should earn a reasonable and safe return upon its individual property value devoted to the purposes of transportation.

The Guaranty Trust Company of New York and The National City Company, New York, have advised us they will recommend to the holders of the notes the acceptance of the offer herein made.

The Directors of the Railway Company, in view of general conditions, are gratified in being able to recommend to the note holders, through the co-operation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the acceptance of the terms named herein, and request note holders to present as promptly as possible their notes at either of the agencies of the Company herein named for payment and partial extension on September 15, 1920.

Cuba Cane
SUGAR

The strength in sugar securities of late is not fully understood by investors.

Large cash balances and earning prospects, even at lower prices for raw sugar, are the cause.

Cuba Cane is one of the companies enjoying a large supply of cash on hand.

THE STABILIZING POWER OF ADVERTISING

Look at the sales-curve of a product plotted over a ten year period, and you will know whether it is intelligently advertised.

The sales-curve of products advertised by Federal shows a steady upward growth.

1913-1914 were years of depression; the curve, however, was upward. 1915-1919 were years of stimulated business; the curve continued upward. 1920 has been a year of some uncertainty, but the curve is steadily upward.

The advertising plans of Federal clients for 1921 are broader than ever, forecasting a still further advance of the upward curve.

The money invested in right advertising keeps the entire balance of the plant investment on a safe, sound, profit-producing basis. The only qualification is that the advertising be planned and conducted with a full understanding of the elements that build business and constitute profits.

When you want that kind of advertising—

FINANCIAL NOTICES.

To the Shareholders of International Petroleum Company, Limited

NOTICE is hereby given that a company has been incorporated under the laws of the Dominion of Canada under the name of International Petroleum Company, Limited, herein referred to as the New Company, and that an arrangement has been made whereby the New Company will issue to the Preference shareholders of the International Petroleum Company, Limited, (Old Company), one Preference share of $5.00 par value fully paid up and non-assessable and one share without nominal or par value of its Common stock fully paid up and non-assessable in exchange for each Preference share of the Old Company, and to the Common shareholders of the Old Company two shares without nominal or par value of its Common stock fully paid up and non-assessable in exchange for each Common Share of the Old Company.

The New Company proposes to issue 1,804,534 shares without nominal or par value fully paid up and non-assessable of the New Company in exchange for 1,575,000 shares, (being the whole of the outstanding stock), of the Tropical Oil Company, a company incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware and holding concessions from the Government of the United States of Colombia. The delivery to the New Company of 90% of the outstanding stock of the Tropical Oil Company has been assured and in the event of the whole of such outstanding stock not being delivered then a pro rata reduction will be made in the number of shares in the New Company to be exchanged for the shares of the Tropical Oil Company delivered to it.

Holders of Bearer Share Warrants who surrender their warrants to the International Petroleum Company, Limited, (New Company) at 56 Church Street, Toronto, Canada, or to the Farmers' Loan & Trust Company, 16-22 William Street, New York City, U. S. A., between the 15th September, 1920, and the 30th September, 1920, inclusive will receive in exchange therefor Bearer Share Warrants on the basis of two shares of the New Company for each share of the Old Company surrendered, in accordance with the terms aforesaid.

No Warrants for "rights" will be issued and shareholders who fail to exchange their old shares for the new shares within the time limit and in the manner aforesaid will subject these rights to forfeiture.

The books of the Company will be closed from the 10th day of September, 1920, to the 30th day of September, 1920, inclusive, and no Bearer Share Warrants will be split during that period.

Holders of Bearer Share Warrants are recommended to send their Warrants by registered mail, insured, as the Company is not responsible for Share Warrants lost in transit and duplicate Share Warrants cannot be issued.

COST OF LIVING UP 104.5% IN 6 YEARS

19 PER CENT. SINCE JULY, '19

Five Per Cent. of This Added Burden Was Put on Since March 1, the Report Says.

The National Industrial Conference Board, 10 East Thirty-ninth Street, in an advance summary issued yesterday of a survey recently completed, shows that the cost of living of American wage-earners increased 104.5 per cent. between July, 1914, and July, 1920. This summary is based on the board's most recent investigation of changes in the cost of living, a complete report of which will shortly be issued. There has been an increase of nearly 19 per cent. within the last year and of 5 per cent. since March, 1920, the date of the board's last survey.

The board's statement shows that increases between July, 1914, and July, 1920, in the cost of each of the five major items making up the family budget were as follows: Food, 119 per cent.; shelter, 58 per cent.; clothing, 166 per cent.; fuel, heat and light, 66 per cent.; sundries, 85 per cent.

"As in earlier reports of changes in the cost of living made by the board," the statement says, "the information on which the above estimates were based was obtained from a large number of retail dealers in clothing and fuel and from brokers and others in close touch with the real estate situation. The retail food price index numbers of the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics were used in estimating changes in the cost of that item.

Increase in Food Prices.

"Retail food prices in June and July, 1920, showed an identical increase above the pre-war level and represent an average increase of 119 per cent above prices in the year 1913. Between July, 1919, and July, 1920, food prices increased 15 per cent, the most marked rise within this period beginning in April, 1920, and continuing to June and July, in which months retail prices of food were higher than any ever before recorded by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"The largest increases reported for food items between July 1913, and July, 1920, were as follows: Sugar 382 per cent., potatoes 368 per cent., flour 164 per cent., corn meal 133 per cent., rice 114 per cent; bread 113 per cent., ham 112 per cent, lamb 109 per cent., hens 107 per cent., pork chops 101 per cent.

"In July, 1920, sugar cost more than four and three-quarters times as much as in July, 1913, potatoes more than four and a half times as much, flour more than two and one-half times as much, and corn meal approximately two and one-third times as much.

"In thirty-five of the thirty-nine cities from which retail prices of food have been collected monthly since 1913, the average retail cost increased 100 per cent. or more. The largest increase reported was from Detroit, Mich., 138 per cent., and the smallest was from Los Angeles, Cal., 95 per cent.

Finds Rents Up 58 Per Cent.

"The estimated increase in rent of 58 per cent. betweeen July, 1914, and July, 1920, is based on figures received from 361 real estate boards and brokers, chambers of commerce and civic organizations in practically all of the cities in the United States having a population of 50,000 or over and in a number of smaller places.

"Eighty-six cities reported increases of more than 50 per cent. in rents between July, 1914, and July, 1920. Among these were New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Cleveland. On the other hand, in Boston, St. Louis and San Francisco the increase had averaged less than 50 per cent. All reports indicated a continued shortage of houses and rising rents.

"The average cost of clothing for wage earners decreased 4 per cent. between March, 1920, and July, 1920. Clothing prices in July were, however, 166 per cent. above the prevailing level in July, 1914. Between July, 1919, and July, 1920, the average increase in the cost of clothing was 33 per cent.

"Cotton yard goods, especially the cheaper and heavier grades, continued to advance in price between March, 1920, and July, 1920. Hosiery, knit underwear, men's shirts and overalls, as well as gloves and hats for both men and women, advanced in price within the four months' period. The most marked falling off in prices noted was in the case of men's and women's garments made of wool. Woolen yard goods, shoes and women's blouses and muslin underwear dropped slightly in price between March and July.

Fuel, Light and Car Fare.

"Retail prices of anthracite and bituminous coal were obtained from 115 dealers in forty-three cities. Averages of these indicate that between July, 1914, and July, 1920, stove anthracite increased 85.5 per cent., chestnut anthracite 81.4 per cent. and bituminous coal 103.1 per cent. Inasmuch as price increases for anthracite in the districts where anthracite is most important as fuel were greater than the average for the country as a whole, and the same was true of bituminous coal, it is estimated that the total increase in the cost of coal between July, 1914, and July, 1920, was 92 per cent. Gas and electricity for domestic use increased in price about 15 per cent. within the six-year period. Combining these increases according to the importance of expenditures for each by average families, it appears that the total increase in the cost of fuel, heat and light combined was 66 per cent. between 1914 and 1920.

"Changes in carfare were reported from 153 cities. Fares had been raised in 120 of these since 1914 and had remained unchanged in 33. It is estimated that the average increase in carfares for the country as a whole, between 1914 and 1920, was not more than 40 per cent.

Doctors' Fees Also Up.

"Doctors' fees and the price of newspapers have been raised unevenly since 1914. Candy, tobacco, household furnishings and supplies showed large increases in cost. More insurance was being carried, church contributions had been increased and organization dues had been raised. All of these factors indicate that the total increase in the cost of sundries between July, 1914, and July, 1920, average 85 per cent."

Frederick T. Frazer, editor of The Haberdasher and of The Boys' Outfitter, in a statement yesterday said that the peak of prices on men's and boys' wearables had been reached. He said that the figures quoted on clothing and haberdashery for Autumn and Winter represent a shading of legitimate profit on the part of mill men, manufacturers, jobbers and retail merchants. "The public," he continued, "may now buy these wearables in the assurance that the least possible markup has been made consistent with the laudable desire to continue in business." He said that the Autumn season has opened with normal volume of purchases and that with the three main raw materials, cotton, wool and silk, appreciably lower than when this season's goods were purchased, the decline at retail will come next Spring.

CANADA EXTENDS TRADE.

Commerce with Latin America Gains 726 Per Cent. in Five Years.

According to official returns, Canada in the last fiscal year exported merchandise to seventeen Central and South American countries to a total of $12,589,697, against $1,530,698 for the fiscal year ended March, 1915, representing an increase of 726 per cent. in the five-year period.

Canada's best customer in Latin America is the Argentine Republic, the exports to that country last year having a value of $6,126,457, against $634,387 five years ago. Brazil is next, taking $2,703,488, against $541,988 in 1915. Although there was a marked increase in the trade with all seventeen of the countries concerned, with several of them it is very small.

The merchandise exported covers a wide range. The outstanding line was passenger motor cars, of which the Argentine Republic took $610,000 worth. Brazil came next with $181,304 and Uruguay third with $80,538. The first-named also took $287,478 worth of automobile parts. Newsprint was the next single line in order of importance, the principal customers being Argentina at $579,667, Peru at $90,607 and Brazil at $88,803. The preliminary returns from which these figures are taken do not furnish details sufficient to show accurately the volume of business in textiles, but in the fiscal year ending in March, 1919, $760,000 worth were shipped to Argentina alone.

"As to the possibilities of further material expansion in Canada's export trade with Latin America," says a correspondent of the Times Trade Supplement, "the future only can determine, particularly in view of Germany's effort to rehabilitate herself with the countries in that part of the world.

"The Canadian Trade Commissioner in Argentina, in a recent report to the Department of Trade and Commerce of Ottawa, says: 'One of the features of the last two months has been the resumption of imports from Germany, four steamers having arrived with cargoes from Hamburg. Among the commodities arriving in the first consignments are a number which should be of interest to Canadian manufacturers. These include toys, drugs, chemicals, glassware, electrical machinery, paper, pianos, wire netting, iron piping, hardware in general, industrial machinery, wall paper, galvanized iron sheets, dry colors, sewing machines, fencing wire, clocks, cardboard, typewriters, wooden handles and bottles.

"'On the other hand, Canada is in more than one respect in a better position than it was a year ago to develop trade with Latin America. The Dominion now has direct lines of steamers operated by both the Canadian Government Merchant Marine and a private company running direct to ports in Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay, while some of the leading banks of the country have within the last year opened branches in Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Venezuela and Uruguay.'"

Dr. John McNeill Begins Pastorate.

The Rev. Dr. John McNeill, known as "The Scottish Spurgeon," preached his first sermon in the Fort Washington Presbyterian Church, Broadway and 174th Street, yesterday to a congregation which overflowed into the parish house. Dr. McNeill began his pastorate with this service, having come here from Birmingham, Ala. He will live at 461 Fort Washington Avenue.

TO MAKE ARTIFICIAL SILK.

Girls to Go from Here to Belgium to Learn Tubize Process.

In the effort to thoroughly Americanize the Belgian artificial silk industry of Tubize, at the first plant in the United States, which is now being constructed at Hopewell, Va., the corporation intends to send a numbuer of American girls to Belgium, where they are to learn the processes incidental to the manufacture of this product. On their return here they are to act as instructors to about 1,500 young women who will be employed at the Tubize plant at Hopewell.

The party will leave under proper chaperonage at the end of this month, and will return to the United States about Jan. 1, when the new factory will be in operation. All expenses and salary will be paid during the trip and while the party is in Belgium, and regular employment will begin immediately upon return to this country.

In completing its plans for the Hopewell establishment, the Tubize Silk Corporation, which has its New York headquarters at 487 Broadway, announces a program of social service calculated to attract employes from all sections of the country. An investigation of the labor market facilities of Virginia has convinced the management that it will have to look to other States as well to furnish the necessary quota of workers. For this reason elaborate dormitories, with comfortably furnished rooms and a generally homelike atmosphere, parlors, dining rooms, gardens and entertainment facilities, are being provided. A clubhouse, dance hall, moving-picture theatre, tennis courts and other recreation features are being made integral parts of the plant.

Additional facilities will be offered and inducements held out to entire families whose bread winners plan to accept employment at the Tubize factory, and every advantage at the disposal of the employes will also be open to their families.

Owned partly by Belgian and partly by American capital, the Hopewell plant will be American in every feature with the exception of the patent for the manufacture of Tubize artificial silk. Even the raw material used in the process will be purchased in this country, and, so far as possible, all the machinery is being constructed here. The entire output will be at the disposal of American consumers.

At the present time Tubize artificial silk is being manufactured in Belgium, in one factory in Poland and in another in Hungary, and part of the output of those plants is being shipped to this country. The European demand is so great, however, that, shortly after the armistice, it was found advisable to decide on the establishment of a purely American plant. Once operations are under way at Hopewell importation of the product from Europe will cease.

FEATURES IN SPORT HATS.

Some Are So Soft That They Can Be Packed in a Handbag.

One of the men's hatters, who is supplying the trade as well as individual women with smart sport hats, is having a great demand for those in duvetyn, which are so soft that they can be packed in a grip or even tucked in a handbag. They are quite as much used for travel as for sports and are a convenience to the woman on a weekend or short visit. One of these hats, which is particularly attractive, is in a beautiful dark shade of henna, with the rather wide brim stitched. There is a little round gray one with a stitched crown, and the tam is also popular. Tans and browns are among the good shades. A beautiful semi-sport hat of the man hatter, which can be worn with a suit, is of brown velvet with a light shade of duvetyn in the soft corded band, and a stunning sport hat is of a deep orange felt, with round crown and wide brim, the soft band and out-standing bow being of dark brown satin.

Strong colors are still seen in the fine hats for women's Winter wear, the orange still going well, and with feathers to match. There are variations with brown notes less vivid than the clear orange. There are the henna shades, also seen in the velvet hats, and soft dark reds and the feather trimmings are in the same colors. Among the newer varieties of sport hats, of which there is an unusual number this year, are those of silk quilted in simple designs of machine stitching.

CHILDREN TAUGHT FARMING.

Michigan Conducts School for Its Future Agriculturists.

The State of Michigan is conducting a school in scientific farming at Camp Genessee, near Flint, and in a rich agricultural district, for children of from 10 to 16 years of age, and representatives of the agricultural associations of the State are taking an active part in the instruction of these future farmers and in stimulating an interest in farming.

The children attending the camp are taken on certain days to visit the farms in the neighborhood to study methods, and on other days are set to work in the fields, boys and girls striving to beat east others' records. At night, around a blazing camp fire, they receive instruction in different phases of farming in the form of stories.

TO SEEK COTTON CREDITS.

American Association Committee to Meet Reserve Board.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 12.—The American Cotton Association announced from its headquarters today that a conference would be held in Washington Wednesday between the Federal Reserve Board and a special commission from the association to discuss the expansion of financial credits so as to enable the cotton producers to hold their product until there was a legitimate demand from the manufacturer at a price "based upon the law of supply and demand."

The association states that investigation by its experts shows that the cotton crop up to Sept. 10 had deteriorated 10 per cent. since Aug. 25, making its condition on the later date 57 per cent.

CHEAP SUGAR FROM CORN.

Chemists Can Produce It at Less Than Four Cents a Pound.

After more than three years of experiments, Frank K. Gardner, President of the General Food Products Company, yesterday announced that Dr. Arthur W. Smith and S. P. Evans of Baltimore have invented and perfected a process by which white sugar may be obtained from corn and manufactured for less than 4 cents a pound.

Seven per cent. of the present corn crop would supply this country's sugar needs, it is estimated. The sugar is 80 per cent. as sweet as cane sugar and should sell for 8c a pound.

"To fully realize what this new and unlimited sugar supply means," said Mr. Gardner, "it is necessary to understand the present situation. Sugar now is the product of sugar cane, beets, fruits and starch. Cane and beet sugars represent the great bulk of that now used. The production of these for the last year was about 16,000,000 tons, which is about 5,000,000 tons under the amount produced during 1913-14 and which accounts for the present shortage and high prices.

One bushel of corn will produce about forty pounds of the syrup, and the annual corn crop is more than three billion bushels. Just about 7 per cent. of this crop would produce all the sugar this country can use.

LABOR FIGURES UNCHANGED.

No Increase Noted in Total Number of Workers in State.

June reports, in preliminary tabulations of the Bureau of Statistics of the State Industrial Commission, indicate little change in the total number of workers employed in factories throughout the State, according to the latest bulletin issued. Almost 1,500 manufacturers furnished figures with a total of about 520,000 workers employed. The seasonal nature of the employment accounted for most of the gains reported and labor troubles were at the bottom of the reductions in some industries. The textile and clothing industries, however, gave "dull business" as the reason for the decreases of the month.

There was a decrease of 3 per cent. in the textile industries from May to June. Labor troubles contributed to a reduction of employment in the knit goods industry in June and an unfavorable market reacted in the same way on the woolen goods industries. Woolen cloth mills report a considerable decrease in number of workers employed. Cotton goods and the miscellaneous textile production field make the same report.

June shows a further average decrease of 4 per cent. in the number of clothing industries workers employed, the decrease amounting to 10 per cent. in the women's clothing branch of the industry. Slack business in women's furnishings and millinery are given as the cause. There is also a decrease in the men's clothing industry, despite the fact that work on Fall goods is usually well under way in the month of June. Decrease in employment is noted in the production of men's collars, shirts and neckwear.

An increase is reported from the shoe industry, but this is considered due to the settlement of labor troubes and not to general improvement of conditions. Tanneries show a reduction in working forces. A reduction in number of workers in the fur goods industry is ascribed to the strike.

PRICE CUTS NO BAIT TO MATERIAL BUYERS

Investors Look to Contractors to Stabilize Labor Market at $9 a Day Basis.

PAINTERS' STRIKE CRUX

Materials Price Reduction Is Met by Waiting Policy Pending Wage Adjustment.

Price cuts in building materials have so far proved to be ineffectual bait to building material buyers, whether consumers or distributers.

The building material market remains inactive. Great timidity still exists among dealers and prospective builders when it comes to taking options in such a ragged building material price market. The prospective buyer believes that if prices have dropped at all they will continue to go lower. The dealer and the manufacturer know, on the other hand, that the weakness in the building material quotations is based upon factors far removed from the immediate conditions affecting building construction.

The fact is that the entire building material supply situation is rampant because there exists a general feeling that a great building movement is in the making, says the Dow Service Daily Building Reports. The start is actually discernible, according to architects and others in close touch with building construction projects in the formative stage. Price retractions at this time merely indicate the hope of a hungry market to get the first grip on this pending new business.

It represents a scramble for early orders, tradition and trade custom being often trampled under foot in the great anxiety to book the business being offered.

In consequence, price concessions have been made. Some of these have been merely casual. Others have assumed the proportions of a general trade tendency, but whether the arrangements have been covert or on the open market, there has been a greater influence for retardation of plans than merely that of high prices.

Opinion seems to place the responsibility for the general building inactivity in a low price market, compared with former price levels of recent date, upon a growing fear of a general building labor disturbance. While brick was selling at more than 20 per cent. off the price ruling a month ago, North Carolina roofers being offered at $62.50 with no takers, against a former price of $75, with wood lath selling $2 off per thousand, against a recent price of $20 and more, oak flooring scaled $10 a thousand feet, to cite only a few examples of last week's bid for building material orders, not one dealer or distributer reported at the week-end that he had booked any greater volume of business.

They invariably reported that the great damper on building construction at this moment was not the high cost of building materials so much as a fear of the rule of radical factions in the labor market. If it were prices, there would have been long before this date a big speculative buying market.

There is fear of hostile labor dominance, of a universal ten-dollar day for building artisans, when the official index figures showing the trend of living costs is downward rather than upward.

There lacks stability of prices, wages and building material supply, and organized employers and employes, the manufacturers of building materials and equipment as well as the leading money lending institutions, are disturbed over the present trend of the building situation.

Efforts are being made to effect a condition of stability in the labor department, starting with the effort to effect a $10 day for painters.

Contractors say that if the building construction market is so sick that it cannot even show the effects of stimulation from an almost general building material price cut, it certainly has reached the limit of wage burden it can carry for building trades artisans. Accordingly, stop orders have been issued on jobs that are paying painters over $9 a day for a forty-four-hour week, and other trades have taken the same attitude.

There is a feeling that building investors are looking toward the master employers of the various building trades to get their wage adjustments made with dependable artisans of the type that abides by its contracts before they will place general building material orders, general contracts or permit sub-contracts to be made. This sentiment applies with equal force to all the building crafts.

Building material price flutuations for the coming week show, besides some cuts, a few advances, mostly reflecting freight rate changes upward. Common brick as a general market is quoted at $18, as against $25 a fortnight ago, with only fifteen barges in dock on Saturday and none en route to this market over Sunday.

As was the case a week ago, some brick sold as low as $15, but this was mostly forced sales to complete the unloading of practically empty barges. (To the above prices there must be added the cost of handling, haulage and 15 per cent. for delivered prices.)

Wood lath went off another $2, making delivered price $18 a thousand instead of $20. All kinds of oak flooring went off $10 a thousand feet. North Carolina roofers were cut as low as $62.50 a thousand feet, from a former price of $75. Price changes of a nominal nature due to freight rate advances affect cement prices out of Zone 1 in the Lehigh district at from 12 to 16 cents a barrel.

All gypsum products from up-State carry an increase of $1.10 a ton. Hydrate finishing and common lime show slight changes upward for the same cause. Cypress is higher and firmer.

Ohio finishing lime is also higher. All the hardwoods and Grades 1 and 2 of most lumbers are firm in the wholesale market, although there has been some bidding for business by price shading by dealers during the last week. Spruce is up $12 and long leaf yellow pine and maple are especially strong. Production is generally cramped in all departments.

THREE MEN DIE IN CESSPOOL

Special to The New York Times.

NUTLEY, N. J., Sept. 11.—Three men lost their lives in a cesspool, which one of them was repairing here today. The dead are Anthony Lord of 105 Bloomfield Avenue, Frank Jannarone of 21 Harrison Street, a member of the Jannarone Brothers' contracting firm, and Angelo Iselin, a produce dealer of 297 Center Street.

Lord, who was repairing the cesspool, which was on Iselin's property, was overcome by gas and fell in. Iselin heard his cries and ran to his aid, with Jannarone, who was visiting next door. Both men in trying to save Lord, fell in. A fire truck was called and the bodies were recovered.

Patrick Jannarone, brother of Frank Jannarone, fainted when he heard of his brother's death. Some one gave him a glass of water and he bit the glass, swallowing some of the bits. He is in a serious condition.

Traveling Men to Visit Harding.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The Harding and Coolidge Traveling Men's League is making arrangements for a pilgrimage by Republican commercial travelers to Senator Harding's front porch at Marion on Sept. 25, when the Senator has promised to make a speech setting forth his business platform as candidate for the Presidency. The League's representatives here say they expect 1,000 men to make the pilgrimage.

FIND SLAYER'S PISTOL.

Providence Police Are Finally Directed Correctly by Adams.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 12.—The automatic pistol with which Rolf G. Adams said he shot and killed Rose V. McKenna, while she was driving on the Barrington Parkway was her financé, William J. Deignan, on the night of Sept. 2, was found today by the East Providence police. The finding of the weapon, the police say, dispels the theory that Adams confessed to having committed a crime for which he was not responsible.

The search for the weapon has been carried on continually about the scene of the tragedy since Adams was arrested last Wednesday night. At that time he told the police that he had thrown the pistol into Watchmoket Cove. Today Adams was visited in his cell in the Providence County Jail by two members of the East Providence police to whom he admitted he had given the wrong directions and that the pistol could be found under a boulder on the shore.

The police followed Adams's instructions and found the pistol under a large rock a few inches above highwater mark. An officer had to reach under the boulder the full length of his arm to get it. Cartridges found in the chamber correspond to those picked up from the ground near the scene of the shooting, the authorities say.

ALIENS' CHEERS GREET FLAG

Ex-Senator O'Gorman and Congressman Goldfogle Denounce Bolshevism

At the concert given yesterday at Ellis Island to the immigrants ex-United States Senator James A. O'Gorman in an address advised the newcomers to be good Americans, support law and order, work hard and follow the flag. At the conclusion he waved the Stars and Stripes, the colors being greeted with cheers by the aliens, many of whom did not understand -nglish but recognized the flag.

Congressman Henry M. Goldfogle, another speaker, warned the immigrants against false leaders and said there was not one inch of ground in the United States for a Bolshevik. The hundreds of Jews around him had just arrived from Poland and realized the meaning of his words.

Among the guests of Commissioner Wallis yesterday were General A. W. Defoss, personal representative of Senator Harding; Colonel Henry M. Bankhead, representing General Robert Lee Bullard, Commander of the Department of the East, and Professor Charles Munter.

The musical part of the program was furnished by Lee and J. J. Shubert and was very much enjoyed by the audience of nearly 3,000 immigrants.

BABY BURNED TO DEATH.

Lightning Hits Electric Wires and Sets Fire to Bed It Lies On.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Isidore Nadel, eight months old, child of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nadel, of 1,315 Simpson Street, the Bronx, New York, was burned to death here today during an electrical storm.

The child was lying on a bed alone in an upstairs room at the boarding house conducted by Jake Rothenberg and Max Kasel, cousins of Nadel, when a sharp crack of lightning was heard. Shortly afterward Joseph Cooper of 1,363 Hoe Avenue, the Bronx, went up to his room to get a cigarette. He smelled smoke and, investigating, found the bed on which the child was lying in flames. The lightning had short circuited the electric wiring and the fixture had dropped on the bed, setting it afire. The boy died while on the way to the Thrall Hospital, Middletown.

$33,000 Is Pledged to St. Andrew's.

Of the $85,000 needed to discharge the debt on St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Fifth Avenue and 127th Street, the pledges now total more than $33,000. The ambition of the committee is to consecrate the church Nov. 30 next, which is St. Andrew's Day.

7,000 CELEBRATE FIUME DAY HERE

Caruso and Family Receive an Ovation at Exercises in City College Stadium.

TRIBUTES TO D'ANNUNZIO

Garibaldi Veteran in a Historic Red Shirt Causes an Outburst of Enthusiasm.

Seven thousand Italians and Americans of Italian descent cheered enthusiastically the declarations of speakers yesterday at the Fiume Day celebration in the City College Stadium when they expressed the wish that Fiume and Dalmatia might be united with Italy. The exercises were part of a nation-wide celebration by Italians throughout the United States. The day was the anniversary of the occupation of Fiume by Gabriele d'Annunzio.

The speakers yesterday were United States Senator William M. Calder, ex-Governor Charles S. Whitman, Judge J. J. Freschi and State Senator Salvatore Cotillo. The Chairman was Whitney Warren, representative in the United States of Gabriele d'Annunzio.

Enrico Caruso, who sang: Ugo d'Annunzio, son of the poet, and Giovanni Caproni, the airplane inventor, who were on the platform, were accorded an ovation by the crowd.

Salvatore Palladini, wearing the historic red shirt of a Garibaldi veretan, roused the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm when, after the band had played the Garibaldi hymn, he called out: "Viva Garibaldi! Viva Fiume! Viva d'Annunzio!"

After the exercises there was a rush of spectators to the platform on the field for a sight of Caruso. They did not know that Mrs. Caruso and her infant daughter Gloria were in an automobile on the edge of the field. The tenor was almost mobbed by men and women eager to shake his hand. The police made a lane for him and his car swept up to the foot of the platform. When the crowd saw Mrs. Caruso and Gloria they set up a great cheer, first for the singer, then for Mrs. Caruso and the youngster.

Field Dotted with Flags.

The centre of the field was dotted with flags representing the redeemed provinces of Italy. At the foot of the platform was a large banner presented by Americans of Italian descent who fought in the war. The banner called for the union of Fiume to Italy. A great array of Italian flags draped the rear of the Stadium and small placards inscribed with sentiments concerning Fiume were carried by many in the audience. Representatives of forty Italian clubs and lodges wearing red, white and green bands over their shoulders lent color to the scene.

Resolutions adopted unanimously declared for the free union of Fiume, or the independent State of Quarnero, with the mother country—Italy. The resolution recited that Quarnero refused assent to the "arbitrary disposal of itself" called for in the Treaty of Versailles. It was the unalterable determination of the assemblage, the resolution further said, that Quarnero should be recognized by the United States as well as the other powers and that the provisions of the Treaty of London joining Dalmatia to Italy should be carried into effect.

To the people of Fiume and Dalmatia the whole-souled admiration of the Americans of Italian blood and Italian sympathy was conveyed in the resolution and protest was raised against the populations of Fiume and Dalmatia being the subjects of "barter" by other countries. "To Gabriele d'Annunzio we vouch our eternal gratitude and admiration for the wisdom, courage and tenacity with which he fought against the world single-handed," the resolution added.

Resolutions Sent to Colby.

Copies of the resolution were sent to Secretary of State Colby with the request that he place them before President Wilson and the two Houses of Congress.

In his address Mr. Warren spoke of the grave situation in Italy today and said that the Government would appear to be at a disadvantage in coping with it because it was unable to give to its people that for which they had fought. Any Government that could turn to the people and give them Fiume and Dalmatia, the fruits of victory, he said, would instantly become strong and win the confidence of the nation.

"But the Italian Governments have been unable to give this answer to their people," he continued. "Why? Because, in plain language, their allies have not kept faith with them. It is no secret that England had commercial designs on Fiume and that France had a secular and perfectly natural dislike of the idea of Italy's increasing her power in the Mediterranean, in which the Adriatic is a potent factor."

Only America stands between Italy and her aspirations, said Mr. Warren, and in acting as an obstruction the United States is weakening a friendly nation and a faithful ally when she could easily be stabilized. He spoke of Italy as the bulwark against Bolshevism and declared it was necessary for the United States to have the people of Italy on its side, "otherwise we are lost." "For when Italy goes what will stem the tide in France, and England and from there to here it is but a step," he continued. "And the field is so fertile. The covetous eyes are upon us."

Tribute to D'Annunzio.

Senator Calder paid a tribute to the courage of d'Annunzio in taking Fiume and remaining in possession. If the question came to him to vote upon, he promised that he would vote and use his influence to the end that Italy would have what she was entitled to.

Because he was interested in America first, said Senator Calder, he was unwilling to vote for the League of Nations as President Wilson presented it. He was unwilling to vote for the League, he said, because he wanted to give Fiume control over her own destiny. Had we ratified the treaty, he asserted, the United States might have had to send soldiers to Fiume to oust d'Annunzio. He did not favor that, but did favor all the nations settling their problems in their own way. He was unwilling for the United States to go to war to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other nation.

Ex-Governor Whitman paid a tribute to those of Italian descent who fought in the war, and declared that the people of Italian blood objected to being bound and delivered by a tribunal in which they were not represented. While he did not desire to advocate American interference to force the return of Fiume and Dalmatia to Italy, he desired that it should not appear that the United States helped to turn over Fiume to another country.

"D'Annunzio has challenged the admiration of the world, whether you agree with him or not," he said. "These people, small in numbers, are going to settle this question, and settle it right. The issue, raised perhaps by a representative of the land of the brave and the home of the free, will be settled."

Judge Freschi appealed for fair treatment from the press of the United States to Italy. He presented Caproni, d'Annunzio and Caruso to the audience. There was prolonged applause. Then he read the resolutions, which were adopted. The last number was a song by Caruso, "Le Ragazze Fiumane," to the air of "Campane di San Giusto." The meeting ended with the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by the audience.

OPENS TUBERCULOSIS WAR.

Michigan Asks 4,500 Physicians to Report Ex-Soldier Cases.

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 12.—A search for all probable cases of tuberculosis among Michigan's former soldiers is now being made by the 4,500 physicians within the State.

Under the direction of Dr. R. M. Olin, Commissioner of the Department of Health, letters were mailed today to every physician in the State asking that each report to the department any case where an ex-service man is known to be suffering from tuberculosis, organic disease or mental derangement.

The present combing of Michigan for known, or suspected sufferers with tuberculosis, is one of the many steps to be made by the department in an effort to control the disease, since taking over the clinics of the Anti-Tuberculosis organization July 1.

Two months ago there were 1,147 of the State's 142,297 former soldiers known to be suffering from tuberculosis in some form or stage.

The answer to the question whether gas cases are certain to develop tuberculosis is now being sought by Dr. George H. Ramsey, who is in charge of the tuberculosis clinics of the Department of Health. The present opinion is, however, that, while gas may have made the lungs of the soldiers more susceptible to tubercular bacilli, development of the disease is not inevitable.

AUSTRALIAN VETERANS END STRIKE ON FARMS

Take Places of Men Who Had Been Preparing Land on Which They Were to Settle.

The ex-service men of Australia have made a quick solution of the strike of the 900 men on the irrigation blocks on the River Murray. The World War veterans, for whom the workers were clearing and preparing the land, stepped in and took the places of the strikers, thus carrying on a State-assisted co-operative movement which is expected to extend and to have much influence on the industrial situation.

Senator Miller, Minister of Reparations in the Commonwealth, has given his official blessing to the strike-breakers. "I am looking for very good results as the outcome of the strike," he declared, "and I am exceedingly pleased at the way in which the veterans have come to the assistance of the Government."

Meanwhile the labor unions are somewhat disturbed over the outcome of the strike and are watching the situation closely

The men employed on the irrigation project struck for higher wages at a time when the ex-soldiers were becoming impatient over the long delays in getting onto the large area of land which was being prepared for them.

The Government would not yield to the terms of the strikers, urging them to return to their jobs with a few adjustments of their demands. The strikers refused to consider the Government's proposition and after a week of idleness left the job.

When this action became known to the veterans they at once solved the difficulty by stepping in to do the work themselves. They have now agreed to a scheme by which they are permitted to work on their own allotments and get them ready for cultivation and then assist the others.

They will not only be paid the current rate of wages, but under the new conditions will be able to earn considerably more than did the ordinary workers, who insisted on union rules and the eight-hour day.

Several hundred of the ex-soldiers are now happily at work preparing their future homes and the River Murray project promises to be the greatest agricultural development in Australia for many years. The Minister of Reparations on his return from a recent inspection said:

"The whole development is highly important and satisfactory so far as the Government is concerned. The compact character of the blocks enables the system of co-operation to be most successfully applied. Under the new arrangement each block will become a show proposition, because it will be developed to the highest degree of perfection."

Bishop Lloyd Begins Rectorship.

Bishop Arthur S. Lloyd, until recently President of the Episcopal Board of Missions, began his rectorship yesterday morning at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, White Plains, N. Y. As president of the Mission Board the salary of Bishop Lloyd was $10,000. Last Winter he assisted Bishop Charles S. Burch in his diocese and his salary was $750 a month. In White Plains it is understood his stipend is not half of this amount. The Bishop, who is 63 years old, desired a quiet country parish.

Maine Rich in Tourmalines.

Nowhere is there such a wealth of tourmalines as in the State of Maine, according to a recent statement on the development of the resources of that State. At Mount Mica, in the town of Paris, it says, is a deposit of red and green tourmaline unequaled elsewhere. They are, it would seem, almost inexhaustable in quantity, of rare beauty, and when cut into gems are in good demand, many finding their way into museums and collections.

LET DOCTOR ADVISE YOU ON RECREATION

Loafing Vacation May Kill One Person and a Strenuous Outing Another.

EXAMINATION IS NEEDED

New Organization Formed to Help Keep City's Health at Normal—Lectures and Exercises.

Have you been on your vacation and, if so, are you sure you took the kind of a vacation which was most beneficial to you? That is what the Maximum Health Bureau, Inc., for Women and Children, a new organization working for the preservation of health, is asking. The bureau was started by a number of people interested in keeping the health of the community up to normal. The cost of membership has been placed at a nominal sum, $10 a year, for which is given a physical examination by a competent woman physician, general advice for exercises and diet, and there is also admission to classes in physical exercises and lectures which are held from time to time during the year. After the salaries and overhead charges of the bureau are paid, any balance that remains goes back into the work to enlarge and improve it.

The officers and Board of Directors are: Alex T. Sweet, President; Anna Yale Davidson, Vice President; William R. Graham, Secretary; Oscar L. Everest, and Herbert C. Davidson. Mrs. Estelle C. Beach is Medical Director.

The question about vacations that is put by the bureau is suggested by the condition of one of its patients, who came too late to prevent a serious mistake. She was a school teacher who, weary at the close of school, took a vacation with strong physical exercise, mountain climbing, &c., to build up, but achieved the opposite result. The reason for this, it was found when she came under the physician's hands, was that she had a heart lesion and should have taken a rest cure instead of exercise.

There is increasing interest by physicians in this work of scientific examinations, the directors of the bureau say. There is no competition with them, as patients go to them following examinations for treatment. As for the examination, it is much easier and is more correctly made, it is said, by the physician who makes a business of it and has all the accessories at hand and has time to concentrate upon it and co-ordinate symptoms than by the physician whose mind is constantly distracted by calls in different directions and along many different lines. Patients whose physical condition has been made over following an examination in which perhaps only a minor but disturbing ill was discovered become strong advocates of the periodic examination and children have been much helped by it.

TENNYSON HOME ON MARKET

Aldworth, in Surrey, Was Built by the Poet in 1868.

Aldworth on Blackdown, Tennyson's home for many years, has been placed on the market. The property of the former poet laureate of England is near Haslemere in the wild Surrey country and stands by a long avenue of scrub oak along which Cromwell and his army are said to have marched from Arundel Castle.

Aldworth was built in 1868 and on April 23, when the first stone was laid, the poet's wife made the following entry in her diary:

"Shakespeare's birthday. A. in excellent spirits, he was pleased with the inscription on the stone: 'Prosper Thou the works of our hands, O prosper Thou our handiwork.'"

Here in the shade of the ancient trees Tennyson took his morning walks, clad in his great black coat and his famous sombrero hat, which emphasized his long bearded face. T. P. O'Connor once remarked that it was the best make-up for a poet that he had ever seen on or off the stage.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—A disturbance of moderate intensity was centred Sunday night north of Lake Ontario and moving eastward.

There have been local showers within the last twenty-four hours in the North Atlantic States, the region of the Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley, Tennessee and on the North Pacific Coast.

The outlook is for generally fair weather Monday and Tuesday in the States east of the Mississippi River, except that local showers are probable Tuesday in the upper lake region.

No important temperature changes are indicated for the Eastern half of the country and moderately warm weather will continue through Tuesday over the Middle West and the South.

Winds off the Atlantic Coast: North of Sandy Hook, fresh south, shifting to west Monday; local showers, followed by clearing weather.

FORECAST TODAY AND TUESDAY.

Southern New England and Eastern New York—Fair and somewhat cooler Monday; Tuesday fair.

Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey—Fair and slightly cooler Monday; Tuesday fair.

Western Pennsylvania and Western New York—Fair and not quite so warm Monday; Tuesday probably fair.

3 A. M.	68	62	4 P. M.	82	68
6 A. M.	68	61	6 P. M.	80	67
9 A. M.	69	56	9 P. M.	76	61
12 M.	76	67	11 P. M.	74	59

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 74; for the corresponding date last year it was 63; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 68.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 68; at 8 P. M. it was 77. Maximum temperature 8 3degrees at 5 P. M.; minimum 65 degrees at 4 A. M. Humidity 86 per cent. at 8 A. M., 62 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A.M. yesterday registered 29.76 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 29.65 inches.

Negro Lynched in Mississippi.

MERIDIAN, Miss., Sept. 12.—Will Echols, negro, recently convicted of the murder of Henry W. Davis, an aged night watchman at a lumber plant, was taken from jail at Quitman early today by a small party of men, carried two miles into the country and shot to death. Echols upon his conviction was sentenced to be hanged last Friday, but his execution was stayed at the last moment by an appeal to the Mississippi Supreme Court.

BANDIT AND VICTIM SHOT BY POLICEMAN

SHOTS FLY DURING CHASE

Detectives Interrupt Robbery of Man Entering Home and Catch Attacking Pair.

When Policeman Walter Hunt of the West Thirty-fifth Street Station saw a young man backing out of a restaurant at 483 Third Avenue yesterday morning, and peering through the windows noticed that another apparently had backed the twenty or more patrons against a wall, Hunt drew his pistol and entered. The youth Hunt had seen on the sidewalk crept up behind the policeman and struck him a blow on the back of the head. The youth who had bullied the frightened patrons into submission apparently without a weapon also rushed at the policeman, diving at the latter's knees.

Hunt turned swiftly and shot the man who struck him, the bullet striking his assailant above the heart. A second bullet hit Anthony Davaras, one of the patrons, in the ankle. The robber, who was identified as William Kane, 21 years old, a laborer, of 339 East Thirty-ninth Street, was taken to Bellevue Hospital in a critical condition under charge of assault and robbery. His alleged accomplice was seized and locked up in the West Thirty-fifth Street station on the same charges.

In the gutter in front of the restaurant the policeman found thirty-six dollars in bills, a sum tallying with the total amount rung up in the till.

Captured after a running chase in which detectives fired six shots, two youths, described as John Jordan, 20 years old, of 561 West Thirty-seventh Street, and Joseph Brinkley, 19 years old, of 536 West Fiftieth Street, were locked up in police headquarters charged with assault and robbery. Both, according to the police, were identified by Robert Gibbs, of 246 West Twenty-second Street, as the two who attacked and robbed him in the hallway of his home at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The police said Gibbs also identified a gold watch and $40 recovered by detectives as his property.

Detectives McNamara and Devine of the West Twentieth Street station saw Gibbs struggling with the two men, who fled at their approach. McNamara caught Jordan at Eighth Avenue and Twentieth Street, he said, and Devine announced that he ran Brinkley down at Eighth Avenue and Twenty-fourth Street.

Magistrate William A. Sweetser in Jefferson Market Court held Jordan and Brinkley in $1,500 bail each for a hearing tomorrow.

Gerald McGovern, 26 years old, of 406 West Thirty-third Street, collapsed after walking to the French Hospital in West Thirty-fourth Street yesterday with a deep knife wound in his chest. He is not expected to recover. Detectives who questioned him before he lost consciousness said the man refused to tell how he had been wounded.

Hat Workers Asked to Cut Wages.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURGH Sept. 12.—Union hat-workers of the Ferry Hat Company, at Newburgh, have been asked by the management to voluntarily cut their own wages in order to permit the company to bid for a large order for hats for the United States Army. It is reported that the workers have voted to accept lower wages.

For Every Apple You Eat Five Rot on the Ground

MANKIND has always been strong for apples. Our common ancestors risked eternity for an apple. Your best loved, to-day, is the "Apple of Your Eye." Through the ages, the apple has been King and Queen of the Fruit Kingdom. We eat them raw, stewed, dried, fried, pied, baked and spiced—when we can get them. Nature has supplied them with lavish bounty. Yet wasteful inefficiency in productions and distribution results in enormous losses.

No such waste occurs in milk distribution. All that the farmer produces is conserved for food.

We take the milk at the producer's door. We pasteurize, bottle and deliver it. It never leaves our hands until it reaches you. There is no waste. Care and efficiency prevent losses.

HARRIMAN NATIONAL BANK
Fifth Avenue and 44th Street
NEW YORK

The Remedy

It was hoped that the days of crop moving credit and money stringency had passed forever, but, like the poor, they bid fair to be always with us, at least until the channels of credit are cleared of the congestion created by the undigested Liberty bonds which have never found final lodgment in safe deposit vaults. Business will drag while the banks of the country are hampered by original investments in Liberty bonds and further burdened by the Liberty bonds which they are obliged to carry as loans and re-hypothecate for the benefit of mercantile customers.

It appears to the Harriman National Bank that here lies the responsibility, not only for our credit situation today, but also for our overburden of taxes. Both items directly concern each and every individual, for both relate directly to the cost of living.

There is, however, a remedy.

If the present demand debt of $10,000,000,000 owing us by the Allies, which, of course, cannot be decently demanded at this time, were refunded by arrangement with them into a like amount of long term bonds with a definite maturity for payment and bearing a rate of interest that would be governed by current financial conditions, endorsed by the United States, and offered in even exchange for Liberty bonds or sold in the investment market, the result would be prompt relief and ultimate cure of the credit situation.

Since the new French loan has proved so attractive to both borrower and lender at 8%, is there any reason to believe that a new Allied loan would not be received with equal favor?

6 Unexpected Friends

and to others

RECENTLY a representative of our Business Development Department counted 125 new names on his list of "men to see."

He started out on his calls.

To his surprise, in six instances, well-known business men said, "I have already named the Columbia Trust Company as Executor of my will."

This unspoken confidence in us is noteworthy because in the great majority of cases when a man decides to have us settle his estate he tells us about it.

The above figures probably indicate that a very considerable number of New Yorkers have likewise—confidently and quietly—planned for a Columbia Trust Company Executorship.

In expressing our appreciation we would like to pass on this thought for what it is worth:

> We do not give legal advice—that is your lawyer's province. But on the business side of settling estates we are often able, from long experience, to make practical suggestions—which may prove valuable now and later on.
> In other words, whether you have made your will or not, we believe you may find it well worth while to talk with us informally and confidentially.

A Vice-President or Manager in charge at any one of our offices is always glad to confer with you—without obligation on your part.

Meanwhile, if you happen to be on our list of "men to see" we think you will find a few minutes' talk with one of our representatives time well spent.
